Dividends Are Good.
And Hear John D.
The Women Resolve.
200 American Dialects.
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

DIVIDENDS that speak louder than words spoke loudly on Tuesday.

J. Pierpont Morgan added a dollar to the Steel dividend, seven millions extra handed to stockholders.

Another dollar was added to Tuesday's dividend on American Can.

And yesterday, to increase cheerfulness, George W. Hill, who succeeds his father as president of the American Tobacco Company, and has almost doubled the business of that company, added two dollars to the payment that his stockholders will get today, a total of more than nine millions.

FROM Pocantico Hills, where John D. Rockefeller is enjoying life at the age of 90, came a statement that to the distressed was like a drink of cool water in the middle of Sahara.

"My son and I have, for some days, been purchasing sound common stocks. We are continuing, and will continue, our purchases in substantial amounts at levels which we believe represent sound investment values."

MR. ROCKEFELLER, who has given away $750,000,000 to science, education and fighting disease, rarely makes any public utterance. His statement about the purchase of stocks by himself and his son is his first public statement on business since 1911. It will do more than anything else would have done to restore confidence.

THOSE purchases, of course, will probably enable Mr. Rockefeller to give away another hundred millions. Everybody knows that his purchases are based not on a desire for profits, but to restore confidence and prevent unnecessary loss to millions.

STOCKS representing sound values increased in price yesterday.

Some, slow to move, will move in due time.

Some not worth having, will, perhaps, stay where they are.

JULIUS ROSENWALD, of Chicago, after consulting with his son Lessing and Gen. Robert E. W. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck, issued instructions to protect the accounts of all Sears, Roebuck employes who had bought stock in the company and to save them from loss. That sets a good example. Not everybody, unfortunately, can afford to follow it.

WALL STREET reports many charming ladies, that have spent their hours from ten to three in brokers' offices, forgetting to powder their noses in their intense concentration on the ticker, are announcing that they are through with stock brokers forever and are going back to bridge.

If wise, they will adhere to this resolution. But some of them are not wise and will not adhere.

At bridge, when you finish the game you know where you stand. Not so with stock gambling.

SOME of the women gamblers, of course, are not more foolish than men that gamble, but they are in greater danger.

Whatever they do, they do more intensely. They suffer more, and they are usually more persistent in losing.

DR. GREET teaches English to girls at Barnard College, and proves, with the phonograph, that there are 200 American dialects, between the two oceans, the Great Lakes and the Gulf.

At least, all Americans understand each other.

It is not so in France, where a peasant from Brittany cannot understand another from the Midi.

THE number of American dialects remind you of a beautiful poem about the soldiers each remembering a different name, but "all sang Annie Laurie."

Americans may speak 200 dialects, but they all understand each other when they talk about the dollar, which is a sort of national "Annie Laurie."

THAT the investing public and the Stock Exchange could stand in one day a sale of 16,410,030 shares of stock without absolute demoralization and panic is amazing.

On such a day as Tuesday, the Stock Exchange proved that this "one hundred billion a year" country possesses a power of resistance which could not be matched by the whole of Europe put together.

That is not much comfort for the little man wiped out. But it means a great deal to him in his start to build up again.

DANIEL GUGGENHEIM and his son, Harry S. Guggenheim, recently appointed American minister to Cuba, have just wound up their admirable work for aviation with an additional gift of $500,000. They have already spent $4,000,000 encouraging new flying ideas, the establishment of a school of aeronautics, and other intelligent flying promotion.

The people are indebted to the Guggenheims, father and son, for this work.

Big fortunes justify themselves by doing big things.

YOU will be glad to hear that the Federal Reserve Board says the Wall street earthquake is over, public fears calmed.

It may be permissible to remark therefore while the earthquake is still fresh in many minds, that gambling is dangerous.

And it isn't necessary. There are other better ways of making a living in the United States. In addition to which gambling is NO WAY to make a living.

LILLIAN FOSTER

ACTRESS SLAPS LONDON CRITIC

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Lillian Foster, American actress, has answered in original and striking manner the complaints of all her American sisterhood against adverse British theatrical criticism.

The Daily News said today that Miss Foster yesterday saw Hannen Swaffer, dramatic critic of the Sunday Express, in the luncheon room of the Savoy Hotel, and slapped him in answer to his recent critical remarks of her role in "Conscience," which has just opened here.

The writer had likened Miss Foster's voice to that of a ventriloquist's doll, taking exception to her American accent. Noticing him in the luncheon room of the Savoy Miss Foster walked up to his table and asked if he knew who she was.

He answered "No," whereupon she mentioned her name, and added: "I am going to repay in an American woman's way the compliments you paid me." She then slapped his face twice, and told him if he continued to say "such uncalled-for things" she would slap him again.

"I was surprised at my own calmness," Swaffer told the News. "A man like myself is always open to this sort of thing. I regard the assault as an attempt to gain publicity. I called the headwaiter and said 'throw this woman out.' This was done."

One of the witnesses was quoted as saying two waiters led the actress to the door.

Miss Foster, several years ago, appeared in Pittsburgh in the leading role of "Conscience," presented at the Pitt Theater. It is the same role she is playing in London.

Vare Returns Home From Florida Visit

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Senator-elect William S. Vare today returned from a week's visit to his winter home at St. Lucie, Fla. He was accompanied by William H. Kreider, president of the civil service commission.

Mr. Vare left for his Atlantic City home immediately after arrival here.

Sued on a $12,000 promissory note, former Prohibition Administrator Frederick C. Baird has asked that United States Senator David A. Reed and Robert T. Rossel be named co-defendants in the suit.

A writ summoning Reed and Rossel into court next Monday is asked. Baird contends the note involved was made to the order of the late Judge James H. Reed, and that the money was used in the enforcement of prohibition.

PROHIBITION DEBT

Baird claims that Reed and Rossell as executors of his estate are liable.

Baird in asking that they be made co-defendants with him states that the note is a renewal of a note discounted by the First National Bank, and that the money was used to pay off obligations he incurred in connection with enforcement while he was federal prohibition administrator here.

FAILED TO PAY

Baird had an understanding with Judge Reed to the effect that "when the occasion for placing the note in said bank ceased said James H. Reed would pay same," an affidavit filed in the case states. The note was not paid.

Baird "had nothing to say today" when asked what further developments may come in the case. The suit was filed August 13.

REED PREDICTS GRAHAM O.K.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The nomination of Louis E. Graham as United States Attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania will be confirmed by the Senate within the next week, Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, announced this afternoon.

Reed anticipates no opposition to Graham's confirmation, already indorsed by the judiciary committee.

The nomination of Albert R. Watson for appointment as federal judge in the middle district of Pennsylvania was held up indefinitely in the Senate Judiciary Committee. A sub-committee made a divided report, one Senator opposing the appointment, one indorsing it and the third not voting. Senator Norris, chairman, indicated Watson's nomination was to be favorably reported when the vote is taken.

King to Visit Pope Early in November

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—King Victor Emanuel's long-awaited visit to Pope Pius, the first that a King of Italy has made to the Vatican since Papal loss of temporal power in 1870, will take place in the first fortnight of November, the correspondent of the Giornale D'Italia said today.

Ships Crash, One Founders, 2nd Sinking, 25 Die

BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Fears were felt by Coast Guards that the steamer Marquette, which rammed the steamer Senator, sinking it off Port Washington, Wis., today, had herself gone to the bottom when all efforts to communicate with the ship by radio failed early this afternoon.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Twenty-five men were reported drowned in Lake Michigan today off Port Washington, Wis., when the steamers Senator and Marquette rammed together in the dense fog. The Senator sank almost immediately, according to reports reaching Chicago. nly three of its crew were rescued, the Marquette radioed.

Many of the crew were believed to have been under deck and trapped as the vessel plunged to the bottom.

SECOND SHIP SINKING

Although the Marquette, itself listing and staggering as water poured into its hold, tried to launch boats to save those on the submerging vessel, their efforts were in vain, fragmentary reports to Coast Guards here stated.

Thirty members of the crew of the Marquette had little opportunity to think of rescuing their fellow seamen as their boat began to gradually sink, and all hands aboard strove to make Port Washington to beach the vessel before the waters claimed it.

CALLS FOR ASSISTANCE

Latest radio advices stated the ship was sinking so rapidly the captain, W. F. Amesbury, sent out the following message:

"Water rushing into hold. Fast sinking. Trying to make Port Washington with what survivors we have picked up."

NEW TRAFFIC TUBE PLAN REVEALED

Loop From 14th Street to Liberty, Sixth Avenue, to Starting Point Proposed

Plans for the proposed street car subway from Penn avenue, near Fourteenth street, to Liberty avenue at Sixth avenue were revealed today by Winters Haydock, engineer of the City Transit Commission.

Haydock appeared today before Council by invitation, but did not explain his plan orally pending formal presentation of drawings next Thursday. The proposed subway is part of the Pennsylvania Railroad station district improvement plan.

Unofficially, Haydock outlined the plan as follows:

Street cars bound west on Penn avenue would enter the subway near Fourteenth street, proceed to a point near Eleventh street and make a turn southward, passing under Union Station property to Liberty avenue, continue west under Liberty avenue to Sixth avenue, turn east on Sixth avenue to Wood street, turn north under Wood street to Liberty avenue and loop back to the starting point.

The plan is adapted to admit another section of subway under either Grant street or Smithfield street that would connect Smithfield street bridge with Liberty avenue.

FUND PROVIDED

Both sections could be built with funds from the $6,000,000 bond issue authorized by voters in 1919 for a street car subway in the First and Second Wards, according to Haydock.

Haydock's report was requested last Tuesday when Council received recommendations from a special committee of city officials and transportation executives appointed by President James F. Malone to develop surface and subway plans demanded by the Penn-

REED BATTLES FOR BINGHAM

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—Punitive action against Senator Hiram Bingham (Rep.), of Connecticut, for putting a paid lobbyist on the Senate payroll to assist him in preparing new tariff rates, was held up in the Senate this afternoon while his friends sought a compromise settlement based upon a public apology by the Connecticut Senator.

A drastic resolution of censure was drawn by Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, flaying Bingham's action and condemning it in unmeasured terms. Before Norris could introduce it, Bingham's friends, led by Senator David A. Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, launched their counter-move.

APOLOGY OFFERED

The offer was said to be based on a pledge that Bingham would apologize for his employment of

Dominican President Coming to Hospital

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Reservations have been made at Johns Hopkins Hospital for Horacio Vasquez, president of the Dominican republic, and for his wife on cable request from Santo Domingo, officials of the hospital said today. The cable gave no further details, they said, and although the local representative of the Dominican republic said he was informed of the president's plans, he was under instructions not to discuss them.

BIG CHRISTMAS TRADE LIKELY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Despite the stock market smash, the United States should enjoy a heavy Christmas business, Treasury officials said today, on the basis of reports received from various Federal Reserve districts.

Naturally, the heavy losses incurred by investors will have some effect on buying. Nevertheless, it appeared likely that the retailers of the country would have sales at least nearly as great as the tremendous business in the holiday seasons of 1927 and 1928.

It was pointed out that there was an unusually large Christmas trade two years ago despite the fact that there was a general industrial recession in the last three months of 1927.

Irene Franklin Plans Chorus Girls' Home

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—A home for chorus girls out of work, ill or in need of a rest is to be established by Irene Franklin, actress, who recently inherited $500,000.

She announced the purchase of four acres of land, including a 14-room house, at Union, N. J., and expects to convert the place into a country estate. It will be ready for occupancy in the spring. Miss Franklin inherited her fortune from an uncle in Sydney, Australia.

Dr. Wiley Improves; Recovery Expected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The condition of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, for more than a quarter of a century the nation's foremost advocate of pure food, is reported by his physician to have improved somewhat.

Although Dr. Wiley is 85 years old, his progress yesterday strengthened hope that he might recover. His age and decline during the last few weeks had given rise to anxiety among his family and friends.

BULLS DRIVE 'SHORTS' TO COVER

Recession Follows Advances But Prices Hold Above Tuesday's Low Range

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Like a thoroughly aroused giant, the bull market in industrial stocks threw off its fetters at the first tap of the opening gong at noon today.

Prices of the active stocks which have been under fire for a week or more leaped from 5 to 12 points, adding measurably to the rallies started near the close of Wednesday's market. Knowledge of the fact that today's three-hour session will be the last opportunity of the week to buy stocks in any of the American listed exchanges sent thousands of optimistic investors into the markets to buy their favorite shares.

BEARS STAMPEDED

A stampede of the bears to cover up their tracks caused heavy buying, and sales during the first half-hour ran up to the total of 2,450,000 shares. At 2:10 p. m. the trading totaled 5,312,800 shares.

The tickers of both the Exchange and the Curb market were running nearly an hour behind the market at 2 p. m.

Comparisons with Tuesday's low prices show recoveries of from 10 to 75 points. Dupont, for example, which sold at 70, recovered to 140; Westinghouse was up about 55 points at 155, International Telephone and Telegraph up 34 points at 95, American Telephone and Telegraph up 46 at 250, U. S. Steel up 25 points, New York Central up 28, Montgomery Ward up 29, General Motors up 19, Standard Oil of New Jersey up 21, American Steel Foundries up 16, New Haven Railroad up 31.

PUBLIC BUYING

Wall street had another visitation today of the army of small investors and speculators from all sections of the country. These investors, with money aplenty, were anxious to participate in the promised golden harvest of profits on stocks bought at current prices. American stocks in the London market closed strong, the Bank of England rate was marked down to 6 per cent and there was every assurance that the New York Reserve Bank would cut the redis-

U. S. STEEL BUYS COLUMBIA

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The United States Steel Corporation announced today the purchase of the Columbia Steel Corporation. The purchase price was given as approximately $46,620,000. U. S. Steel has held an option on Columbia Steel properties for several months.

The sale will be consummated February 1 and payment made in stock of the U. S. Steel Corporation. There will be no exchange of stock and the Columbia Steel will dissolve, with U. S. Steel taking over the properties.

$150,000 in Bonds Found In Old Laughlin Auto

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Negotiable bonds and securities worth at today's market price $150,000 were found beneath the rear seat of an automobile traded in to a local dealer. The machine, formerly owned by the late J. B. Laughlin, member of the Pittsburgh steel firm of Jones & Laughlin, was exchanged early in September for a new car through the Motor Sales Company of this city.

Together with other used cars it was stored in the garage until mechanics started to overhaul it. They found the valuable papers, which were the property of Miss Alice B. Laughlin, daughter of the late steel magnate, who with her mother, is a summer resident at Hyannisport, Mass.

The papers had been taken out of a safe deposit vault in Pittsburgh early last summer as Miss Laughlin and her mother were preparing to move to their Cape Cod home for the season. They were missed at that time and an extensive and fruitless search had been made for them. The papers were delivered to the owner at Hyannisport.

HOOVER DEMANDS SPEEDY ACTION ON TARIFF MEASURE

ASKS ACTION BY HOUSE IN 2 WEEKS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—While Senate leaders wrangled on the floor today over the fate of the tariff bill, President Hoover abandoned his position of aloofness in the battle and from the White House there came a statement virtually calling upon the Senate to so speed up action that the measure might be sent to conference with the House within two weeks.

It drew tart replies from Democratic members, who declared that passage of a bill in two weeks is impossible.

"It is preposterous," said Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the finance committee.

"It is absurd. Evidently the president does not know very much about the celerity with which we transact business on important questions," said Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana.

Senator Brookhart, (Rep.), of Iowa, however, declared that a movement was under way to bring about an understanding whereby the bill can be passed quickly.

"I think it possible to pass the bill in two weeks," said Brookhart, "and I hope that it may be done. We are going to try to get an understanding to let things go through on which result of the vote is apparent."

"I don't think it can be done but I'd like to see it," said Senator Fletcher (Dem.), of Florida. "I want a bill passed as soon as possible."

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

The White House statement was issued after the President had held a further conference with Claudius A. Huston, new chairman of the Republican National Committee. It follows:

"The President was visited yesterday by a number of senators, all of whom called at their own suggestions, and presented to him the grave situation that has arisen by delays in tariff legislation.

"They called attention to the fact that the Senate has had the tariff since June, with 15 schedules to work out, and has not yet completed schedule one. It was pointed that a large amount of important legislation must be undertaken at the regular session which would be prevented by carrying the debate into the next session.

"Some of these Senators considered progress hopeless and it appeared to them that the coalition intended to delay or defeat legislation or did not intend to give adequate protection to industry.

URGE ACTION

"Others felt that some understanding should be attempted among Senate leaders by which the bill could be sent to conference with the House at an early date.

"The president said, as he has uniformly stated his position, that campaign promises should be carried out by which adequate protection should be given to agriculture and to the industries where the chances in economic situations demand their assistance. He stated that he could not believe and, therefore, would not admit that the United States Senate was unable to legislate and that the interests of the country required that legislation should be completed during the special session.

DOESN'T INTERFERE

"The President has declined to interfere or to express any opinion of the details of rates or any compromise thereof, as it is obvious that, if for no other reason, he could not pretend to have the necessary information in respect to many thousands of different commodities which such determination required, but he pointed out that the wide differences of opinion and the length of the discussions in the Senate were themselves ample demonstration of the desirability of a real flexible clause in order that injustice in rates could be promptly corected by scientific and impartial investigation and put in action without such delays as the present discussion gives proof.

"He urged the Republican leaders to get together and see if they could not expedite the early completion of the schedules and thus send the bill to conference with the House within the next two weeks."

THE BOBBING APPLE :-: By Quin Hall

SUBWAY PLANS UP TO COUNCIL

The committee recommended these projects to Council on Tuesday:

1—Approval of the proposed passenger station on Penn avenue between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets and an express station on Penn avenue between Sixteenth and Eighteenth streets.

2—Widening of Penn avenue to 120 feet between Eleventh and Eighteenth streets.

3—Creation of a traffic circle at the junction of Penn avenue, Eleventh street, Grant street and Liberty avenue to separate through and local traffic. Through traffic to and from Penn avenue would be carried on depressed roadways. Local traffic between all streets entering the intersection would be carried on roadways raised above the present surface.

4—Construction of a street car subway to remove all street cars from the roadways of the intersection, to fit in with the cross-triangle subway previously recommended by the transit commission.

CITY TO GET LAND

The widening of Penn avenue would be made possible by the railroad company deeding to the city the required land on the southerly side of the thoroughfare. The company would also give the city considerable land to create the traffic circle.

In exchange, the city would give the company all the street area occupied by Liberty avenue and Spring way, between Eleventh and Sixteenth streets and the streets connecting Liberty and Penn avenues, from Eleventh to Sixteenth streets.

The street vacating plan would complete the company's ownership of the area from Bigelow boulevard wall to Penn avenue as widened from Eleventh to Sixteenth street for terminal extensions, including the passenger and express stations.

TRADE PROPERTIES

Under the proposed transfer of land the company would give the city property appraised by city assesors at $3,962,540 and the city would give the company property appraised at $3,071,275, leaving a difference in the city's favor of $891,265.

Construction of the traffic circle was estimated to cost $1,209,050, exclusive of the expense of relocating surface and sub-surface poles, cables, conduits, wires and pipe lines of electric, telephone and gas companies.

Seek Moratorium On Mortgages In Phila.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—A six months moratorium, during which first mortgages on homes will not be called in or instalments demanded, was asked today of trust companies in this city by Philip N. Arnold, president of the Philadelphia Real Estate Board, in an effort to reduce the number of sheriff's sales of small homes.

The request follows a meeting between officials of the board and many trust companies at which sheriff's sales, general real estate conditions and the plight of many small home owners were discussed.

The board planned to make a similar request of all real estate brokers in the city.

The proposed moratorium would not apply in cases wherein the circumstances were such as to show that the mortgagers were entirely irresponsible.

Coal Police Juror Beating Condemned

The American Civil Liberties Union, through W. Ellison Chalmers, secretary, today issued a statement condemning the beating and threats of jurors who sat on the murder trial of the three coal and iron police in the murder of John Borkowski. The statement says: "Although we feel that these jurors were guilty of colossal stupidity, the appropriate remedy for such a condition is not to assist the cause of repression and reaction by violating the personal rights of these men."

CONGRESS MAY PROBE STOCKS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—A congressional investigation of stock exchange speculation throughout the country was proposed in a resolution presented in the Senate today by Senator Nye, (Rep.), of North Dakota.

He proposed appointment of a committee of five with broad authority to summon witnesses and secure record of exchanges.

The committee would include in its membership Chairman Norris, of the Judiciary Committee, and Chairman Norbeck, of the Banking Committee, as well as the respective ranking minority members of these committees, Senators Overman, North Carolina, and Fletcher, Florida.

Nye declared that the investigation was a forerunner to necessary congressional legislation to regulate purely speculative operations on stock exchanges.

John D. Repeats Market-Saving Act of 1907

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—When John D. Rockefeller, Sr., came to the rescue of a wildly-fluctuating stock market yesterday with orders to buy, he re-enacted a role he played 22 years ago.

On October 23, 1907, during one of the severest panics in the market's history, he issued a statement expressing confidence and began to buy sound common stocks. His action, taken a day previous to the formation of a $25,000,000 pool by J. Pierpont Morgan, had a stabilizing effect on the market.

STOCKS SHOOT UPWARD IN BIG RALLY

Public Rushes Into Market With Buying Orders; Gains Reduced by Profit-Taking

count rate to 5 per cent after the close of today's market. Bears were squeezed unmercifully at the start, and prices pushed up for the benefit of the new buyers.

A wave of profit-taking and left-over liquidation blocked the path of the bull steam-roller in the second hour, and prices sagged, with active stocks losing about 50 per cent of their overnight gains.

SCRAMBLE TO BUY

A mad scramble to buy stocks, influenced by the belief that the selling crisis had definitely passed, brought about the sensational advance at the opening. Initial transactions ranged from 10,000 to 70,000-share lots.

Factors which had a recuperative effect on the market included the following:

1—An army of investors all over the country were buying stocks at what they regarded as "bargain prices."

2—Announcement from London today that the Bank of England had reduced its rediscount rate, showing that the critical money situation in Lodnon had passed and that the Bank of England was no longer standing guard over its gold supply.

3—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and other prominent financiers were on "the buying side" of the market at present.

4—Industrial companies were issuing special and extra dividends and big American corporations were announcing that their earnings for the first nine months of this year were higher than the corresponding period last year.

OPENING SPECTACULAR

Opening gains, in many cases, were even more spectacular than the declines in the bad reactions of the last week.

So great was the accumulation of over-night orders, as a result of reports that America's most powerful financial forces, headed by the J. P. Morgan and Rockefeller interests, had definitely checked the wave of hysterical selling, that specialists on the floor were required to bunch them and wait several minutes before they could settle on fair opening prices.

Odd lot houses, which handle the accounts of small customers, reported that they had never seen such an army of "bargain hunters" looking for cheap stocks of high grade investment merit.

The initial outburst of buying attracted profit-taking on the part of traders who had bought stocks in the last few days for a "turn," and part of the gains were lost.

As an indication of the quick rush of profit taking, Montgomery Ward, after opening up 12½ at 78¾, slipped back to 71, and Westinghouse Electric, after opening up 13 at 157½, dropped to 150.

STRONG IN LONDON

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Opening and closing prices of American stocks traded on the London Stock Exchange today were as follows:

Brazil Traction, open 48½; close 50.

International Nickel, open 39; close 4.

TWO RUN DOWN IN FOG KILLED BY AUTOS

West Homestead Woman and South Side Man Victims; 3 Drivers Held, 1 Sought

Two deaths today formed the toll of auto accidents occuring last night in the dense fog that enveloped the city.

Nancy L. Rush, about 77, of West Homestead, was fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile at Sixth and Amity streets, Homestead. Thomas O'Leary, 60, of 1710 West Carson street, was fatally hurt when he was knocked down by a taxicab and run over by two other machines in the 1500 block of Carson street. The woman died in Homestead Hospital several hours after being run down. O'Leary was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries. He died shortly before noon today.

Homestead police arrested Fred Doyle, 22, of First avenue, Homestead, alleged driver of the machine which struck the woman. He was held under $1,000 bond.

Police arrested William G. Marks, 615 McClure street, Homestead, alleged driver of one of the cars that ran over O'Leary, after he had walked into the side of a taxicab driven by Morris Cohen, 37, of 2000 Brighton road. Before Cohen could stop his cab another machine which was following him ran over O'Leary who had been thrown into the middle of the street. A second taxicab also ran over him.

Cohen took the victim to the hospital and reported the accident to North Side police, who held him.

Mrs. Rush made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Schubert, 237 Seventh avenue, West Homestead.

ENGLISH BANK RATE CUT

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The Bank of England today reduced the British rediscount rate to 6 per cent.

Lowering of the rate signified that Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, had accomplished what he set out to do when he caused the raising of the rate a few months ago.

Snowden had felt at that time that an increase was necessary for the protection of the British gold supply.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Reduction of the Bank of England rate was considered the most bullish news in many weeks in the financial section today. In the opinion of observers, reduction in the rediscount rate of the Federal probable when the board meets today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP.)—The decrease of one-half of one per cent in the Bank of England discount rate today was accepted at the Treasury as an indication that a decrease in the New York Federal Reserve aBnk discount rate was imminent.

Clearing House Tops Record by Half Billion

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Settlements through the New York Clearing House yesterday totaled $3,500,000,000—a record for all time. It was attributed almost entirely to the abnormal exchange of checks in settlement of stock exchange transactions.

The previous record for one day was $3,034,000,000 on last January 2, when the figures were swelled by month-end and year-end payments, dividends and other settlements.

and dashes crashed out from the Marquette and said:

"Please rush. Making water so fast doubt if we can make it."

The Senator was owned by the Nicholson Universal Steamship Company, of Milwaukee, while the Marquette is operated by the Cleveland Clifes Company, of Cleveland.

The Marquette, bearing a crew of 30 men, left Escanaba, Mich., at 6 o'clock last night, bound for Indiana Harbor, Ind., with a cargo of iron ore.

THIRD LOSS IN WEEK

The collision of the Senator with Marquette marked the third ship disaster on Lake Michigan within the last wek with a total loss of 89 lives.

Monday the steamer Wisconsin sank in a severe storm off Kenosha, Wis., with a loss of 16 lives. The Wisconsin carried three passengers all of whom were saved and a crew of 61. Many of theme were injured.

A few days previous the Car Ferry Milwaukee, sank in another storm with a crew of 48, all of whom were lost.

INSULL TO SAVE STAFF'S STOCK

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Samuel Insull, public utilities magnate, has guaranteed the margin requirements of his employes who have been caught in the bear market, to prevent their life savings being swept away, it was learned following the announcement of a similar proffer made by Julius Rosenwald, of Sears Roebuck & Co.

Officials of the Insull organization declined to discuss details of the proposal, except to say that the offer was extended to employes without differentiating in the stock the employe bought.

BANKER HELD IN $60,000 SHORTAGE

State Examiner Files Charge Of Embezzlement Against Cashier After Suicide Try

State Bank Examiner J. D. Swigart today made information against Stephen Sembrot, cashier of the Peoples State Bank of McKees Rocks, charging him with misapplication and embezzlement of the bank's funds. Seven offenses are specified.

The information was made before Alderman Thomas D. Jones, who fixed bail at $25,000. Swigart told Jones the shortage was at least $60,000.

HEARING MONDAY

Jones set 2 p. m., Monday for the preliminary hearing.

The bank will remain closed until a complete investigation has disclosed the extent of shortages, and what can be done to rehabilitate it, Peter G. Cameron, secretary of banking, said today.

The affairs of the bank were taken over Tuesday. Sembrot, arrested after an alleged suicide attempt in the Roosevelt Hotel Tuesday afternoon, is held in Central Police Station, but will be committed to the county jail, it was said.

Swigart asserted that Sembrot used the bank's funds to speculate in stocks. Calls for more margin, resulting from the crash of security values on the New York Stock Exchange, could not be met by Sembrot, Swigart revealed.

He said that his speculations were not for personal gain, but for the benefit of the bank, Swigart said, adding that the stock gambling was not authorized.

CAMERON CRITICAL

Commenting on the arrest of Sembrot, Secretary of Banking Peter G. Cameron said at Harrisburg today, as quoted in an Associated Press dispatch:

"This should serve as a lesson to bankers. Banking officials should at no time speculate in the market, for slumps of the last several days are bound to result disastrously."

It is impossible at this time to determine the exact amount of losses and how depositors of the bank will fare, the secretary asserted.

"We are hopeful of reopening the bank," he said. "The stockholders are subject to an assessment, but whether this assessment would be sufficient to meet the shortage is a question we can not determine until the books have been thoroughly gone over."

Secretary Cameron has appointed Frank W. Jackson, of Apollo, a special deputy secretary of the department, as his agent in administering the affairs of the bank.

6 STILL MISSING IN LAKE SINKING

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Coast Guards sought the bodies of six more members of the steamer Wisconsin's crew today after an inquiry revealed that 75 men were aboard the vessel, and only 60 rescued, when it went down in Lake Michigan.

Nine bodies have been recovered and six more are hidden in the lake, according to Harvey Lyons, purser of the ill-fated Goodrich Lines boat.

A federal inquiry has failed to ascertain the reason why the steamer Wisconsin sank, but it fixed definitely at 16 the number of persons who died in the wreck.

Because the chief officer went down with the passenger-freight boat Tuesday morning off this port, Government Inspector Fred Meno, of Detroit, said he did not think it likely the cause of the disaster could be ascertained.

West Virginian Accused In Two Courts Here

Elmore W. Clubb, also known as Charles Waddell, of Clarksburg, W. Va., was accused of different offenses in two courts here today. He was named co-respondent in a suit for divorce filed in Common Pleas Court by Arthur S. Frayer, of 270 Butler street, Etna, and charged with larceny in Morals Court.

Mrs. Geraldine Fanus, jewelry store owner, of Clarksburg, declared a traveling bag containing lingerie valued at $630 was stolen from her room at the William Penn Hotel on October 12. Clubb, charged with the theft, is alleged to have given the clothing to Mrs. Frayer. She testified she received it from him.

Clubb and Mrs. Fanus were both here from Clarksburg on October 12 for the Pitt-West Viriginia football game. He is alleged to have induced a maid to unlock Mrs. Fanus' hotel room during her absence.

Clubb was held for the grand jury on the larceny charge.

Hoover Gives Mme. Curie Nation's $50,000 Draft

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—In the presence of a distinguished company of American officials and scientists, Mme. Curie yesterday was presented with a bank draft for $50,000 by President Hoover to carry on her researches in the Curie Polish Cancer Hospital and laboratory in Warsaw.

Recalling the important discoveries made by the French scientist with radium, the President said the gift was an expression on the part of the American people for their gratitude for the "beneficent service Mme. Curie has given to all mankind."

Accepting the silver-encased draft, Mme. Curie thanked Mr. Hoover in a voice scarcely audible in the vaulted auditorium. She promised to carry it back with her as "a symbol of enduring friendship binding your country to France and to Poland."

The ceremonies, which were under the direction of Dr. William Welsh, of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, were attended by several hundred persons including many prominent scientists, doctors and representatives from the Senate and the diplomatic corps. The radium fund was raised under the supervision of Mrs. William Brown Meloney from contributions made by American women in all parts of the country.

The President told the unassuming French woman that the whole American people were gratified that she had honored this country in coming here.

ONTARIO REAPPROVES GOVERNMENT LIQUOR CONTROL

PROHIBITION CANDIDATES DEFEATED

Government Sale Indorsed As Ferguson Ticket Gets Record-Breaking Plurality

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Retained in power by the biggest plurality ever given a government in Ontario, the Conservatives today regarded the election as vindication of their policy of government sale of liquor.

Inaugurated three years ago by the government of Premier G. Howard Ferguson, the Government Control Act was the principal issue in yesterday's general election. The Progressives demanded bone-dry legislation and the liberals a plebiscite.

GAIN 15 SEATS

The Conservatives, holding 75 of the 112 seats at the dissolution of the last Legislature, increased this number by 15 with four seats still doubtful today. Premier Ferguson, whose government was returned to power for the third time, was himself elected with a majority of more than 2,000 votes over his prohibitionist opponent, the Rev. T. H. Bradley.

The greatest defeat was suffered by the Liberal party which had expected the rural sections to give them a far greater representation than the 21 seats they held at dissolution. Instead, their number was reduced to 9.

W. E. N. Sinclair, the Liberal leader, was re-elected by a majority of about 1,000.

FACTION LEADER OUSTED

The Progressives who held 11 seats at dissolution won only three and saw their leader, J. G. Lethbridge, go down to defeat in a three-cornered fight by 35 votes. All the Prohibition candidates were defeated.

The Independent Conservatives won two seats, the Liberal-Progressives two, and the United Farmers, one.

Four women who aspired to be the first of their sex to sit in the Legislature all met defeat. Four Communists, including Tim Buck, leader of the movement in Toronto, also were defeated.

PROMISED CHEAPER BEER

Premier Ferguson, who had expressed extreme confidence that his party would be returned to power, said he would be guided in his policy of liquor control by a vote of the people. He had declared his willingness to adopt more stringent regulations should they be deemed necessary but expressed the belief that temperance and sobriety could best be obtained by education in the homes, the schools and the churches. He promised a reduction in the price of beer.

His opponents charged the liquor control act was a failure and that crime and drinking were increasing.

Nova Scotia Voting On Government Rum Sale

TRURO, N. S., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Nova Scotia, one of the two remaining Canadian provinces with a prohibition law, decides today whether or not it shall sell liquor.

Voters choose between retention of the temperance act or substitution of a system of government control and sale of intoxicating liquors. There have been four weeks of intense campaigning by the prohibitionists and the Temperance Reform Association, which favors government sale of liquor.

Victory in five of the largest constituencies and the city of Halifax, the largest voting district, was claimed by the Reform Association. Prohibitionists conceded defeat only in a few industrial centers.

FIGHT GROWS HEATED

Heat was added to the last days of the campaign by legal action brought by the president of the Temperance Reform Association, J. H. Winfield, against Dr. W. D. Forrest, prominent physician and a leader in the fight to retain the temperance act, alleging libel.

Conditions since prohibition in the United States have been cited freely by both sides in the campaign. Aided by nearly all the outstanding supporters of the present provincial government, advocates of government control have declared that the revenue from such a system is needed for the upkeep of highways, to encourage tourist traffic and to pay old age pensions.

ROSZIKA DOLLY DIVORCE NEARS

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Friends of Roszika Dolly, wife of Mortimer Davis, Jr., heir of the Canadian tobacco millionaire, said today they understood a process for divorce between them would be commenced in Paris as soon as a property settlement is reached.

The two were said to have been separated definitely since the early part of last summer, although there thus far has been no formal application for divorce by either party.

It was recalled here the will of Sir Mortimer Davis, father of the stage star's husband, excluded Roszika from participation even by alimony. Proceedings now are held up, it was said, until the trustees see their way clear to make some provision for her.

The two were married at Brewster, N. Y., March 31, 1927.

Seligsberg, Noted As Importer, Dies

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Louis Seligsberg, 80, for nearly half a century prominent in business in Baltimore and New York, died in Mount Sinai Hospital here.

Born in Germany, Mr. Seligsberg came to the United States in 1866, and first settled in Cincinnati, O., where he worked as a clerk and a reporter for a German paper. He moved to Baltimore to engage in the import and export business in 1877 and continued in business in that city and in New York until 1927. He was for years one of the governors of the New York Coffee Exchange and for a time was the exchange's secretary. He is survived by three children.

She is survived by her husband and a son, Raymond Ballard, Portland, composer and organist.

2 SHOT BY LAKE RUM CHASER; NO LIQUOR

Coast Guard Crew Arrests Three Atfer Chase; Fail To Find Any Contraband

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Two men were shot and a third arrested early today in the capture, on Lake Erie by Coast Guard patrol boat CG-9001, of the motor cruiser Butterfly, formerly the Uncas. The cruiser was said to have been used in carrying liquor from Canada to United States ports.

According to Coast Guard officials the Butterfly had fought two battles this past summer with the patrol fleet on Lake Ontario, one near Charlotte and the other off Olcott, N. Y., but due to the fact that her hull is sheated in steel plates, the craft had always been successful in eluding capture.

NO LIQUOR FOUND

On overhauling the Butterfly today, Capt. Hubert F. Wilbur of the 9001 reported that no fire arm nor liquor was found on board.

The wounded men under guard today at a Buffalo hospital, were reported as not in a serious condition. They identified themselves as Jack Smith, 32, of 2465 Puritan avenue, Detroit, and William Moore, 35, of Laurel, Mont.

DENY RUM RUNNING

The man under arrest is Lloyd Deline, 35, of Lockport.

Deline, held on an open charge, denied there was liquor aboard the Butterfly and declared neither he nor his companions were in the rum trade. He said the coast guard boat fired on them without warning. All three face charges of failure to halt for search at the command of a government boat.

According to Capt. Wilbur's report a warning fusillade of rifle fire was directed toward the fleeing vessel, but no shots were fired in return.

T.A.T. AIR CRASH LAID TO PILOT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The Department of Commerce reported to the Senate today that there was no evidence that the T. A. T. plane, City of San Francisco, which crashed in New Mexico, with the loss of eight lives, "failed to function properly at any time preceding the accident."

Three probable causes for the disaster were assigned in the report which was made in response to a Senate resolution by Senators Bratton, New Mexico, and McKellar, Tennessee.

These were: The pilot might have entered the storm area intending to fly through and miscalculated the direction and velocity of the winds; he might have been unable to avoid the storm and in attempting to remain under it might have unexpectedly collided with the mountain; or he might have miscalculated in attempting to pass between the storm and the mountain.

OHIO PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO BURTON

Business and Party Leaders To Honor Senator at Funeral in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Ohio pays her last tribute today to the second of her distinguished statesmen to be taken by death in less than a year with impressive public funeral services for Senator Theodore E. Burton.

Just as President Hoover and official Washington bowed before the veteran legislator's bier in the Senate chamber yesterday in honors accorded few public men, state and local officials, together with national figures and the city's most prominent men gathered for the last rites here today.

TO LIE NEAR GARFIELD

Burial was to be in a lot in Lake View Cemetery immediately beside that of President Garfield and not far from that of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, who was similarly honored in services here last April 15.

His fellow citizens and supporters from all walks of life were given an opportunity to pay their respects as the body lay in state at the Public Hall.

Most of the details of the services were directed by Burton himself when he knew his death was but a short time away. The body, accompanied by a score of his colleagues in the House and Senate, was scheduled to arrive from Washington, where the Senator died Monday night, over the Pennsylvania Railroad at 8:10 a. m. to be met by Federal officials and Republican leaders. A detachment of the One Hundred and Forty-fifth Infantry, Ohio National Guard was assigned to escort the body to the Public Hall, where it was to lie in state until the funeral procession formed at 1:15.

MILITARY ESCORT

A military escort was provided for the route to the Euclid Avenue Congregational Church and hundreds of official and private mourners planned to follow the carriage containing the flag-draped bier. Besides his near relatives, the cortege was to include an official committee of United States Senators, Gov. Myers Y. Cooper and his cabinet members, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown representing President Hoover, members of the state Legislature, and nearly all of Cleveland's noted citizens.

The services at the church, starting at 2 p. m., were to be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Ferdinand Q. Blanchard, with Bishop William McDowell, of the Washington area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, delivering the oration.

SAYS HE DIDN'T KILL FROM REAR

WEATHERFORD, Tex., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Efforts to refute state testimony that R. H. Hamilton shot his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., in the back were made by the defense today in the trial of the Amarillo lawyer on a murder charge.

Hamilton, a former member of the state supreme court commission, a former professor in Baylor University and a former president of Howard Payne College, killed Walton last May after the youth had secretly married Hamilton's 17-year-old daughter, Theresa, while both were students at the University of Texas.

Rob Slay, employe of an Amarillo Undertaking Company, testified he believed the bullets entered Walton's body from the front.

E. O. Holloway, finger print expert, said when he entered Hamilton's law office where he found Walton's body, the room was full of smoke.

"Did you talk to Walton?"

"I tried to but he couldn't talk."

Airplane Crashes In Mexican Swamp

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The Department of Civil Aviation has received a report from Minatitlan in the State of Vera Cruz that an unidentified airplane fell into a swamp near the city. The damage and number of the crew could not be determined because of the swamp's inaccessibility.

It was stated that the plane was not one of the Mexican Aviation Company which crosses Minatitlan, as that company said all its planes had reported.

DETROIT RING BLAMED IN MURDER

International News Service.

LAPEER, Mich., Oct. 31.—Mystery shrouding the fate of David Cass, 23-year-old Detroit youth, who was kidnaped July 21, had been cleared away today following the finding and identification of his body in an isolated, wooded section on the banks of the Flint River, four miles north of here.

The body was discovered yesterday by a trapper and was identified by means of a bank-book and by Cass' dentist and tailor. The youth apparently had been dead for months and detectives believe he was put to death soon after he was kidnaped.

BULLETS IN CHEST

Four bullet wounds in the chest reveal that Cass was shot to death and marks about the body indicate that he was beaten, strangled and tortured before he was killed. The jaw was broken.

The Cass kidnapping is one of a series of abductions carried out by a gang of extortionists in Detroit. Cass, known as a young man-about-town, was kidnaped July 21 and for many weeks his family would not permit police intervention, fearing that this would bring down the wrath of the kidnapers and result in their victim's death.

Gerson Cass, real estate dealer, and father of the missing youth, received a note signed "David," advising that:

"I am held for $25,000 ransom. Give the men what they want. I am being threatened."

Police, working on the case without the aid of the Cass family, learned that the father had agreed to meet one of the gang and turn over $4,000 to him.

CATCH EXTORTIONIST

As the elder Cass gave the money, wrapped in brown paper, to the extortionist at the designated point, detectives closed in and began firing.

Joseph A. (Legs) Laman, the man who received the money, was wounded, the package dropping from his hand as he fell.

Lacking sufficient evidence to convict Laman of the actual kidnaping, he was charged with and convicted of extortion, and sentenced to from one to two years in the state prison at Jackson.

LINKED WITH GANG

Others who are linked by police as members of the Cass kidnaping gang are: Raymond Andrews, awaiting sentence for the kidnaping of Fred Begeman, wealthy bootlegger; Andrew Germano, serving a 35 to 50-year sentence for shooting a policeman, and Frank Hohfer, serving time for kidnaping.

An attempt is to be made to fasten murder charges on those suspected of complicity. Cass' father came to Lapeer yesterday, but apparently he had long since given up hope for his son's return and he took the news that the body had been positively identified stoically.

Three Dry Convicts Escape Jail Terms

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Although convicted last week by a United States court grand jury on charges of violating the prohibition law under the Jones act, three Carbondale men, appearing for sentence before Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson, escaped with suspended jail terms and fines. The case was the first of its kind tried locally since the passage of the "five and ten" law.

M. J. Brennan, proprietor of a Carbondale hotel, and Daniel Munley and Michael Ford, bartenders, were the defendants. Each was given a suspended four-month jail term, with Brennan being fined $250 and the bartenders each $150.

Teachers Win Pay Strike; Work Monday

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Plains Township school teacher strike, in effect since last Thursday, when 143 instructors refused to report until six months' salaries were paid by the school board, was at an end today. Decision of the school board last night at a special meeting to order payment of the final payroll was followed by a statement from the teachers that they will be on hand when classes resume in twelve township buildings next Monday morning. There is no school in Plains Township this week, due to county institute sessions here.

100th Year Passed, Woman Smilingly Awaits Death

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Mrs. Frances S. Beeman, of Cheshire, near here, is awaiting death's call with a smile today, for as the clock in her little room struck midnight it was as a welcome note of victory which indicated her life-long ambition to live to see her one hundredth birthday had been realized.

Until a few weeks ago she had maintained possession of her faculties to a remarkable degree and it was expected she would live to see her cherished dream come true. Then her fight for life began to tell and she rapidly lost strength with the result that her physicians nodded their heads sadly when she, still confident, predicted she would stave off the grim reaper until she became a centenarian.

Although unconscious at intervals and knowing that her long span of life was to be snapped shortly, Mrs. Beeman was conscious today that she had scored a victory. Physicians said early today that the woman may live another 24 hours.

RANDOLPH, Vt., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Nutting, aged 99 years 9 months 9 days 9 hours, died at her home at Randolph Center.

Wales Single From Choice; Hunt, Dance His Joys

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The Prince of Wales, the world's most eligible bachelor, is "heart whole and fancy free," and is unmarried simply for the reason that "he wants to be himself," according to his own explanation of his continued celibacy as contained in an interview appearing today in the magazine Brittania and I.

The article, written by Evelyn Graham, quotes the Prince directly as telling her:

"During 12 hours of every day I have to be what other people want me to be. During the rest of the time I can be myself. But if I married, I should have to spend the rest of my time being what my wife wanted me to be.

"Give me a fox to chase and a stout-hearted horse beneath me and I will enjoy my morning. Give me a good band and a high-stepping partner and I will enjoy my evening."

Reports, spread in various parts of the world, that the Prince is in love with a girl whom he may not marry, for reasons of state, are directly denied by Miss Graham's article.

The article says that the prince's eventual bride, assuming that he will marry, must be good looking, but "not a doll-like beauty." Preferably, she must be a brunet and intelligent; she must be a trifle older than the prince himself, understanding and capable of tactfully "curbing his wilder schemes for amusing himself."

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales can make a cigaret rise in the air apparently all by itself; he can pluck a cigaret out of the air and make a coin vanish after dropping it into a glass of water. These are some of the stunts of magic which Joseph Dunninger says he has taught the prince.

YALE STUDY CUP AWARDED

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Saunders MacLane, of Norwalk, Conn., who has the highest scholastic record ever attained by a Yale undergraduate, has been awarded the Montclair Yale cup for 1929, which will be given annually hereafter to a Yale senior who has won his "scholastic," Nicholas Roberts, president of the Yale Club of Montclair, announced.

The cup will be presented to MacLane at the annual barn party in Nick Roberts' old Yale barn at Montclair, December 7. At the same time the Montclair Yale bowl will be presented to President Hutchins, of the University of Chicago. The bowl is presented each year to a Yale alumnus who has "won his Y in life."

MacLane's average for the first three years of his college work was 96⅓. The lowest grade he ever got was 87½ for one term in his freshman year. In three years he has had nine term marks of 100.

"I know of no record in Yale's history that approaches his," said Dean Clarence M. Mendell.

Harvard Professor To Give Oxford Lectures

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore College and American secretary to the Rhodes trustees, announced that Prof. John L. Lowes, of Harvard, would be the first George Eastman visiting professor to the University of Oxford. Prof. Lowes will lecture at Oxford during the academic year 1930-31. His appointment was announced officially in the Oxford University Gazette.

The George Eastman visiting professorship was established last year by George Eastman, of Rochester, N. Y., by a gift of $200,000, to the American trust fund for Oxford University, maintained by the Association of American Rhodes Scholars.

COACH IN RACE FOR BURGESS

LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Carl Snavely, coach of the strongest team Bucknell University has developed in many years, may yet run this borough.

Friends of the popular Bison leader announced that they will conduct a sticker campaign to place Snavely's name on the ballot for burgess of Lewisburg at the coming election.

The football coach himself is too busy with his team to dabble in politics and said "I will take no part in any campaign, but if my friends elect me, I shall try arrange to serve."

The present burgess is Harry R. Miller, who has served for eight years. Snavely's name was not entered in the primary campaign in which the incumbent led a field of eight candidates in the returns.

Maj. Samuel B. Wolfe and William O'Brien are prominent in the move to elect the Bucknell coach.

U.S. REPARATION PACT READY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—State and Treasury Department officials have virtually completed the preliminary draft of the agreement which the United States will propose to Germany to provide for the direct payment to the Washington government of America's share under the Young plan.

The question has already been tentatively discussed between the American embassy in Berlin and the German foreign office, and active negotiations are expected to begin shortly.

Since the United States is not to be a party to the Young plan, which will replace the Dawes plan for the settlement of German reparations, a separate agreement between the two countries to provide for direct payments of America's claims, which are but a small share of the total amount, must be negotiated. The agreement, upon signature by the two governments, will be submitted to both the Senate and House of Representatives for final approval.

VOTE MACHINE DRIVE GAINS

Sentiment in the South Hills in favor of the adoption of voting machines was reported today to be rapidly crystallizing.

Leaders from many sections told at a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel yesterday of the progress that is being made in the campaign.

The affair was held under the auspices of the South Hills Council of Republican Women, which recently passed a resolution urging the adoption of voting machines as a substitute for paper ballots.

Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence presided. Mrs. Sarah Gardner represented Knoxville; Mrs. C. L. Buckley, Overbrook; Mrs. Lewis Gillette, Mt. Washington; Miss Edna Sloan, Beechview; Mrs. Vincent Boloff, Mt. Lebanon, and Mrs. C. L. Urben, Mrs. Arch Powell, Mrs. Charles Goette, Mrs. J. H. Holliday, Mrs. H. G. Ewens and Mrs. Arthur Shoup, Dormont.

Berwick Burgess Paralysis Victim

BERWICK, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Burgess F. R. Kitchen died in a hospital yesterday after an illness of two months with paralysis.

COALITION MAY GOVERN FRANCE

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Senator Etienne Clemental today was expected today to take the bull by the horns and make an announcement revealing a new cabinet containing men he thinks will most strengthen his government, without regard for party affiliations.

Although theoretically a member of the Radical-Socialistic party, M. Clemental has never let himself be ruled by the dictates of any party.

He is sufficiently radical in some of his views to gain the good-will of a good many members of the Left parties, yet his radicalism does not go so far as to make him unacceptable to the Right, or Conservative groups.

His government, it is believed, will, if formed, attempt to carry on the financial policy of former Premier Poincare, which proved so successful, while developing the foreign policy of former Premier Briand, with its promise of peace and security.

M. Briand himself is expected to take the portfolio of foreign minister in the new government, while Clementel is expected either to take the finance ministry himself or give it to Andre Cheron.

The other posts, it is expected, will be sprinkled among the Radical and Center parties. This should bring to Clementel at least the partial support of all parties and enough votes in the Chamber of Deputies to insure him a stable administration.

Radio Man Seeks Court Ban on Sign Static

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 31.—Dial this one on your radio:

Leroy Cleveland, secretary of a local radio company, wants an electric sign arraigned for trespassing and disorderly conduct. He filed a petition in Circuit Court asking a permanent injunction to restrain an automobile company from operating its huge flasher sign.

The sign, Cleveland said, sends out "waves." And waves are on no definite wave band. About the time he has a customer convinced as to the selectivity of a radio, the sign crashes through with a static broadcast that ruins reception of his selling program. Cleveland wants the sign signed off.

ARIZONA QUITS BOULDER PACT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The Arizona Colorado River Commission announced it had broken off all negotiations looking to a tri-state compact between this state, California and Nevada for division of water and power of the Colorado River under the terms of the Boulder Canyon Dam act.

Attorney General K. Berry Peterson, of Arizona, was instructed to proceed with legal steps necessary to protect the state's interests. The commission indicated suit would be filed attacking the constitutionality of the Boulder Dam bill and challenging the right of Congress to allocate water of the Colorado River.

The commission's action followed receipt of notice from Secretary of the Interior Wilbur that Arizona had been given 18 per cent of the hydro-electric power to be generated at the dam.

Will Be Hostess To Woman's Class

The Woman's Bible Class of the McClure Avenue Presbyterian Church, will meet tomorrow night in the home of Mrs. Jane Evans, Woodland avenue, North Side.

MEDALS OF AIR HEROES WAIT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The swift flight of fame, and the modesty of courageous men, has left a number of Mackay trophy medals awaiting claimants among former army aviators.

Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the army air corps, announced today that he was searching for several such fliers, or their heirs, to receive these medals for their participation in service aviation exploits adjudged most meritorious in various years.

The award is limited to army aviators and is given annually, but if more than one participates in the flight or flights found most meritorious, each receives a medal. The men who, themselves or through their heirs, are entitled to the unclaimed medals include:

Col. Townsend F. Dodd, winner of the trophy in 1914 for participation in a reconnaissance flight, who was killed before receiving the medal.

Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard, the "Flying Parson," and Lieut. D. B. Gish, members of the crew of the Atlantic-Pacific flight and return in 1919, who resigned before receiving the medals representing the trophy, and Lieut. R. S. Worthington, another participant in that exploit, who resigned and was killed soon afterward.

Capt. Clinton F. Woolsey, of the crew of the South American good will flight in 1926, who was killed during that undertaking.

Sergt. Edmund Henrique, who participated in the Alaskan flight in 1920 and was discharged upon expiration of his term of enlistment before receiving the medal.

Swedish Airman To Girdle Globe

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—An airplane flight around the world from Sweden by way of Siberia, Kamchatka, Alaska and New York is planned by the Swedish Count, Douglas Hamilton, head of the flying school at Ystad, in the southern province of Scania. The Swedish army flier, Goesta Andree, has arrived at Cape Town, South Africa, on his flight from Stockholm. Andree hopped from the Swedish capital September 19.

Wilkins to Sail South on Friday

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Sir George Hubert Wilkins, Australian explorer, announced last night that his party would sail for Deception Island in the South Shetlands on Friday to establish a base for Antarctic air exploration. He plans long flights over unmapped territory and hopes to celebrate Christmas with Com. Richard E. Byrd at Little America.

Franklin Countians Form Air Company

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Three residents of Letterkenny Township, Franklin County, applied to the Public Service Commission for incorporation, organization and creation of the Slyder Aviation, Inc., a company for the purpose of conducting a commercial flying service. The incorporators are J. F. Slyder, Stella S. Slyder and S. Brake Slyder.

Negro Will Face Charge of Murder

Charged with murder, Herman Stevenson, 23, a Negro, of 2714 Penn avenue, was to be turned over to the coroner today in connection with the death Tuesday of his wife, Minnie Stevenson, 25, city detectives said. Mrs. Stevenson died in West Penn Hospital from a bullet wound. The shooting terminated a quarrel in the couple's home, detectives reported.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Southern Texas yesterday morning is now centered over Iowa, lowest barometer 29.62 inches, at Des Moines. Precipitation was general again everywhere from the Central Rocky Mountain states to the Atlantic coast; snow in the mountains and northern plains and rain over the remainder of the country. It is raining this morning in all the Mississippi Valley states, and in the Ohio valley as far east as Indianapolis. It is raining also in Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey. High barometer covers the far Northeast and the Northwest. The temperatures are above normal from the Plains states to the Appalachian Mountains, but west of the central plains the weather is cold.

River Conditions.

The rivers are still stationary or falling slowly. Stage at Franklin is 1.3 feet; Lock No. 7, 13.5; Pittsburgh, 11.0; Dam No. 2, 7.2; Dam No. 6, 7.6; Dam No. 9, 8.9, and Dam No. 12, 4.3. The dams are up. Rainfall over the district was too light to affect the river stages.

LADY ASTOR HAT RULE BROKEN

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Lady Astor broke a 10-year habit yesterday by appearing at the afternoon session of the House of Commons without a hat. Her hair was waved and parted in the middle.

Almost all the other women members of the House have made a practice of sitting hatless in the House in the afternoon. The only exception besides Lady Astor, hitherto, has been Lady Iveagh.

The session, the second of the present sitting of the House, brought no important subject before the members.

William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, said that Britain's arrangement with Argentina for the importation of a large quantity of agricultural produce in return for its taking industrial produce from England would not be detrimental to home producers.

He said the terms of the provisional agreement with Argentina were still under consideration.

Actress Blows Smoke at Star, Loses Job

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—On Broadway they're explaining Elizabeth Council's absence from the cast of "Scarlet Pages" in this manner.

Corrected by Elsie Ferguson, the star, for speaking her lines too quickly, the little Georgia girl slowed up at the next performance until she reached the climax of the act. Here she calmly, and with much nonchalance, blew a puff of cigaret smoke in the star's face.

The next night an understudy played Miss Council's part.

ARAB BOYCOTT STILL ON

JERUSALEM, Oct. 31. — (Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Two hundred Jewish shopkeepers of the old city submitted a memorandum to high commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, declaring that an organized Arab boycott of Jews was still going on.

Arab pickets were said to be watching the entrance of Jewish shops, destroying all goods purchased there by Arabs. The shopkeepers insist that strong measures be taken.

Marianne

It is truly an event of the Talking Screen when Marion Davies makes her first audible appearance. The celebrated comedienne who has won plaudits from press and public with her happy personality now brings that rare comic genius to the speaking films in a musical comedy romance that is altogether gay and distinguished. France after the Armistice is the setting, with dough-boys on the loose and Marion as happy-go-lucky as the best of them. A treat's in store for you!

VETS ASK MORE MEDICAL AID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—William J. Murphy, of California, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans, said that demand would be made at the regular session of Congress for a "higher class of physicians and surgeons" and a permanent medical corps in the Veterans Bureau.

"While we are pressing for more hospital facilities," Murphy's statement added, "we realize that these hospitals must be staffed and we are facing the cold fact that the average age of the doctors on the civil service lists from which the Veterans' Bureau must draw is more than 47 years.

"Our solution to meet this crisis is a medical corps on the same general basis as the medical corps of the Army and Navy and the United States public health service and we intend to press for action as soon as the regular session of Congress convenes."

Wife's Fee Claim Rejected by Court

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 31.—Holding that Mary K. Blythe, East Palestine, O., libellant in a divorce action against L. W. Blythe, was out of the court's jurisdiction to petition for counsel fees and litigation expenses, Judge Frank E. Reader dismissed the petition at the cost of Mrs. Blythe. The court said the question as to whether she had standing to continue her action in divorce would not be passed upon at this time.

Chicago Electrical Union Leader Slain

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Miles Canaven, 40, former business agent for the Electrical Workers' Union, was ambushed and slain last night by an assailant who shot him five times and then fled. Mrs. Canaven, sitting in her husband's automobile at the time of the slaying, was being questioned to ascertain, if possible, a motive for the slaying. She was able to give police little coherent information.

Strays from Home, Injured by Auto

10 MINUTE CRANBERRY SAUCE

EASY AS A·B·C

4 CUPS OF BERRIES

2 CUPS OF SUGAR

2 CUPS OF WATER

Not only the easiest sauce to make—but the most economical in cost—one pound of cranberries will make 2¼ pounds of sauce.

10 MINUTE CRANBERRY SAUCE

4 cups (1 pound or quart) cranberries, 2 cups water, 1½ to 2 cups of sugar. Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes; add cranberries and boil without stirring (5 minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins pop open. Remove from the fire when popping stops.

GUNMAN SLAYS 'SCOURGE' OF UNDERWORLD

Chicago 'King of Sicilian Extortionists' Shot Down In Father-in-Law's Store

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—(AP.) Rocco Maggio, called "The Scourge," died today from bullet wounds—one in the head, three in the back. Police said he had "gotten what was coming to him."

"King of the Sicilian Extortionists" was one of the sobriquets of this man whose death came as the climax to observance of his thirty-third birthday anniversary. He had been convicted of murder and arrested for extortion and blackmail. He was one of the most feared men in "Little Sicily."

The shooting down of Maggio amid the vegetable bins of his father-in-law's grocery last night followed by a few hours the bold assassination in another part of town of Myles Cannaven, known to police as a racketeer.

WIFES SEES SHOOTING

Cannaven was shot dead in the presence of his wife as he was starting their automobile. The assassin fired five shots and fled.

A stranger entered the little West Side grocery and inquired of the clerk if "my friend Maggio" was there. Maggio was called from a rear room. As he stepped forward, the stranger poked a pistol in Maggio's face, shouted curses at him and fired. Maggio lived several hours, but did not regain consciousness. The killer walked from the store, the smoking gun still in his hand.

Maggio had been arrested many times. So frequent were the arrests, in fact, that Maggio a few weeks ago sought an injunction to restrain police from annoying him. The injunction was refused.

SENTENCED FOR LIFE

In December, 1925, Maggio was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. The sentence later was reversed and a new trial ordered. The charge subsequently was stricken off the records, but was reinstated two months ago following many complaints that Maggio was attempting to extort money from his countrymen. He was released on bond, but rearrested on charges of assault, bigamy and extortion. In each case the charges were dropped when witnesses, fearing violence, refused to testify.

Charges of assault against Maggio two years ago were dropped when Maggio married the 14-year-old girl who brought them. The girl wife today was reported prostrated by his death.

Censor Wearied By Too Many Movies

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(INS.)—It has been seven years since Henry Goldman of Kansas City has been to a motion picture theater. He never expects to attend one although he has no dislikes to movies.

But, as motion picture censor for Kansas City for four years he feels that he has witnessed his life's quota of movies. In those four years he viewed about 60,000 reels of films.

"My eyes won't stand the strain now," he explained. "Besides, I know all the variations of the 36 dramatic situations."

CHINA REVIVES WAR TALK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Thoughts of a Chinese-Soviet war over the Chinese Eastern Railway situation were revived by the Nationalist government in a lengthy manifesto on its relations with the Soviets made public by the Chinese legation.

Charges of a "plot" against the Chinese government by the Soviets, based on alleged evidence seized in the raid on the Soviet consulate at Harbin last May and lengthy allegations against the Soviets for responsibility in the events following the taking over by the Chinese of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which have been the subject of numerous manifestos by the Nanking government, were repeated.

After reviewing the negotiations which followed the taking over of the railway, the manifesto said the Nationalists would hold the Soviets responsible for all losses and damages caused to Chinese life and property during the war-like activities of each party subsequent to the dismissal of the Soviet officials of the railway.

"And if a state of war should eventuate from the Soviet government's incessant provocation, the responsibility for violating the peace of the Far East must be borne by the Soviet government," the manifesto said.

While it has been predicted in press dispatches that the Nanking government would forward such a statement to its representatives abroad for public distribution, the manifesto came as somewhat of a surprise to officials here, who had expected that both the Chinese and Soviet governments would remain silent for a sufficient time to permit a resumption of negotiations to settle their differences.

Father of 5 Held On Bigamy Charge

Ray Henry, 30, of Jenners Crossroads, Somerset County, was held on a bigamy charge by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today.

Henry admitted marrying Anna Loch, of 4024 Oswald street, March 4, while he had an estranged wife and four children at Jenners. Wife No. 2 mother of one child to Henry, appeared against him.

BINGHAM LOBBY SLAP HELD UP BY REED

Public Apology Offer Made To Avert Drastic Censure By Senate Over Eyanson

Charles L. Eyanson, Connecticut manufacturers' agent, and also apologize for his charges that the Senate lobby investigating committee was "framed" against him. Norris indicated that if Bingham made this public apology, admitting his error in employing Eyanson, the resolution of censure would be abandoned.

The Norris resolution was couched in stinging terms. The Nebraskan gave it to newspapermen in confidence and later showed it to a number of Senators on the floor. Before he could gain recognition, however, he was approached by Senator Reed, with the compromise. They conversed earnestly on the floor for 10 minutes and then Norris left the chamber.

An apology by Bingham for his employment of Eyanson would be virtually unprecedented in Senate history. It would terminate Senate action against him undoubtedly, although it would by no means end senatorial debate about it.

GRUNDY TALK AIRED

The question of censuring Bingham would command immediate consideration whenevr Norris laid it before the Senate. It would be of the highest privilege, since it deals directly with the ethics and official conduct of a senator.

Talk reverberated through the Senate chamber meanwhile over the statements of Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania political leader and "granddaddy of all lobbyists," on the nomination of Warren G. Harding at Chicago in 1920. His declaration that the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, and not the late Senator Boies Penrose (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, initiated the final maneuver that made Harding a compromise nominee, released a wave of discussion.

DEMOCRATS JUBILANT

Democratic chieftains, however, ignored this story but rejoiced over Grundy's testimony about "backward states" in the West and his intimation that high protectionists should be empowered to write all tariff bills. He condoned the employment of Eyanson and Bingham and said Eyanson's success in getting high rates for Connecticut products was of great value to industry. The Democrats indicated they would give these utterances publicity far and wide during the next Senatorial campaign—especially Grundy's admonition to Western senators to "talk darn small" so the East can secure higher tariff rates.

When the lobby inquiry opened today, John Henry Kirby, president of the Southern Tariff Association, testified he thought Representative Garner, of Texas, the House Democratic leader, should be defeated for Congress because of his attitude toward fiscal legislation.

Caraway asked if Arnold's duty in Washington was to see members of Congress and to try to "fix up legislation."

"I think some one ought to present our views," he answered, adding that he approved Senator Bingham's action in employing Charles L. Eyanson to aid him in tariff matters.

5 Fined for Visiting Mulberry Way Place

Leon Monticon, alleged proprietor of a rooming house at 1217 Mulberry way, was fined $50 in Morals Court today. Four male visitors were given $2 fines each and a fifth $25, while three women visitors were held for investigation. A fourth woman, 16, was ordered turned over to her parents. The arrest last night followed a raid by Lieut. Harry Mellon on complaint of Mrs. Grace Mattice, of 5314 Brown's place, who complained that her husband frequented the place.

Life Periled, Wife Declares in Suit

They were married in Emsworth in 1923 and separated last year. The husband did not contest the suit.

'Not Warned,' Hit, He Sues Railroad

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad failed to give warning to "any of his five senses," John Antonic, of McKeesport, sets forth in a suit for $75,000 damages against the company in Federal Court today. He sets forth that he was struck by a passenger train November 24, 1927, at St. Clair and Jerome streets, McKeesport. He suffered loss of both legs and internal injuries, he avers.

Swarthmore Bars Physical Hazing

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Men students at Swarthmore College today voted to abolish physical hazing of freshmen. A secret ballot showed 154 against the practice to 88 in its favor. The decision does not affect freshmen rules relating to the wearing of caps and tags and other milder forms of initiation.

GIRL'S STORY IN KILLING CASE BARRED

Technicality Stops Ione Ord From 'Telling All' in Fight To Get Freedom on Bail

International News Service.

COURTEBLEAU, La., Oct. 31.—Miss Ione Ord, New York artist, was prevented today from "telling just what happened" when Jack Kraft, New York pressman, her traveling companion on a voyage from New York to New Orleans last month, was killed and thrown into the Mississippi River.

She planned to "tell everything" at a hearing here today and thereby win her release on bail as a material witness, but attorneys for John McGouldrick, second mate of the steamer Creole, charged with Kraft's murder, objected.

They charged she could not testify here since the crime occurred in another parish—Plaquemines. So Miss Ord, 25 and pretty, was returned to her cell.

Miss Ord did tell the authorities something about herself today—a subject on which she has kept silent since here arrest several weeks ago. She said her mother is Mrs. Gloria Rouzier, of New York, and works in a French designer's shop in Fifth avenue. They lived in Brooklyn and in New Rochelle, N. Y., she said.

The "mystery" girl also admitted she was married to a Michael Powell when she was 18 and that he deserted her. After the desertion she met Kraft, she said.

Greentree Warns Against Hunting Near Homes

Officer Richard Wagner, of Greentree borough, warned all hunters to keep their activities during the season a safe distance from Greentree residences.

"Shooting or hunting near Greentree homes," he stated, "is absolutely prohibited and violators of this regulation will be arrested and fined a minimum of $25."

Wagner said this did not necessarily mean the banishment of hunting from the borough, but that it was a precaution against injury to residents.

SLEUTH'S PLEA WINS LENIENCY

A plea for leniency by former City Detective Peter A. Connors, saved three South Hills "thrill bandits" from long prison terms today before Judge Harry Rowand in Criminal Court.

Acting on Connors' recommendation, the court sentenced the prisoners to the Huntingdon Reformatory.

The three, Jack Gormley, 19, of Norwick avenue; Thomas Bard, 705 Bayridge street, and Paul Frank, 18, of Beechview avenue, pleaded guilty to holding up a service station and pedestrians in the Dormont-Mt. Lebanon district during the last several months.

On June 10, last, the youths said, they held up the Gulf Refining Company service station, Pioneer and West Liberty avenues, and took $26. Gormley and Bard, they said, robbed John F. Earley, of 858 Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, of $26 as he was walking home. Bard held up W. C. Irwin, of 812 Brookline boulevard, at the point of a gun and took $20, he testified.

3 BOY BANDITS SENT TO PRISON

Three holdup men who pleaded guilty to sticking up two drug stores in the East End district were sentenced to long prison terms by Judge Harry H. Rowand today in Criminal Court.

Two of the prisoners, Louis Swiberski, 19, of 222 Forty-fourth street, and John Murawski, 20, of Broad and North Whitfield streets, were sentenced 15 to 30 years, while a third, John J. Majewski, 19, of 2327 Brereton avenue, was given 7 to 14 years in prison.

The trio pleaded guilty to holding up the Harry Magarall drug store, 914 North Negley avenue, October 8, and the store of Oscar Finkelpearl, 216 North Negley avenue, October 10.

Swiberski and Murawski also robbed Clementine Sineasta, manager of a grocery store on Braerton avenue, October 8, they said.

POISONOUS GIN FOUND IN ERIE

Traces of wood alcohol have been found in gin confiscated in Erie, O. B. Mahaffie, chief government chemist at prohibition headquarters, has informed Administrator John D. Pennington.

The gin was seized September 16 in a raid on a club at 1802 Peach street, Erie, according to Mahaffie's report. Each of four samples showed presence of the poison.

This is the first time Mahaffie has detected wood alcohol in seized liquor since he came here a year and a half ago, he reported. Blindness would result if sufficient quantity of the gin was drunk, he said. William Kusel was arrested in connection with the raid.

Man Leaves $200 To Care for Pet Dog

Monoxide Kills Man In Downtown Hotel

Employes in a hotel at 323 Penn avenue found W. D. Desmond, 60, whose home was said to be in Canonsburg, dead in his room today. Police removed the body to the Morgue, where death was said to have been caused by carbon monoxide poisoning. Police said a gas stove was burning in the room.

RUSSIA DOOMS 12 MORE

MOSCOW, Oct. 31.—(A.P.)—According to dispatches of the Tass News Agency, 12 Russians were condemned to death yesterday in various parts of the country for crimes that ranged from murder and arson to anti-Soviet agitation. They included two priests, one Mullah and four rich peasants.

VETERAN RAIL MAN RETIRES

After 51 years of continuous passenger service with the Pennsylvania Railroad, John R. Dinges, Sr., of Greensburg, will make his last trip this afternoon. He will leave the Pennsylvania Station at 5:30 tonight to Saltsburg, and return to Pittsburgh with the Saltsburg-Export local at 7:05 a. m. tomorrow. Thousands of commuters will miss his familiar figure tomorrow.

J. R. Dinges, Sr.

Mr. Dinges entered the service in 1878 as a brakeman on the Pittsburgh Division. He was appointed by his uncle, the late Robert Pitcairn, then superintendent of the Pittsburgh Division, and a close associate of the late Andrew Carnegie. In 1881 he was promoted to passenger conductor, and has worked on every run on the Pittsburgh Division. Mr. Dinges was very active in relief work during the Johnstown flood. He was in charge of the Johnstown local for many years.

Born in Altoona, Mr. Dinges had lived in Pittsburgh practically all his life. For the past two years he had made his home at 429 Harrison avenue, Greensburg.

German Light Plane Flier on Final Trip

BEDFAST FOR 6 WEEKS; KONJOLA BROUGHT HEALTH

Complication Caused Intense Suffering; But Pittsburgh Man Now Is Back at His Work

"Konjola put me back on the job." Time and again this happy statement has been made by former sufferers who found relief and new health through this new and different medicine. Think of the thousands of dollars saved for wage earners and business men and women of America by this new medicine's amazing victories over stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles; rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness! Call upon a Konjola Man, one is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and the other is at Dow's Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh. Get the facts about this modern compound that has become the most talked-of medicine in the nation. The fame Konjola enjoys is based not upon theory or speculation, but upon the bedrock foundation of verified results; such results as are described in the following statement recently made to the Konjola Man by Mr. Joseph Norton, 10 North Diamond Street, N. S., Pittsburgh:

MR. JOSEPH NORTON

"I feel it is my duty to tell what Konjola did for me, for the benefit of others who may be suffering as I did. I was afflicted for two years with stomach and kidney trouble, neuritis, and nervousness, and my suffering was terrible. I was unable to eat enough food to gain strength and carry on my work. When I did eat I suffered for hours afterward, and a nervous condition resulted. My kidneys were in a very bad condition, and at nights I would have to get up one time after another. A satisfactory night's sleep was out of the question. Then neuritis appeared, affecting my ankles, hands and wrists. My ankles became so swollen and sore that I could not walk. My wrists and hands were in such bad condition that I could not dress myself. Finally I was forced to remain in bed, where I lay for six weeks.

"It was Konjola that got me out of bed and gave me the health I enjoy today. A friend advised me to try this medicine, and it soon showed results. I kept on until I had taken seven bottles, and by that time I was again on the job, working every day. I feel like a different man; eat anything I desire, and sleep soundly all night long. Neuritis is entirely gone. No wonder I am enthusiastic about this wonderful medicine."

A typical example of Konjola in action! A sincere tribute to a medicine of merit! All Konjola asks is a chance to make you well.

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and at Dow's Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where daily they are meeting the public, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is sold also at all Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

SELF-DEFENSE RAIDER'S PLEA

CHANDLER, Okla., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Jeff Harris, specially deputized dry raider, being tried here for the murder last July 4 of James C. Harris and the latter's brother-in-law, Oscar Lowery, testified that he was struck in the face by buckshot from a shotgun thrust from the farm home of the victims before he fired upon them. The two farmers were fatally wounded on the James Harris farm, near Tecumseh, when Jeff Harris searched the premises for liquor. No liquor was found.

The defendant testified in his own behalf and in contradiction of Mrs. James C. Harris, who had testified for the state that he had informed the farmers that he was an officer when he went to the farm. Mrs. Harris testified that her husband and Lowery mistook the officer for a dangerous intruder.

Lowery, in a death-bed statement, which was introduced by the defense, also asserted that he did not know that Harris was an officer. He was walking away from the house, unarmed, Lowery dictated from his hospital bed, when Harris emerged from the house and shot him.

Grape Juice Head Held Under Bail

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—William Davis, president of the Colony Vintages Company, of St. Louis, furnished $1,000 bond yesterday for his appearance in Federal Court to face a charge of sale and possession of intoxicating liquor. He was arrested after federal prohibition agents raided the company's establishment and seized a quantity of grape juice which they said had developed a "kick."

PANTAGES PLEA DELAY ASKED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—When Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman, appears in court tomorrow for sentence, his attorneys have indicated they will ask a week's delay in making arguments for a new trial on the grounds that they have had insufficient time.

Also it was indicated an attempt will be made to obtain Pantages' freedom on bail.

Since his conviction of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, Pantages has been held in the county jail, with the exception of a few hours when he was allowed to visit his sick wife.

Meanhile, with the filing of a $250,000 suit by Frederick T. Wise, a prosecution witness during the trial, more trouble was in the offing for the elderly millionaire. Wise charges Pantages falsely accused him of being a party to a "blackmail plot."

That this was just the beginning of the filing of similar suits, was presaged by the announcement of Attorney S. S. Hahn, who declared he would file a $500,000 suit on behalf of another client and other suits "for large sums" for three other unnamed witnesses.

Slugged by Drys, Charges Quashed

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—A story of how he was pulled by prohibition agents from a truck load of eggs he was putting in his garage, struck as he called for police, choked and beaten was told today by Joseph W. Spikloser through his Attorney John Philip Hill. Spikloser, charged with assaulting a federal officer in the performance of his duty, was arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Frank Supplee and dismissed on motion of the government. Mr. Hill said he would insitute suits for civil damages against the agents involved.

Deputy Shoots Man In Kentucky Raid

HICKMAN, Ky., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Earl Henson, 40, was shot and seriously wounded by Deputy Sheriff Joe Walls yesterday in a liquor raid on Henson's home on the farm of Tobe Jackson, Fulton County, six miles from here. The party of four officers came upon Henson and John Evans, they said, at two stills. Henson, the officers said, drew his gun, but Walls shot him before he could pull the trigger. He was brought to a hospital here.

BOOTHS IN CAFE HIT BY COURT

The Ritz Restaurant, 1602 Walnut street, Erie, closed with government "padlocks," can be reopened if the owner of the property, Christina C. Mazzeo, removes gates or doors from dining booths on the second floor, and complies with other stipulations demanded by the Federal Court. Because of violations of the prohibition law on the premises, the restaurant was closed under a writ of injunction on August 20.

In modifying the injunction, Judge F. P. Schoonmaker ruled that the owner must provide a $1,000 bond against further violations of the liquor law, and can lease the property to A. J. Phillips, a prospective tenant, providing he keeps the restaurant closed from midnight to 6 a. m.

Turner Funeral.

Funeral services for William Turner, of Pittsburgh, who died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Bessie Turner, 408 West Main street, Grove City, yesterday were held today at Grove City. Interment will be in Grove City Cemetery. He was graduated from Washington and Jefferson College in 1919 and was prominent in athletics. He was employed by the Duquesne Light Company, Pittsburgh. Prior to this he was associated with his father in a coal brokerage business in Grove City. He leaves his mother, his wife, Mrs. Margaret M. Turner, Pittsburgh; daughter, Dorothy; two sisters, Miss Rachael Turner, Bloomsburg and Mrs. Elizabeth McCrea, Grove City, and two brothers, Lambert Turner, Pittsburgh and Alfred Turner, Grove City.

Mrs. Jane G. Fowkes.

Mrs. Jane Greages Fowkes, 79, widow of David Fowkes, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Brownsville Cemetery, following services in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur de Tal, 326 Broad avenue, Bellevernon. Mrs. Fowkes was born in Pittsburgh, the daughter of the late Cartwright and Caroline Bradbury Greages. She had resided in Brownsville for many years. She leaves a son, G. L. Fowkes; four daughters, Mrs. Adelaide Prince, Mrs. Robert Framm, Mrs. L. Ballinger, and Mrs. de Tal; a sister, Miss Pola Greages, of Philadelphia, and a brother, Franklin M. Greages.

Morgan Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Morgan, 83, former resident of Pittsburgh, who died at the home of a son in Los Angeles last Friday, were to be held today from the W. H. Wood funeral home, Forbes street and McKee place. She was the widow of the Rev. Richard C. Morgan. She leaves four sons, Owen, of Pittsburgh; Charles, of Rock Island, Ills.; Edward and Arthur Morgan, of Los Angeles, and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Heitrick, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Pettinger, of Los Angeles.

John Berg.

John Berg, 69, died yesterday at his home, 2308 Allendale street, Sheraden. He was connected with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad 40 years. He was a member of the Sheraden Methodist Episcopal Church, McCandless Lodge No. 390, F. & A. M.; Pennsylvania Consistory, Syria Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Besides his widow he leaves a son, Howard; a stepdaughter, Mrs. J. J. Schaffer, and three brothers.

Mrs. Rebecca Sterling.

MASONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Rebecca P. Sterling, 80, widow of C. C. Sterling and mother of Bruce F. Sterling, former congressman from this district, died at her home here yesterday. She had been confined to her bed for five weeks. In addition to Bruce F. Sterling, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Claude D. Anderson, of Pittsburgh.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Waste Paper Sold To Boost Fund At School

A campaign to raise $1,000 by sale of waste paper is on this week at Perry High School under the direction of Miss Mary L. Kenwill, in charge of extra-curricular activities.

The money will go into funds for student aid and the athletic association. The committee includes Walter Volkwein, Jane Weitzel, Walter Eifler, Erwin Roberts, Henry Fetzer and Oliver Stevenson.

MICHAELSON'S CASE DROPPED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Further action will not be taken against Representative M. Alfred Michaelson (Rep.), of Illinois, in connection with charges he brought liquor into the port of Key West, nearly a year ago, it was announced late today by the Department of Justice.

Michaelson was tried and acquitted by a federal jury at Jacksonville, about six months ago when his brother-in-law, Walter Gramm, a Chicago coal dealer, testified he had arranged for bringing the liquor into the States in Michaelson's trunks. Gramm a few weeks ago pleaded guilty to the charge originally made against Michaelson. He was fined $1,000.

At the time of the Gramm hearing, Department of Justice officials said today, the entire case was again studied, and following Gramm's plea of guilty and sentence it was decided to drop the Michaelson matter.

MEXICAN'S HALT U. S. GIRL'S CASE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The trial of Miss Bernice Rush, American girl, who formerly lived at Louisville, Ky., for the murder of her alleged sweetheart, Jenaro Benevente, last December 24, was abruptly halted when the presiding judge granted defense counsel's request that two missing witnesses be summoned.

Miss Rush is the first American woman to be tried before a Mexican court on charges of murder. A throng of curious spectators, mostly men, packed the small courtroom when the case was called. There was only one American there in addition to Miss Rush. This was an American newspaperman.

The prosecution vigorously opposed the motion for postponement, but was overruled by the judge. No date was set for renewal of the trial, the suspension being "until the two missing witnesses can be procured."

Miss Rush, a former modiste, entered the courtroom supperbly gowned and perfectly poised. Defense counsel has indicated she will plead self defense, claiming she shot and killed Benevente when he attacked and beat her on the street after she had demanded that he return a sum of 10,000 pesos which she had lent him.

Youth Mourned As Dead Held In Robbery

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—John Hammond, 19, who turned up at his home here last week after having been mourned as dead for several months, was arrested for Clay County authorities, charged with attempting to burglarize a filling station. He was committed to jail to await the arrival of Clay County authorities. Two other youths were arrested at the time of the alleged robbery attempt. Hammond surprised his mother here last week by walking into her home several months after she had identified and buried the body of another youth at Portsmouth, O., as that of her son.

PLAN MEMORIAL FOR METCALF

Memorial services for the late William Metcalf, for many years senior warden of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Forbes street, and Craft avenue, will be observed tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the church with the diocesan bishop participating.

The service will also be a homecoming for all old-time St. Peter's Church members, on the eve of All Saints' Day, November 1. The offering will be for the benefit of St. Margaret's Hospital. All friends of the parish are extended a cordial invitation to be present.

Flees Morganza, Attempts Suicide

OIL CITY, Pa., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Fred Hazlett, 18, of Oil City, who was arrested here as a fugitive from Morganza, reform school, was in a hospital as the result of an alleged attempt at suicide in the Oil City jail. He was placed in jail at 4 o'clock yesterday noon and at 6:30 was found in a gas filled cell with his face and neck cut with a broken milk bottle and his mouth fouil of powered glass. X-Ray examination revealed none of the glass had been swallowed.

DANGER LIES IN BULKLESS DIETS

Eat ALL-BRAN and Prevent Constipation

Thousands of people wonder why they are suffering when they try to be so careful regarding their diet. They have headaches, bad complexions and are unhappy because their old-time strength and vigor are gone.

Constipation is often the cause of this bad health. And lack of bulk in the diet is usually the cause of constipation. Roughage is needed daily to sweep the system clean of poisonous wastes. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply this roughage.

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. It is guaranteed to bring relief — to prevent constipation.

Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Delicious in flavor. Add it to your muffins and other hot breads. Try the recipes on the package. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100% bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Sold by all grocers.

3 SHOT, POSSE HUNTS CONVICT

ERWIN, Tenn., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—A deputy sheriff was wounded seriously and two sheriffs were shot from ambush near here. Sheriffs' forces of three counties searched for Cass Atkins, escaped convict, believing he fired the shots.

W. M. Barnett, Unicoi County deputy, was shot and is in a critical condition. Sheriff Sam Coin, of Unicoi County, and Sheriff J. G. Worley, of Washington County, were wounded by a single bullet while seeking his assailant. Both were expected to recover.

Washington and Unicoi County officers were joined by Sheriff J. M. Moreland, of Carter County, who hurried here with several deputies and a machine gun.

Atkins, sentenced for wounding a Unicoi deputy last year, escaped from the Brush Mountain Penitentiary about three months ago.

Man and Son Held In Murder of Two

WINFIELD, Kan., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Warrants charging John Phelan Jones, of Augusta, Kan., and Harry G. Jones, of McCamey, Tex., with the murders of Carl Jones, 37, and his 24-year-old stepdaughter, Elizabeth Walworth, were issued by County Attorney E. E. Bloomer. Jones and his stepdaughter were murdered Saturday night at their lonely farm home northwest of Kansas City.

Harry Jones, who is a brother of the slain man, was arrested in the Texas town. John Phelan Jones, the father, is held in jail here.

THEATERS FIGHT U. S. FILM RULE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Independent motion picture theater owners meeting in annual convention here voted disapproval of proposed federal control of the cinema industry, as provided for in the Brookhart bill pending in Congress. The gathering cheered an announcement that more than 3,800 contract between film producing companies and the smaller theater owners had been rewritten by producers with a saving to the "little fellows" among exhibitors of approximately $1,300,000.

The Motion Picture Theater Owners of America also nominated officers and heard an address branding film censorship as "silly."

CENSORSHIP HIT

The address dealing with film censorship was to have been read at the convention banquet by Tom Mix, cowboy actor, but doctors' orders, due to an injury to his shoulder, kept Mix from coming to Memphis. In his absence, the address was read by C. C. Pettijohn, general counsel for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors.

"Censorship of any form of human expression is silly and ridiculous and absolutely devoid of any acomplishment of result," he said.

M. A. Lightman, of Memphis and Little Rock, Ark., was nominated for the presidency of the association.

The resolution opposing the Brookhart bill also condemned any legislation, federal, state or municipal, "seeking to interfere with this business."

CONTRACTS REVISED

It was contended that the Brookhart measure would put not only the "block booking" but the entire system of merchandising films and fixing rental prices under federal control.

Announcement that the producers had rewritten nearly 4,000 existing contract as an aid to the small theater owner in solving his financial and other problems was made in a statement prepared by Sidney R. Kent, chairman of a committee of producers, with which Mr. Lightman, acting as president of the theater owners, conferred last August.

THEATER MANAGERS SMILING; ACTORS' JUMBLED TALK; IDA SIMONTON HOME

By GEORGE SEIBEL

FOR the first time this season the Pittsburgh theaters are all doing a big business, and the reason for this is not at all mysterious. The Nixon has the organized audience of the Theater Guild and the great drawing power of Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne to pack them in. In the Alvin is a very popular comedian and one of the seductive sirens of the films in a musical show full of girls and laughs—so the Alvin is packing them in. At the Pitt the well-balanced stock company has a new leading man, Harland Tucker, who became popular at once, in a play that's among the cleverest of recent imported and approved comedies—so the Pitt is packing them in.

George Seibel

Give the people what they want, and don't put the price too high, and neither the automobile, nor the radio, nor the talkies, nor the stock ticker will keep them out of the theater.

"Do the people know what they want?" some manager, soured by a series of bad guesses, is likely to ask.

Far better than the average manager knows. At any rate, they do know what they don't want.

We have had too much Noise. We have had too much Sex. We have had too much Art. A little thought, truth, and life are the antidotes to these overdoses.

Like a Real Quarrel

Perhaps you have been amazed by the realism of some of the quarrel scenes in "Caprice" this week. Three or four players are talking at once, without waiting for cues or caring whether the audience hears their lines or not.

It is not a new device of stage direction. I first saw Ermete Novallo's Italian company resorting to it in a comedy of Goldoni's. That was 20 years ago. On the European stage they do it continually. It gives a wonderful illusion of actuality and movement.

Of course, the dramatist and the stage manager must know what they are about. It will not do to let any important lines get lost or drowned in such a scrimmage or torrent of tongues. But half a dozen people could be swearing at once, for example, and what they are saying doesn't really matter.

In life, you know, people do not wait calmly until it is their cue to speak. They do not always answer immediately when some one else has spoken. Stage directors forget this—and many scenes that run too smoothly, as if a clock were ticking, so lose the illusion of reality.

One of Our Girls

A Pittsburgh girl who leaped into fame and fortune by having her book, "Hell's Playground," used for the play, "White Cargo," has returned to America after four years spent in leisurely cruising around the world. Ida Vera Simonton was among the passengers landing from the Leviathan the other day. She has a new book which will be published this winter or early in the spring.

Vera Simonton, born in Lawrenceville, now geographically a part of the Strip, has been everywhere during these last four years. Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Honolulu, Shanghai, Lahore, Constantinople, Paris, Venice, Berlin, Moscow and London were a few of her way stations.

Now that she is again on American soil, she will no doubt begin to talk about Mussolini and the Soviets. Keeping quiet doesn't agree with her since she spent two years in tropical Africa with only Prof. Garner's apes to talk to.

New Boss

Here is Nat Nazarro, Jr., new boss of the Penn stage shows. He has succeeded Teddy Joyce as master of ceremonies.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31.

AFTER 12 years, during which time neither had written or seen each other, Jim Corbett and Farrell MacDonald exchanged salutations on the Fox lot.

"Say," Corbett recollected, "You promised me a dog."

MacDonald said he remembered the 12-year-old promise and made good. The dog, described as of Mosiaic breed, arrived at Corbett's hotel. Not only was its appearance sufficiently eccentric to arouse suspicion, but likewise its manners. Corbett, however, had faith.

Farrell M'Donald

He left the critter in his room while he dined with friends. What he saw upon returning is a scene that an invading army might be proud of. Jim gave the dog away. When he figures out exactly why MacDonald laughed upon learning the morbid details, he may reassert his fisticuff prowess. . . .

Cecil DeMille doesnt cherish the popular superstition that peacocks are bad luck. On his Paradise ranch he has a swarm of 1,000 strutters. Moreover, he has purchased 700 more, which are en route to him now from sundry parts of the world. Making his the largest private peacock farm, at least, in the country. Didst know the reason why peacocks are reckoned to be bad luck is that the spots on the feathers look like eyes.. Um, the evil eye.

. . . Maurice Chevalier and Evelyn Brent are doing a turn of sorts together for the Paramount revue, direction Ernest Lubitsch. Chevalier returns to New York after its completion to make his next talky at the Eastern studio . . . The local Chamber of Commerce is itself again. The weather is behaving itself properly. But will somebody tell the palm trees that it's fall? . . . and — that's all.

Claire, Esther Try Vaudeville

SATURDAY Claire Windsor begins a voodvil tour in Providence, R. I. On the same day, Esther Ralston starts hers, in Los Angeles. Claire has with her the Guatamala (spelling challenged!) orchestra that Mae Murray carried in her act. Yep, the flick-ites do turn to the two-a-day when the w. k. contracts don't pop satisfactorily.

Claire Windsor

Moans and groans. The plunging stock market has wiped out many a margin investor in the colony. Coffee and sinkers will be swank yet . . .

Fred Karno, the English pantomime producer, is meeting quite a few of his prodigies on the Hal Roach lot. It was Karno—you may be weary of reading about this by now—who brought Charlie Chaplin to this country in 1910. Stan Laurel was Chaplin's understudy.

On the Roach lot 'tother day, Karno was crossing from thither to hither when a vaguely familiar voice hailed: "I say, Guy'nor, welcome to our city." The voice belonged to Charles Rogers, Harry Langdon's director. A little English chap who also began his career with Karno. Listens like old home week in Culver City.

Picture Request Thrills Benny

JACK BENNY—he's a M.G.M. comedian—received a fan letter. He was set up.

"Do I feel like a regular movie actor!" beamed Benny. "A perfect stranger wants my picture, something my own family wouldn't have in the house.

Evelyn Brent

When Sir Winston Churchill visited the colony, he was guest of honor at a studio luncheon. Hedda Hopper was among the guests. The famous Britisher asked Hedda what type roles she preferred. "Scphisticated mamas!" bubbled Hedda.

Screenalities: Just as a passing item: J. Harold McCormick, who flick debuted in "Married in Hollywood," receives $5,500 a week . . . Florence Strauss, former First National scenario head, has joined with the Fox forces and will continue her story draft to the movies

Danceland to Have Halloween Program

DAIRY MAID BREAD
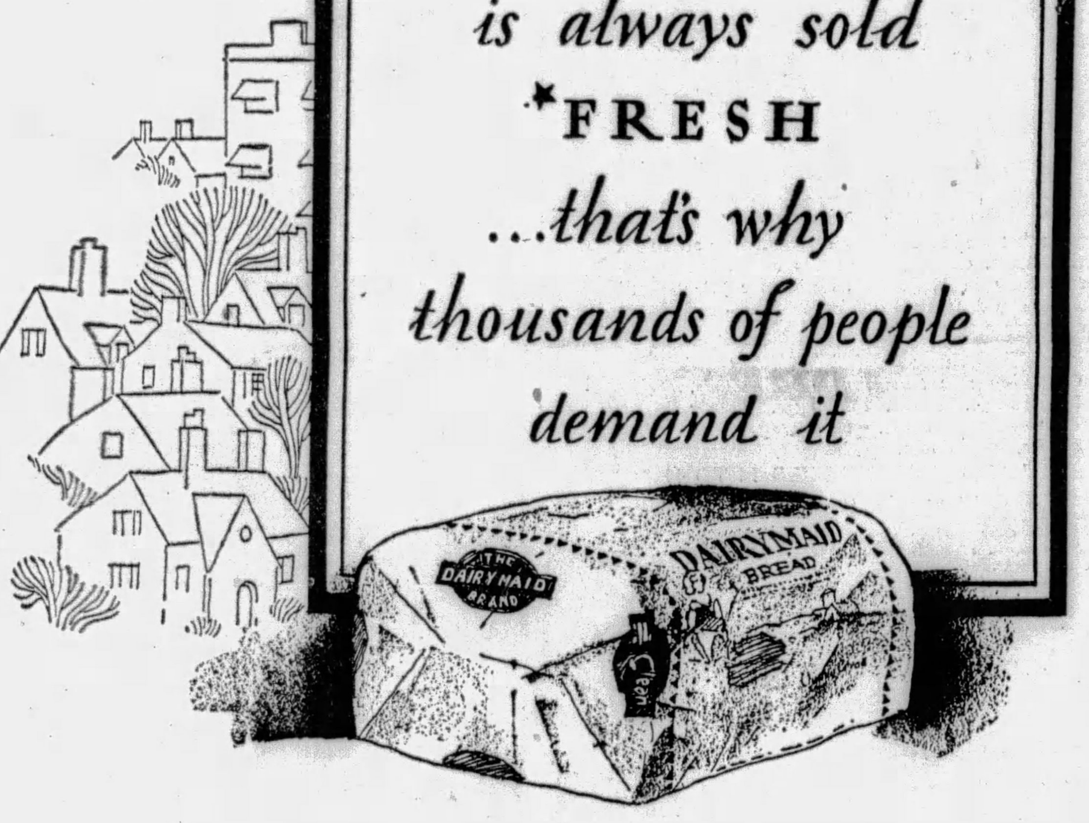
*FRESH
...that's why thousands of people demand it



Thousands of women every day demand Dairy Maid Bread for their households. Of course, they want pure, wholesome ingredients in their daily loaf, and they get them. Equally important—they want freshness,—and they never get today's Dairy Maid Bread tomorrow, without knowing it before they buy.

Dairy Maid Bread is a rich tasty loaf—sweet, light and fresh. It is made to an unvarying standard of bread quality in A&P Bakeries dotted throughout the country. It contains an abundance of milk, pure shortening and cane sugar. It has a delicious thin golden brown crust that helps it to please the palate of particular people everywhere.

Dairy Maid Bread hasn't far to travel from the bakery to your A&P Store. It reaches the store in its clean wax paper wrapper with its oven-warm freshness intact. A few minutes later this same fresh loaf rests in your market basket. Made in a popular twin loaf, Dairy Maid Bread proves to be a generous value for the housewife.

The A&P Bread family is a complete family. There is Grandmother's Bread with its even texture and medium crust; Home Made loaf, Vienna loaf and Rye bread, all with heavy crusts; Wholewheat Bread and White Raisin Bread for raisin lovers.

The A&P Time-Control Plan provides definite proof of A&P Bread freshness. By speeding the bread from the ovens to the stores, the initial freshness of the loaf is intact when it reaches your market basket.

NEW COMEDY COMING TO ALVIN

Seats go on sale at the box office of the Shubert Alvin today for the one-week engagement, commencing Monday night, of the comedy hit, "Little Accidents." Thomas Mitchell and Broadway cast will be seen in the production.

Seats go on sale at the box office of the Nixon today for Herman Gantvoort's musical romance, "The Silver Swan." Among the principals are Myrtle Clark, prima donna; Lina Abarbanell, Edward Nell, Jr., Vivian Hart, Florenz Ames, Robert G. Pitkin, Laine Blaire, Nixon Bunyea, Harry Miller and Fawn and Jardon.

Manager George Sharp will present next week in the Shubert Pitt "Why Girls Leave Home," a melodrama drawn over two decades ago. It is full of startling surprises and beautiful dramatic situations and is one that should be entertaining in these days of jazz music and night clubs, it is pointed out.

POWELL DOWNTOWN

Colleen Moore is supported by Frederic Marc, Virginia Lee Corbin and Raymond Hackett in her latest all-talking production, "Footlights and Fools," which opens in the Stanley tomorrow. On the stage Dick Powell will bow to Stanley audiences with "Hello Downtown."

Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, who wrote the song hits for "Broadway Melody" and the "Singing in the Rain" number in "The Hollywood Revue," add a new hit to their record in "Marianne," Marion Davies' first talking feature which comes to the Penn, Monday. The new Brown-Freed number is "Blondy" and was written especially for Miss Davies.

"The Forward Pass," the latest all-talking production, featuring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Loretta Young, comes to the Enright Saturday. On the stage Jay Mills, the new master of ceremonies will present "Varieties."

TALK ABOUT STEPS!

One of the girls of the dancing chorus of "The Hollywood Revue," which begins a second week in the Aldine Monday, estimates that she took more than 15,000 steps in the course of one day's rehearsal for one number of the revue. As there are 72 girls and boys in the chorus, the number of steps they took that day total 1,080,000—or more.

"Why Bring That Up," the first all-talking moving picture of Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, opened a second week in the Grand today.

"Broadway Scandals," starring Sally O'Neill, will open on the screens of the Harris and Sheridan Square on Saturday. A new stage show will be presented in both theaters.

QUIZ OFFICIALS ON RUM SALE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—A federal grand jury inquiry into the alleged activities of a bootlegger during a recent convention at San Diego, Cal., involving two public officials and a number of residents there, was begun here.

Mayor Harry Clark and Chief of Police A. R. Hill were summoned by the inquisitorial body along with several other citizens of San Diego. Their connection with the investigation was not disclosed.

Federal agents admitted, however, that the action resulted from the arrest of Charles Mulock, an alleged bootlegger, of San Diego.

Mulock, government evidence disclosed, was believed to have been given exclusive rights to sell liquor to persons attending the convention. Under "influence" of the organization members, agents claimed liquor was brought to San Diego in a bold manner and stored in a downtown building.

Federal agents refused to disclose additional information and said the names of other witnesses appearing before the grand jury would not be made known until final action on the evidence had been taken.

Assistant United States Attorney Gwynn Redwine, in charge of the grand jury's investigation, said it probably would be several days before the result of the inquiry would be made known.

At San Diego, arrangements were being made to bring Mulock to Los Angeles. Mulock was arrested September 29 on a charge of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

Mulock was questioned for four hours at San Diego by Special Agent Frank Goodsell, who did not reveal details of the questioning.

Flying Tackle Downs Suspect In Robbery

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Ike Marcus, 22-year-old clothing salesman, was being praised today for the flying tackle that downed an alleged purse snatcher.

Hearing a woman, Mrs. Annie Anderson, shout, "He stole my pocketbook!" Marcus did a short, snappy dash and felled Kenneth Brown from behind. He ended an ensuing argument by rapping Brown's head on a convenient automobile, and held him for the police.

The purse contained $200.

HOME MARKETS ENCOURAGED

A preliminnry report issued today by the Industrial Expansion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce tells of efforts to induce Pittsburghers to buy from Pittsburgh manufacturers products that many have been purchasing elsewhere because of not being aware that they are produced here.

That the city may gain in small diversified industries—one of the five major objectives in the chamber's program for the year—the committee is encouraging plants with adequate equipment to add to the variety of their products.

Increase in plant capacity is also being sought, and an effort is being made to secure suitable locations for factories cramped in their present sites. The Pittsburgh Real Estate Board is co-operating.

REPORTS RECEIVED

Reports have already been received from 265 of 427 industrial establishments that were asked to contribute data for the study. The committee says:

"It was disclosed in recording the products manufactured by the respective plants submitting the requested information that industrial directories in constant use, both locally and nationally, do not have a considerable number of their products listed. Consequently, the co-operation of a local directory in this field was secured and these additional listings are to be printed in future directory issues, thus bringing to the attention of buyers all the available local sources of products in which they are interested. National industrial directories, in turn, will be given similar data that they, too, may list these additional Pittsburgh products.

MATERIALS LISTED

"A list of the principal materials and parts purchased by these industries outside of the Pittsburgh district has been tabulated. While many of these products are available from local sources of manufacture in the Pittsburgh district, it is apparent that the products of many local concerns are not known to these purchasers. Consequently, a complete directory of local plants is in the process of compilation by the industry division of the chamber, that all manufacturers may be acquainted with the products of the manufacturing establishments in the Pittsburgh district.

"As a matter of extreme interest to local business, only 8.9 per cent of the reporting firms denote a decrease in their business, whereas 51.6 per cent show that their business is increasing and the remaining 39.5 per cent show steady business operations. These figures are a valuable index to the prosperity and present growth of operation of the smaller diversified manufacturing establishments in the Pittsburgh district."

INDIA DOMINION MEET SLATED

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Viceroy Lord Irwin was said to intend to issue a proclamation on November 1 which will deal with the question of dominion status for India and announce the summoning of a conference in London to discuss the future constitutional development of India.

It is assumed that pending the decision of the British government with regard to recommendations that may be made by the Simon Commission, the proclamation will make no distinct promise that will indicate the tendency of the policy of Great Britain.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The India office made public official correspondence which indicated a conference would be held in London early next year to determine the relations between British India and the native states.

Halloween Party Held at Downtown Y

The annual Halloween frolic of girls from the Chatham Street Y. W. C. A. and dormitory men of the Downtown Y. M. C. A., was held last night in the auditorium of the Wood street building.

Scores of couples in costumes that represented every known race, and some unknown, passed in review in the grand march. Prizes for the most original garb were awarded to Miss Agnes Watson, glorified "Sis Hopkins;" Mrs. E. W. Gaylord, "Negro Bride;" Alexander Duncan, "Pirate," and William Davison, "Negro Hobo."

Children Get Estate After Father's Death

The will of Mrs. Anna M. Schmid, Crafton Heights, filed for probate today, disposes of an estate estimated at $25,000. Her husband, William G. Schmid, is to occupy the family residence as long as he desires. It is then to be sold and the proceeds, along with the remainder of the estate, go to their four children, William G., Jr., Walter W., Freda I. and Edith M. Schmid. The last three named are executors.

Ford to Set Up Lumber Camp Of '70's

JOHANNESBURG, Mich., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The entire equipment of an old-time lumber camp in Otsego County, such as flourished in Michigan during the seventies has been purchased by Henry Ford for his early American museum at Dearborn.

The equipment includes bunks, blankets, ox yokes, big wheels, chains, spike skids, draws, sleighs, saws, axes, markers, grub hooks, loader crotch, comealongs, skidding tongs and other pieces of equipment whose usefulness has long since passed away.

Even the kitchen sink, towel rollers, dinner horns and water jugs will be transported to Dearborn to be set up there.

PEBECO'S TANG HAS A MEANING!

If you buy a tooth paste simply to polish your teeth, taste pleasantly, you deceive only yourself. You are getting cheated. PEBECO Tooth Paste offers triple value. It cleans. It whitens. It checks "acid-mouth", forerunner of tooth decay. Pebeco is not a candy; it is a dentifrice. Use it persistently for at least a week. Then you'll note the difference and like its sharp tang.

"BARS OF MELTING MELODY" delight VINCENT LOPEZ

LOPEZ SPEAKING: "Hello Everybody"

TEMPTING as a jazz tune—smooth as the petals of a rose, the marvelous flavor of Nestlé's milk chocolate is a rhapsody in deliciousness.

Eat Nestlé's today and enjoy the delicious flavor of this chocolate bar that is "richest in cream". Red-lettered wrapper for plain bars... blue-lettered for toasted almond bars. In 5¢ and 10¢ sizes.

UMPIRE OF WAR CLAIMS DIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Edwin B. Parker, who long had worked to settle the claims for damages by citizens of the United States, Germany, Austria and Hungary as a result of the war, died after a lingering illness.

Born September 7, 1868, in Shelby County, Mo., Judge Parker was graduated from the University of Texas in 1889 and made his home in that state until the past few years which he spent in Washington. He practiced law in Houston over a long period and during the war began the work which was to occupy him until his death.

He first served as chairman of the United States liquidation commission, settling claims of the allies against the United States for war materials.

For this the United States gave him the distinguished service medal; France made him an officer of the Legion of Honor and Poland, Belgium and Italy also decorated him. A further recognition of his work was seen when the mixed claims commission was set up in 1922 to settle claims for damages by American citizens and the government for $1,479,000,000 and Judge Parker was named umpire. He was then chosen by the United States and Austria and Hungary to be the sole commissioner to adjudicate war claims between them and in 1928 Congress made him sole arbiter of the German claims against this country.

The claims that came to his attention were those growing out of the sinking of the Louisitiana.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Blunt Parker, daughter of the late Gen. James G. Blunt.

Section Hand Wins $79,399.50 on Horse Race

QUEBEC, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—George Kowalchuk, of Hackett, Alberta, and James Westcott, of Springvale, Mass., won the first two prizes, each amounting to $79,399.50, in the Army and Navy Veterans' Sweepstake on the Cambridgeshire race at New Market, England. The sweep was arranged so that each horse was drawn by two ticket-holders.

Second place went to C. A. Viger, of St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, and Harry Evanson, of New York, who each won $26,466.50 by drawing Vatout. Third money was won by E. H. Cail, Winnipeg, Man., and Charles Buzzell, Methuen, Mass., both of whom received $13,233.25 for drawing the horse Palais Royal.

Kowalchuk, a section gang worker on the Canadian National Railways line at Hackett, Alta., heard the news in a bed. He injured a foot two weeks ago. He lives in a small shack.

REBEL VET, 87, WEDS GIRL, 17

SAMSON, Ala., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Capt. J. R. S. Spurlin, 87-year-old commander of the Samson Camp of Confederate Veterans, and the 17-year-old granddaughter of his former housekeeper, were married Sunday afternoon, it was learned yesterday.

The veteran's wife died six months ago. Upon her death the then Miss Emma Johnson and her grandmother came to live in his home, the grandmother as housekeeper.

Recently the grandmother became too feeble to carry on the work and returned to her home. Capt. Spurlin has 14 children.

Pastor Accepts Call To New Philadelphia

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Oct. 31.—The Rev. Tillman W. Hoernemann, pastor of the Lima Reformed Church, has accepted the call to the pulpit of the First Reformed Church here. The pulpit has been vacant since last May 31, following the resignation of the Rev. Wallace W. Foust, now pastor of the Xenia Reformed Church. The Rev. ...a 4 quart aluminum cooking pot for only 18 EVERY-DAY MILK LABELS [TALL SIZE]

ALL OVER Pittsburgh women are talking about this remarkable offer. Hundreds already have taken advantage of it and are delightedly showing their friends their shiny-new 4-quart aluminum pots. "Just what I wanted!" they are saying. "Such a convenient size. And look at the quality. So heavy and substantial it will wear for years."

Don't you want one of these fine aluminun cooking pots, too? Leading grocers are displaying it in their windows. Why not stop in and see it today? And remember, it's yours for only 18 tall size Every Day Milk labels or 36 small size labels. And after you get this premium, there are any number of other splendid ones—pretty dishes, silver, glassware, kitchenware, jewelry, toilet sets, table linens, toys for the children.

But even if you got no premiums at all for the labels, you'd be glad to use Every Day (Evaporated) Milk anyway. For it's such good milk—it has such a delicious, creamy, natural flavor.

You'll love it in coffee. It gives all the richness of cream — at less than half the cost. Try it for cooking, too, whenever your recipe calls for milk. Improves the flavor—gives a smoother, richer, creamier texture. For even when diluted one half with water, Every Day is still richer than ordinary fluid milk.

And it's absolutely safe. Sealed and sterilized in airtight containers, no germ can touch it. It reaches you always pure and sweet. Order Every Day Milk from your grocer today.

Review of 1920 Army-Navy Game on Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

WHAT happened in the Army-Navy game of 1920 when the service teams fought a scoreless tie until the last five minutes of play will be described for radio fans tonight during the Lehn and Fink Serenade, a KDKA feature at 8 p. m. Phillips Carlin at the "mike" will put as much realism into the game as the day he saw it played, 'tis said.

Running the Army-Navy recreation a close second for popularity with listeners will be Rudy Vallee, Vincent Lopez, Henry Burr and Helen Kane, all of whom play important roles in programs of the air this evening.

Marjorie Stewart, a blind Pittsburgh girl who has written some clever continunity for local stations, has devised the Halloween Party to be staged in the KQV studio at 8:30 o'clock. Most interesting, we believe, will be the reading of Paul Miller's fortune by a gypsy clairvoyant.

We Now Present

Sousa's "Hands Across the Sea," depicting pleasant relations between the United States and other countries, was composed at a time when the great march king little realized that it would be possible some day for persons to talk across the sea. For example, P. A. Boyd and Lloyd C. Thomas of KDKA talked across a wide expanse of land and sea at 5 a. m., yesterday when they communicated directly by radio with 3ME at Sydney, Australia.

"Good morning," said Mr. Thomas to Mr. Farmer in Sydney. And Mr. Farmer came back, "It may be morning up there, Mr. Thomas, but down here its pitch night. You know we have 13 hours difference in time."

"Then good morning, good night," replied Mr. Thomas jovially and a 15-minute two way conversation was on with one gentleman in East Pittsburgh exchanging ideas of life with another gentleman 10,000 miles away in an opposite clime.

Later Mr. Boyd made arrangements to have 2ME transmit a special program of band music for Pittsburghers as part of the KDKA ninth birthday celebration Saturday morning between 6 and 7 a. m.

Thus a pleasure talk was enjoyed and a business deal consummated in less than 30 minutes in a radio conversation carried on between two ends of the earth. Radio—marvelous!

Dale Wimbrow, heard on the La Palina programs, through WJAS, has written a new song. It is "At The Funny Paper Ball."

The story of John Paul Jones is to be told on the Heroes of the World program through WCAE this Sunday.

E. J. Monahan, 474 Union street, Verona, thanks us for warning him that a baritone will sing "Danny Deever" tomorrow night.

TODAY'S TID BIT:
Jay Mills, introducing the diminutive m. c. at the Stanley to the radio audience: "He's a good fellow and although he's not as big as Brooke Johns we feel that he will fill Brooke's shoes very well." Brooke wore size 11½; the new m. c., for a week wears 6½.

TODAY

is not YESTERDAY

In 1884 on a high wheel bicycle 15 miles an hour was going some.

YESTERDAY, slow vehicles and slow kitchen equipment were the rule—long hours for the bread winner, drudgery for the house wife. Today, how different! Every task must be easy, and done quickly—less and less time spent in the kitchen—that's progress.

LIBERTY REDI-SLICED BREAD is the modern convenience—ready to serve, ready to toast, ready for the children's lunch—ready and, fresh till used. You'll be delighted with the Quality.

Health-Giving Bread made with milk, is our offering to this march of progress

No matter what you spend for radio

you can buy no more than PHILCO gives!

SPEND what you will—twice—three times Philco's prices—and you'll get no purer, more perfect, more true-to-life tone than that of Philco.

Turn the dial of the costliest set you can find—and you'll get no more stations, nor will you bring them in one whit more sharp and clear than Philco will get them.

Reach out for distance with any other set on the market and the odds are that you won't begin to match the performance of the Philco Screen Grid Plus—the set that under favorable conditions spans the Pacific and makes cross-continental reception commonplace.

Ease of operation? In this, Philco has no rival. All-electric. Single dial control. Built-in Electro-Dynamic Speaker and acoustic equalizers. On the new Philco Screen Grid Plus, automatic volume control.

Furniture beauty? Philco cabinets are altogether charming. Designed by high authorities on furniture art, charmingly executed in superb domestic and imported woods. They grace many of the most luxurious homes in the land.

Radio experts, wholesalers, retailers—and radio fans themselves agree that, regardless of price, no other radio compares in performance and outward beauty with Philco. To pay more than Philco's price is extravagance.

There's a Philco model exactly adapted to your purpose. The nearest Philco dealer will gladly show it, and arrange Demonstration—without obligating you. Easy terms. Small down payment. Delivery at once.

BOARD UPHOLDS VOTING LISTS

The Board of Registration Commissioners has been upheld by the courts on the only appeal taken from its decisions, Thomas E. Kilgallen, solicitor, said in a statement issued on behalf of the members last night.

"The parties urging the complete and wholesale purging of the lists have not appealed from any decision adverse to their contention," he added. "It has been clearly demonstrated that many questioned voters are legally entitled to remain on the registration books and that a grave injustice would have been done had they been arbitrarily purged from the lists without being given an opportunity to define their position."

The validity of tax receipts had not been questioned here until the court, the day before the primary election, ruled that certain ones were null and void because they were based upon an alleged illegal assessment.

The board, unable to do anything before the primary, decided that the personal registration and party enrollment laws entitled each individual to a hearing. The members have been holding such hearings, he pointed out.

To do otherwise, Kilgallen said, would be to "wholly disregard the legal rights of the questioned voters."

Man Killed by Train Cumberland Resident

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 31.—(A.P.)—The body of a man killed Saturday by a Baltimore and Ohio train near Mars, was identified as William Root, aged about 35, of Cumberland, Md. The body was sent to the home of a sister, Mrs. W. B. Decker, at Cumberland. Root, who was single, was said to have left his home last Wednesday.

WOMAN FINED IN POSTAL CASE

A fine of $1 was imposed upon Mrs. Josephine Ryan, former postmaster at Waltersburg, Fayette County, for embezzling $1,743.61 postal funds in 1924. The woman was not in court when the fine was imposed, but it was paid by Attorney David S. Keilly, who was her counsel when she was convicted in November, 1925.

When convicted, the woman was allowed time in which to make up the defalcation, and the government received restitution through a bonding company, which, in turn, the court was told, was repaid by a daughter of the defendant. To close the records, Attorney Keilly was directed to bring his client into court.

When the attorney appeared, he informed the court he did not know the present whereabouts of Mrs. Ryan, whom, he said, the last time he heard of her, was very ill. Attaches of the court recalled that there were circumstances in connection with the embezzlement of which the woman was not entirely responsible, but nevertheless held liable.

Clearfield Highway Project Under Way

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(A.P.)—Start or contemplated beginning of two new road projects in the western part of the state was reported to the Department of Highways.

Construction of a concrete road connecting Houtzdale and Ramey, Clearfield County, was started. The other project, to be started Monday, is a section of highway in Eldred Borough, McKeen County, 1.75 miles long. A part of the Eldred project is the building of a bridge across the Allegheny River, contract for which is to be awarded later.

"THAT'S IT" PUBLIC CRIES as FADA presents VIBRA-CONTROL

Radio buyers: . . . here's a new thrill . . . the thrill of music reproduced just as it enters the microphone . . . stripped of mechanical noise . . . free at last from distortions, hums or roars.

VIBRA-CONTROL did it . . . the secret of true tone realism . . . the faithful reproduction of even the tiniest musical shadings . . . the greatest achievement in radio since receivers were put in consoles . . .

For with Vibra-Control the new Fada Radios bring in programs exactly as broadcast . . . only possible when Fada engineers had so completely coordinated the receiver, speaker and console that all vibrations were completely controlled, and each note was reproduced clean-cut, clear and true.

It's revolutionary: but the public . . . experts . . . and critics all recognized it as the key to perfect reception . . . for Vibra-Control has finally solved radio's greatest problem, and with it shattered all previous standards of radio reception and realism.

But hear the new Fada Radios today. Ask your Fada dealer to prove to you what Vibra-Control means to realistic reception.

Then Vibra-Control will amaze you as it has thousands of others in the past few weeks since these extraordinary new sets were first introduced.

Vibra-Controlled Fadas are priced from $99.50 to $675.00. They may be had in wide range of models in superb examples of cabinet making.

CHAPTER XVI.

IT WAS a moment forever branded on the hearts of all three. A moment of throbbing wretchedness for Marianne and Stag. A fool's paradise for the blind man.

Stag made an impulsive step toward the girl locked in Andre's arms. His face was white with protest. His lips parted, but before he spoke the girl's eyes silenced him.

No turning back now . . . no faltering . . . Steadfastly Marianne offered up her heart.

"I wish that you should remember us—as being very happy, M'sieur." She spoke slowly, "Always that way—very happy."

"I'll remember you . . ." Stag was beginning in a stifled voice when sharp and clear a bugle cut across his words.

Andre's head lifted sharply. "They depart—our brave friends. It is hard to know you must leave us. But you will be glad, of course, to get home."

"Yes . . . Yes . . . I'll be glad to get home, of course . . ." His eyes were saying what he dare not utter. Pleading, storming, longing—gray eyes . . . like gray flames, burning deep into the heart of the girl who watched. . . .

She put Andre's arms gently away. She swayed a step nearer Stag.

Again the bugle — high-pitched, imperious. It was a knife plunge in the heart of the man and girl.

"I got to go . . ." said Stag miserably. "They're paging me."

But he still stood motionless, unable to wrench his eyes away.

A rhythmic murmur out there in the yard. Rising—growing into a cadence they recognized.

"Don't say goodby, Marianne,
It's not time to cry, Marianne."

The old tune which they had learned from the hurdy-gurdy was eagerly taken up by the men who had loved and teased the little French girl in the past weeks.

"They're sayin' goodby," Stag said hoarsely.

A faint, excited smile was traced on Andre's lips. "Our song, Marianne." His head was turned toward the yard. Impossible to think eyes so wide and full of light could not see! "They are singing my song to you!"

A little wordless rush and Marianne was in Stag's arms, lips locked to lip in an agony of silence.

"Wherever I may be . . .
You will be with me,
You're locked in my heart, Marianne . . ."

His breath was hot against her cheek as he whispered, "Our song . . . My song now, Marianne. Locked in my heart, sweetheart . . . There's where you'll always be. I'll never forget you, Marianne . . ."

She gave a broken little cry as he tore away from her. "Oh, no! Ah, God—please—"

He was out the door. Bounding down the steps.

"Marianne, has he gone?"

She did not hear Andre's words. She had run to the porch, straining pitifully to see through the tears which blinded her. The whole world was swimming in a blur of blue sky, brown yard and the seething khaki mass down there.

The gun section from the courtyard was turning out through the archway of the farm house and taking its place in the column of the full battalion which had marched out the highway from the village.

Through her tears Marianne could no longer distinguish faces. No longer could see the toothful grins of Yom and Soapy as they passed below the porch—or make out the tall figure with the miserable gray eyes looking up at her . . . Marching out of her life as he had come marching in. Marching away with her heart . . .

Something about the slim little figure up there on the porch—whipping gray skirt and blowing yellow hair—which stayed long in the memory of the men who were leaving. Something brave and forlorn which brought a lump to the throat.

Behind her, Andre's white face strained to the racket, eyes wide as though he would force them to see.

"Where are they now, Marianne?"

"They pass beneath the arch, Andre—" she murmured brokenly. "They are out on the highway—"

The regiment had roared into the artillery song. The marching beat of "Caissons Go Rolling Along" floated back to them through the clouds of dust.

"What do they now, Marianne?"

She did not answer. She had a glimpse of Stag—there—on the rear seat of a caisson as it appeared for a brief moment framed in the archway of the farmyard. He was looking back into the yard. Straining toward her—one arm up-flung in farewell.

Then he was hidden—other brown figures took his place . . .

Desolation — dreadful — unbearable sweeping down on the weeping girl. Gone from France . . . Nothing left but the empty courtyard where the clouds of dust were already beginning to settle.

Silence settled down on Saint-Vallier with the dust.

Time resumed the old measured beat. The storm of the last four years was over. The little village lapsed into drowsy dreams again.

Days melted into days like a slow-flowing stream. War was only a brief nightmare after all. Many wars—many heart-breaks had Saint-Vallier seen, but after all—life went on. Ah, yes. Life went on.

One lived. One grew old and died. . . . Generations succeeding generations as the leaves of many summers piled under the trees.

But the sunshine went on, warm and golden. The same breezes came back each year to ruffle the lanes of allantlus and acacia trees, to sway the willows over the pond. . . . Change was brief and fleeting. . . . It was better to drowse and dream, said Saint-Vallier.

Surprising how soon the scars of war healed.

To be sure, there was Pierre La Motte, who sat all day in the sun on the cafe bench because his legs had been shot off.

There was Andre, to whom all life was a groping in the dark so that he could no longer read the books he delighted in, or see the face of the girl he loved. There were black veiled women who prayed in the village chapel for their beloved dead.

But even these scars would pass. Some day Pierre and Andre would hide their wounds beneath the ground. And then the new generation could forget what war did, even as this one had forgotten old Papa Gerard's lame leg and Gaspard Quivallan's withered arm.

Before they had been gone a month the memory of the Americans had taken on the misty semblance of a legend.

For a brief moment they had been among them, strange as visitors from another planet—those rollicking, roaring Yanks, who made such a bewildering jest of life. Then—gone in one short hour, leaving the village to grow placid and smooth again like the surface of the willow pond.

In only one heart was the wound of their departure fresh and raw with the dawn of each day. One girl—who went into her pillow each night and prayed for forgetfulness.

It haunted Marianne in the musty stillness of the barn, when the sun, slanting through the cracks, streaked the gloom with golden bars. Heartbreakingly still, this great dim place, which had echoed to his voice . . . to his laugh . . .

Down by the pond when the midday world was green and gold and still with heat, she seemed to hear his voice . . .

'Locked in my heart, Sweetheart . . ." whispered the tall ghost. "I'll never forget you, Marianne . . ."

She slumped down on the gnarled root of the willow where Stag had once sat. She closed her eyes and rested her wet face against the tree trunk, as though she drew some simple elemental strength from the rough contact.

"Oh—God . . ." Her voice came in a dreary whisper. "Oh . . . dear . . . God."

Madge and Lillian Refuse Veritzen's Invitation to Lunch

MY signal to Lillian to give a negative answer to any proposal of Philip Veritzen's was just in time, for hardly had the laughter left his lips at her quip concerning the "tenth wave" than he broached the subject of our lunching with him.

"There is no possible reason why you shouldn't," he said when he had given his invitation in the slightly formal manner which always invests his proffers of entertainment. "No less an authority than Mr. Graham just now assured me that your pleas of being extra busy today were—shall we be crude and say 'the bunk?'—and that you could very well spare the time to save me from a lonely luncheon."

That Lillian was surprised at the news of our encounter with Dicky I was certain, but her poker face held no hint that she had not herself planned the meeting.

"Isn't that like the Dicky-bird?" she demanded crossly of me. "Or of any man, for that matter. Your idea of moving is either to stand in the middle of the floor and toss some cigars and magazines into a bag, letting some patient sufferer like a wife or valet attend to getting your tooth brushes and pajamas along with you. You seem to think that getting a family from one habitation to another is simply a matter of waving the hands gracefully and crooning 'abracadabra' in a turtle dove sort of voice. Oh, all of you trousered humans give a lumbago in the vertebrae at the back of my throat—I'm putting violets on the slang for your benefit, Phil—with your conceptions of what feminine tasks are."

Mr. Veritzen laughed heartily, as he always does at Lillian's tirades, and a swift furtive glance at Otto standing so respectfully at the side of the limousine, showed that usually imperturbable attendant with twitching lips.

"I suppose all this cruel invective is only camouflage for a refusal of my invitation," Mr. Veritzen began, "but I—"

"'But me no buts,' old dear," she interrupted ruthlessly. "You can go to the end of the class and get a blue merit card for your correct answer to the problem. There's about as much chance of your entertaining us at luncheon today as there is of a Scotch joke being pulled about something else than thrift. Nay, also, no, old darling. We can't get away to lunch with you today. Our husbands may let us, but our final packing won't."

Mr. Veritzen turned to me with a slight shrug of his shoulders.

"That is your verdict, too?" he queried.

"I am afraid it is," I returned demurely. "But we are terribly disappointed, aren't we, Lillian?"

Her reply was as prompt and apparently as spontaneous as if she had not just sent me a secret signal to "spread the salve," one of her frequent injunctions when we were dealing with a vain and easily offended person.

"Desolated," she said, and walking over to my stately employer, she grasped him by the lapels of his coat and shook him slightly.

"Don't you dare be grouchy about this," she admonished. "You know well enough that your luncheon parties are not to be sneezed at, and both Madge and I would give a finger joint or two to be present at one of them. And if you don't ask us some other time when we can go, I personally shall see that you are subjected to the most ingenious tortures I can order for you. But today it is impossible. So kiss us sweetly goodby, little boy. I assume Madge has told you all you wish to know about the situation at the farmhouse—and come to see us, say day after tomorrow at the hotel."

"If it weren't for Otto," Mr. Veritzen said mischieviously, but using the same low tones Lillian had employed, "I should take you up on that goodby proposition. But I shall keep your permission in mind."

"That's a splendid place to keep it," Lillian assured him. "Just see that it stays there. And now we've got to get back to the farmhouse. Shall we see you day after tomorrow at the hotel?"

"Of course. At what hour?"

"How about coming to dinner, eh, Madge?"

"That would be very pleasing to all of us," I said, trying to keep my voice from perfunctoriness, but feeling that was being mendacious indeed. And when we had taken leave of Mr. Veritzen and were speeding back toward the farmhouse my brain was still whirling with the question: How would Dicky react to Philip Veritzen's presence as a dinner guest?

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A DAINTY FROCK FOR A LITTLE MISS.

Cotton prints are excellent for this design. It is also pleasing in wool crepe, or in checked or plaid woolen. The long waist portions are finished with a vestee below which the fronts are lapped in scalloped outline. The skirt is full and gathered to the waist. The sleeve is full at the wrist above a band cuff. A round collar completes the neck edge.

This pattern is cut in four sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make the dress for an 8-year size will require 2¼ yards of 35-inch material. For vestee of contrasting material ⅛ yard 35 inches wide is required, cut crosswise.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Wedding Invitations

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
In sending wedding invitations to a family that consists of mother, father, two daughters and two sons, should I address one invitation to "Mr. and Mrs." and another to "The Misses" and the other to "The Messrs"? Are all of these enclosed in the one envelope and addressed to "Mrs."—or each sent individually?

2—Upon receiving gifts, is it proper to answer and acknowledge that gift at once or after we return from our honeymoon?

3—I should not leave the cards on the gifts while they are on display, should I? READER.

IF you can possibly do so, send one invitation addressed to "Mr. and Mrs."—and then a separate one to every member of the family who is old enough to receive formal invitations. This gives honor to each one—and that is surely what you want to do with your wedding invitations.

2—The ideal way to thank for wedding gifts is for the bride to write a thank-you note on the day on which the gift is received. As far as possible she should have all her gift acknowledgments written before her wedding day. Of course, there are always last-minute gifts that arrive too late for this, and since the gifts are sent so late the senders of these will understand if she does not write until after she returns from her honeymoon.

3—You are correct about this—and I am glad to say so. For I think that one of the most garish gestures is for the bride to display the cards on wedding gifts. It is as if she proclaims, blatantly, "Oh, see what So-and-So sent me!"

As a matter of fact, wedding gifts are not often displayed now, except to one's close friends. Usually the bride has her intimate friends in to tea or luncheon, and while they are there shows them her gifts. But no more public display of them is planned.

Accepting a Corsage

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
I am going to a "Prom" and probably my escort will bring me a corsage. Please inform me as to what I shall say in regard to the acceptance of it. Which side shall I wear it on?

ADMIRER.

THANK your "beau" as you would for any other delightful courtesy that he shows you: "Thank you so much for these lovely flowers. How kind you were to think of bringing them to me," or "You were most kind to bring me these beautiful orchids. Thank you so much."

Wear them wherever they are becoming. It depends on the style of the frock. While you are dancing you may, if you wish, leave them on your table or on your chair, if there is no table.

Express Appreciation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
Is it proper to present a pianist (accompanying singers in an operatta) with flowers?

GRATEFUL.

YES. Flowers are always appropriate messengers of our expression of appreciation and friendliness.

Test fat for frying doughnuts by adding a slice of raw potato to the hot fat. When it browns quickly on all sides the fat is hot enough for the doughnuts.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

New Food Processes and Your Health

INTEREST in proper food reaches into every home. All doctors recognize that food plays a vital part in the health of the individual. No one can doubt that it has much to do with the community health.

Not long ago, the American Medical Association held a convention in Portland, Me. To this gathering came doctors from all over the country. From the large cities, the towns and villages these men foregathered to learn about the progress in medicine and and the promotion of health. Every branch of medicine was represented and, quite as important, were the exhibitions of scientific apparatus, equipment and books used by the profession.

DR. COPELAND

Of particular interest were the exhibitions provided by the leading food concerns of the country. A honey-producing group showed in their exhibit how milk may be modified with honey. They also demonstrated many dietary and therapeutic uses which may be made of this natural sugar.

Another booth gave out data about gelatin. Fifty ways of preparing this food for diabetics alone represented a thought worthy of attention for child feeding, anaemia and overweight was described.

Fruit growers had enlightening information for the visiting doctors. One group had canned orange juice which retains all the vitamin comparable to that of the strictly fresh fruit.

Two women conceived the idea of canning food meant particularly for children. These foods are put through a sieve, then canned without loss of the essential elements.

There were many other displays intended to show the necessity of proper foodstuffs. Demonstrations of methods for modifying cow's milk, to make it a worthy substitute for mother's milk, deserve particular mention.

I wish it were possible to hold such an exhibition in every community in North America. It would be of great benefit to mothers of babies and of children of all ages. Any demonstration showing how to improve the foodstuffs of a people is a thing that will surely improve its health.

Answers to Health Queries

C. M. Q.—How can a small mole be removed from the side of my nose?

A.—It would be wise to consult a skin specialist who will probably remove it with the use of the electric needle.

T. M. W. Q.—What can I do to prevent my chin from bleeding when I shave?

A.—Shave very lightly. Try shaving cream which comes in a tube like tooth paste. Moisten the face and rub the cream into the skin, then wash off the lather with warm water and shave, keeping face damp with water.

L. B. Q.—What causes nausea at the pit of the stomach while eating?

A.—You may be troubled with hyperacidity due to an acid condition of the stomach. The diet should be corrected and other treatment advised.

J. S. G. Q.—Can you tell me the cause of several red blotches on my legs? Sometimes they are faint pink and sometimes a deep purple.

A.—Your trouble may be due to purpura, disease characterized by hemorrhages into the skin. It would be wise to consult your doctor.

H. W. B. Q.—What is the cause of cancer?

A.—The cause of cancer is unknown.

C. M. C. Q.—How much should a woman aged 44, 5 feet 3 inches tall weigh, also a boy aged 14, 5 feet 7 inches tall?

A.—They should weigh respectively about 138 and 127 pounds.

A.—No, I doubt it.

E. M. M. Q.—What do you advise for nasal catarrh?

The Marry-Go-Round

Wigs for Men!

MEN may have courage in war and moments of danger, but in a barber shop they are all cowards!

Anything which even faintly suggests rebellion against the current popular haircut makes them shudder. They are SO afraid of ridicule! A man does not trifle with his hair!

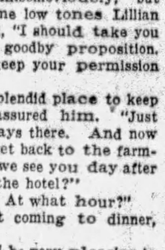
While he's got it, he spends infinite pains and a lot of time and money keeping it clipped so close to his head (the convict-cut) that the poor thing gets discouraged, thinks it isn't wanted, gives up the ghost and departs.



HELEN ROWLAND

Then he frantically rushes out for a hair-tonic, takes electric massage and goes around bare-headed, like a college sheik, trying to whistle it back in again. Yet, day by day, men are getting balder and balder!

But, some bright day, a Great Deliverer is going to arise, who will revive the fashion of WIGS for gentlemen, and thereby save his fellow-men from all these heartaches and suffering! If a woman can go boldly forth decked in a white transformation, why should a man hesitate to follow suit, when he has a thousand times more need of it? And a million times more reason for it!

Never have men looked more charming and picturesque than they did in the days when they wore white periwigs, with pigtails and fascinating little ringlets on their temples. Just LOOK at John Barrymore when he gets himself up that way!

A beard may be a man's own fault; but a bald head is a bitter dispensation of Providence—a cruel and unwarranted punishment to a perfectly good man! Watching the bald spot increase on the top of her husband's head has made many a wife feel old and withered long before her time.

All the hair on a woman's head never causes her half the anxiety, pain and humiliaton that the small crop on top of a man's head causes hm. There is no more pitiful and acute self-consciousness than that of a man still in his prime, yet afflicted with a bald pate which he must unblushingly exhibit to the world for the rest of his life.

* * *

He knows what a handicap he carries around with him. He knows that, while women will dance with him, dine with him, flirt with him and even marry him, they simply CANNOT idealize him or romanticize about him!

* * *

No woman would suffer such cruel and unnecessary torment for a moment! She would go right out and buy the most beautiful "transformation" she could find, in her favorite Fall shade, and wear it proudly, frankly and boastfully!

But, let a poor, long-suffering man modestly try wearing the tiniest toupee, and he has the subconscious feeling that the whole world is snickering at him! WHY? Why SHOULD he? To cover up a nude and shining cranium is only sane, modest and healthful. And a man who wears a wig gets my applause for his courage, his intelligence and his sense of the beautiful. I'm for WIGS FOR MEN!

Cascara—the Perfect Laxative

Now, when the end of the day finds you feeling out of sorts; and the most tempting foods hold no enjoyment, just chew a candy tablet before bed-time. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

You'll awake with that coating gone from your tongue. Breath will be sweetened; eyes brightened; you'll feel like doing things right, instead of just getting by.

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, headachy, constipated condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion and assimilation. You sleep right on while Cascarets are preparing your system for a thorough cleansing in the morning. Never a bit of sickening or discomfort when Cascarets are used.

Cascarets are a pure vegetable product, made from Cascara Sagrada, a substance which authorities above doubting, say actually strengthens the bowel muscles. That's why you can take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. Every action of Cascarets is helpful. They are a blessing to old folks!

Full medical endorsement proves their principle is right; 20 million packages used a year shows how people like them!

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

PENNSYLVANIA mother's story will interest you

"MY little son, Billy, became bilious, pale and listless," says Mrs. Florence Rhodes, 5454 Irving St., Philadelphia. "He was never hungry and didn't digest what he ate. He was constipated.

"I decided to try California Fig Syrup; and it has been a blessing. Now his bowels are regular; he has a fine appetite and perfect digestion. I give him a little Fig Syrup, now and then, when he seems to need its help, and it keeps him gaining."

Giving children California Fig Syrup is the finest way to do away with the ills caused by constipation. This is the way children like; that doctors approve. This pure vegetable product just suits a child's system. It moves the bowels gently without griping or discomfort. It helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach so they continue to act naturally. A child's whole system soon reacts to its purifying and energizing qualities. Prove it the next time your child develops those first symptoms of a clogged system—bad breath or coated tongue.

COLUMBIA ENDS 175TH YEAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—With a dinner last night and a convocation this afternoon on the steps of the university library, to be attended by the presidents and other representatives of universities all over the country, the celebration of the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Columbia University is drawing to a close.

Twelve hundred persons attended the dinner at the Hotel Pennsylvania. The speakers were Judge John Foster Symes, of Denver, '03 law school, United States district judge for Colorado; Dr. Henry Suzzalo, former president of the University of Washington, and Michael I. Pupin, professor of electro-mechanics.

Judge Symes said that unless the law schools of the country performed the task of turning out men properly qualified to take prominent parts in public and political life, "the job will some day be performed in a manner reminiscent of the French revolution."

He asked for a more sympathetic understanding by the East of the political and economic thought west of the Mississippi River.

"The West is concerned chiefly with problems of agriculture, live stock and mining in its various forms, transportation and the development of the public domain," he said. "As a result, the economic and political Mason and Dixon line of the Civil War no longer exists. A new one runs north and south following the Mississippi River."

Editor of McCalls Weds in Montana

BOZEMAN, Mont., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The marriage of Otis L. Wiese, editor of McCall's Magazine, and Miss Josephine Lasher, art editor of The Forum, became known here after they had spent a month's honeymoon on a camping trip in nearby mountains. They were married here September 30 by the Rev. Friend Day, pastor of the Episcopal Church. The couple is en route to New York City and expects to arrive there today.

Migrating Ducks War on Tame Pigeons

CHICAGO. — (INS.) — Large northern falcons or duck hawks, stopping here in their migration to the South, have declared open war on pigeons which make their home in the busy loop district.

Two of the hawks have been shot on the roof of the Field Museum of Natural History. Dissection showed that they had been gorging themselves on pigeons.

"Attracted by the easy prey afforded by the city's tame pigeons, many of these birds remain here for a long period each year during their migration southward," Cleveland Grant, curator, stated.

VIDOR ADMITS FALSE RETURN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—King Vidor, motion picture director, testified in Federal Court here that, in making out his income tax form, he had put down the salary of his business manager as triple the amount he actually paid him. Vidor testified he did this at the suggestion of Marjorie Berger, income tax counsellor, who is on trial for falsifying income tax returns.

Vidor said he had reported his business manager's salary as $10,000 yearly, while actually it was but $3,000.

George Marion, Jr., scenario writer, testified Miss Berger advised him as to methods by which he should report various expenditures, including those of his house. His wife, Dorothy Marion, corroborated her husband's testimony, declaring that the Hollywood income tax counsellor instructed her that maintenance of a cash book would be necessary to supplement the income tax report of Mr. Marion. The court and jury were amused by her troubles keeping the cash book, in which she testified her "figures didn't add up right, so I had to squeeze some more in."

WHITE SLAVERS UNCOVERED

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Federal authorities have caused a man to be held in $20,000 bail and characterized the action as a step toward uncovering a white slave ring with headquarters in New York, whose operations extended as far west as Detroit.

Charles H. Tuttle, United States attorney, said revelations were expected from some of the victims when Albert Lucks, the man held, is brought to trial.

It was charged the ring recruited women in New York City and carried them to other cities at night in closed automobiles with drawn curtains. Authorities said the syndicate, until recently when the government intervened, maintained "salesmen" who solicited orders in various cities while other agents were recruiting women in other parts of the country and sending them to New York to await call.

Lucks, through his attorney, denied any connection with the syndicate or with two slayings attributed to it, one here and one in Boston. Officials said the victims were agents who turned against the syndicate and started operations on their own account.

Wharf Piling Burns, 1,000 Men Made Idle

ALAMEDA, Cal., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Fire in the creosoted piling supporting the loading wharf of the Encinal terminal pier here did damage estimated at more than $2,000,000, causing collapse of chunks of the concrete pavement of the wharf.

Ten men, eight of them firemen, were slightly injured or overcome by smoke. Terminal company officials said the fire, which they believed incendiary, would put 1,000 men out of work.

TRAFFIC POLICEMEN FACE BIG SHIFT

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

IN a local hotel suite the other evening we encountered a group of men, quite familiar to a Broadwayite, but owning a strangeness in the eyes of a provincial. They were a group of theater ticket speculators, on a flying visit from New York, to look over the opening of a new show here.

Havey J. Boyle.

With the exception of one, the group looked conventional. The exception was the man who wore a funny vest and had about him the cartoonists' marks of a gambler.

THERE was a producer in the group, a boxoffice man, two speculators who buy tickets and sell them at a premium and another strange fellow whose specialty is selling "cut-rate tickets."

* * *

Into their conversation crept ever so often the expression, "a buy." They "make a buy" into this production, into the other.

These men are a combination of showman, gambler and salesman, and are better known in the trade as "specs."

THEY look at rehearsals of a new show and they attend the opening night. Then they judge whether it's a flop or a wow, and act accordingly in their purchase of tickets.

Said the young Jewish producer, as he walked nervously back and forth, puffing on a cigar:

"Yes, these fellows, these speculators, are personal friends of mine, but I say in front of them they aren't good friends of the theater. Now take my friend here. He is charging $13.50 for one seat to a show called 'Strictly Dishonorable.' You see, people will pay that for that show, but they'll get so mad about the charge that they'll stay away from the theater for a couple of months."

"OH, YEAH," said the speculator thus pointed out to his friend the producer, "how about those four or five flops that I made a buy in? How about me paying the producer four bucks a ticket for tickets that wouldn't retail for 80 cents because the show laid an egg?"

"You see," said the speculator turning to the country boy listening in, "it's like everything else, sometimes you win, sometimes you lose. When you get a winner you must try to make up for the losers.

IN AGENCIES where a flat excess rate, say 79 cents, is charged, a higher rate is paid sometimes by patrons, but this is in the form of tips to clerks.

"So why," asks the speculator who charges what the public will stand, "let a clerk take the gravy?" Another angle is that a producer here and there doesn't let his tickets get into the hands of "specs" until he makes certain he'll get a "kick-back" from the scalpers—a share of the excess rate charged.

MANY GOING TO OUTLYING DISTRICTS

Surplus Cornermen, Due to Light System, Will Aid Fight on Petty Crimes

Too many traffic police in the downtown district, and not enough in the "sticks" to cope with the wave of petty crime which seems to be on the increase, today was giving Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, and Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh cause to confer regarding wholesale transfers.

The surplus of cornermen is the result of installation of automatic traffic lights, which never were looked upon favorably by the traffic squad. Officials say that with the lights working, cornermen have little to do except stand and watch the crowds go by. The problem was given deep consideration at a meeting of the director and superintendent late yesterday, when the results of a survey conducted by the director were gone over in detail.

Director Clark made it known that it was not the intention of officials to rob the downtown district of traffic officers. All corners will be taken care of, but there is no need for the usual number, now that the lights are working, he said.

In many outlying districts police protection is weak, due to the lack of police to cope with petty crime, and to these sections the director intends to send surplus men from downtown, he said.

Cornermen are said to look with disapproval upon plans to reduce their ranks downtown, although they have expected it since the traffic signal lights were installed.

FARM DECLINE IN STATE SEEN

Industrial progress has overshadowed agriculture and its great possibilities in this state, according to Dr. Charles G. Jordan, state secretary of agriculture.

Speaking before the Rotary Club of Pittsburgh in the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday, Secretary Jordan declared the attractiveness and healthfulness of country life should entice every city man to own a few acres and seek the enjoyment gained by living on them. Stressing that farming will pay in this state, Dr. Jordan said:

"The solution is in the farmer himself. He must know agriculture and in so knowing must produce the highest quality farm products. By so doing, he can compete with produce brought from other states with the advantage of none or very little freight charges. This thickly populated state is a rich market. Apples, that in color and taste equal and many times are superior to the western apples, can be produced in Allegheny County. The same is true of potatoes. There are many successful farms in this state. There is a big opportunity for many more. The agricultural state of mind has been overlooked. Money can be made from farms in this state."

LEONA WILLIAMS

OFFICER FREED IN RING THEFT

Patrolman Charles Bloomer, 40, of 123 Eureka street, reporting to the East End Police Station, was discharged in Morals Court today after Mrs. Leona Williams, of 866 Phineas street, accused him of pointing a revolver at her and taking a small diamond ring from her finger.

Bloomer denied the charge, protesting that he had the ring on his finger when he went to the woman's home last Tuesday on an invitation to play "500."

Mrs. Williams and her daughter, Gladys Williams, told the court that they had formerly been good friends, but that Mrs. Williams wanted the friendly relations discontinued and Bloomer annoyed her.

The woman admitted that the ring had once been a gift from Bloomer to her. Magistrate Thomas D. Jones heard the case.

ELVES TO MAKE WHOOPEE HERE TONIGHT

Goblins, Spirits to March As Mummers Make Merry In Annual Celebration

Spirits of the dead, allowed to frolic on the earth one night of the year, in by-gone days chose Halloween.

Tonight, a Twentieth century people will emulate the ghosts and the goblins from the netherworld.

In hundreds of communities of Western Pennsylvania, the children will perpetuate the tradition with costumes and masques of fierce demons and goblins, parading through crowd-bordered and bunting colored streets.

And they will march to the militant tune of masticating peanut brittle, the crackle of walnuts and the ringing of doorbells.

ADULTS NOT FORGOTTEN

For the adults, parties and dances are planned. Parades with prizes for the outstanding mimics have been scheduled for the following communities:

Downtown Pittsburgh, East Liberty, with a party in the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. North Side, South Side, West End, Homewood, and other locales will have their customary informal or formal parades.

The East boroughs, including Pitcairn, East Pittsburgh, and Turtle Creek have arranged a joint parade and celebration; Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin have joined in their arrangements. In Swissvale, the fire department is sponsoring a parade.

Edgewood will have a community party.

ACTIVITIES AT CRAFTON

The Crafton Business Men's Association is in charge of Crafton's parade, with candies presented to the paraders.

Bridgeville has bought horns, whistles, cowbells and other noisemakers galore for their kiddies. Templar and Lincoln chapters, Order of De Molay, will hold their annual masque ball in the Schenley Hotel.

The Bellevue Board of Trade has arranged for its annual parade tonight, inviting all the residents of the North Boroughs and Ross Township to participate. Roger Culver is general chairman.

The Roxian Club will sponsor the community celebration in McKees Rocks' bottom district, ending with a dance in Ruthenian Hall. The Moose of the district also intend to stage a celebration and party.

FETE IN WILKINSBURG

Wilkinsburg will make merry with an extensive program, and likewise is inviting adjoining boroughs to participate. J. E. McCullough has been made general chairman, with Algy Moore marshal of the parade.

In Etna, the volunteer firemen are rounding out plans for their parade. A number of prizes have been secured for the most distinguished costumes.

Rosedale's junior firemen will hold a party and dance Friday night.

The Brentwood fire company No. 1 will stage a costume ball in the Brentwood Park dance pavilion, where prizes will be given the best costumed.

Injured in Bus, Couple Asks $25,000

Edward F. Dickey and his wife, Gertrude K. Dickey, Wilkinsburg, have filed suit against the Purple States, Inc., demanding $25,000 damages suffered in a bus crash. Both received miscellaneous injuries when the collision occurred August 11, 1928, near Chagrin Falls, O., the Dickey car being demolished.

AIN'T NO HUNTIN' DOGS AT POUND

ALBERT MARMAROSA LOOKING FOR A HUNTING DOG AT RESCUE LEAGUE

Marmarosa's one of many these days hunting for a hunting dog. The cat won't do and these other dogs at the Animal Rescue League just aren't hunters.

DOGS SCARCE, HUNTERS WORRY

It's just like a lot of hunters to leave the question of dogs to the last minute, mutters J. Robb Snyder, superintendent of the Animal Rescue League, these days.

For Mr. Snyder and his staff at the League kennels, 5715 Kirkwood street, have done little else than answer telephones, from potential nimrods, inquiring delicately if they can have a dog.

"Mr. Snyder, have you any dogs," he is being asked.

Whereupon, Mr. Snyder, being very courteous, answers:

"Yes, we have any number of dogs."

"Have you any 'coon dogs?" they ask.

"No, we have no 'coon dogs," he answers.

"Have you any rabbit dogs?"

"Nope, no rabbit dogs."

"Have you any hunting dogs, Mr. Snyder?"

"Sorry, we haven't any hunting dogs here or in the Penn Township farm. Call again some time," Mr. Snyder answers.

Which indicates that hunting season begins Friday.

'Dates' Cost Boys $3.75 Each, Pitt Co-Ed Finds

Social amenities—or night activities indulged in by day college students—has been estimated in dollars and cents by a progressive young woman journalist at the University of Pittsburgh.

Called by its commonplace name, "having dates," Miss Sara Josselson has discovered that Pitt students have found an average cost, and that each may figure on spending $3.75.

Excluding the "ritzy" affairs such as the junior prom, the student of journalism found that four out of five dates are "outs"—the fifth being a home date where car checks or long walks are the only expenditures.

But here's what, after interviewing 20 young men, Miss Josselson has learned for the benefit of future generations of college youths interested in the high cost of going to a university.

"The average date costs a Pitt man $3.75.

"The Pitt co-ed who buys her own cigarets and has her own car, usually "dates" her man (that is, she invites him to dances and furnishes free gas).

"The average fellow rates about one home date to four wherein he takes his girl friend out.

"The range of expenditures vary from a 'crash' which may cost $10 or more to a 'drop in' which is all on the one visited."

AID PLEDGED BY TRADE BOARDS

Campaign for Contributions Announced, Mass Meeting Planned in Near Future

Financial support in the fight of the Allied Boards of Trade fight for lower bus rates and improved transportation in the Pittsburgh district was pledged at a meeting of constituent bodies in the Congress of Women's Clubs last night. A campaign for $1 contributions from each member of their organizations was announced by representatives of several boards.

The meeting approved plans for a transit survey, including the street car and bus systems. It was presented by C. V. Shoup, chairman of the transportation committee of the Allied Boards of Trade. Provision is made for employment of engineers who will testify at a continuation of hearings before the Public Service Commission.

Progress made in the fight to reduce fares of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company was reported by William G. Negley and George P. Kountz, attorneys for the allied boards.

Advisibility of arranging a mass meeting or dinner to stimulate public interest in the transportation fight will be decided at a meeting of the financial committee in the near future, it was announced. A resolution was passed inviting all civic organizations in the Pittsburgh district to take part in the move for improved transportation facilities.

Following the business session Mrs. Della Hershey, secretary of the Voting Machine Association, explained the move for voting machines in Allegheny County, and obtained signatures of the officers and delegates of the organizations represented at the meeting to a statement pledging support of the campaign.

MISSION MEET OPENS HERE

The nineteenth semi-annual fall convention of the Women's Missionary Synod of Pittsburgh opened today at Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, East End, with a large number of delegates present.

Devotional services featuring this morning's session were conducted by Mrs. David E. Maxwell, of Pittsburgh. Speakers included Mrs. G. A. Fry, Pittsburgh, and Miss Eleanor Demmler, Evans City, newly-elected president of the synod.

Presentation of young women's work was conducted by Mrs. C. B. Hoeninger, of Ben Avon Heights.

The devotional service at the afternoon session was conducted by J. I. Shaud, Pittsburgh, while thank offerings were given by the women's society of Mt. Zion Church.

Miss Elsie Ottom, missionary to Africa, was the principal speaker. More than 100 churches were represented and delegates from 200 societies took part in the conference.

Emsworth Woman Sues for Divorce

Gladys A. Armstrong, 214 Plumer avenue, Emsworth, filed a divorce libel in Common Pleas Court today, desiring her freedom from Ralph B. Armstrong, 429 Collins avenue. The marriage did not last long, the wedding taking place June 28, 1928, and the separation January 26, last. She charges indignities.

Leases Estate to Widow

MILKMAN, CAB DRIVER ROBBED

Police today were searching for two Negroes in connection with two holdups shortly after midnight.

Gus Suck, of 768 Loretta street, a driver for the Otto Milk Company, reported to detectives that the Negro who held him up in front of 1302 Wylie avenue, robbed him of $5 and fired a shot at him when he pursued him down the street.

Francis Imhoff, of 1213 Juniata street, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $13 at Spring Garden avenue and School street by a Negro who had engaged his cab a short time before.

Husband in Jail, Wife Asks Divorce

Her husband having been sent to the Western Penitentiary, Mildred Williams, 4424 Calvin street, wants a divorce from Willard G. Williams. A few months after their marriage in March, 1925, Williams was convicted of robbery and sentenced not less than five years nor more than 10 years to prison and at last accounts was at Rockview.

Desertion Charged In Husband's Suit

Harry C. Workmaster, well known business man, 2938 West Liberty avenue, Dormont, filed a libel in Common Pleas Court charging his wife, Ethel W. Workmaster, with desertion. The couple have been married since June, 1909. The wife deserted him in April, 1926, the libel says.

Scott High School to Give Letters for Scholarship

It is not necessary to be an athletic star to win a letter at Scott High School of Braddock. A student at that institution, by maintaining an "A" or "B" rating in the classroom throughout the year, will be able to display a gold or silver "S" as a reward for their studious efforts.

Leaders at Scott High agree with the general attitude that members of the football, basketball, track and other teams should receive special honor and commendation for their individual work along those lines, but they also feel that the importance of the athlete to the school has been somewhat overemphasized in the past.

The majority of pupils, it is pointed out, cannot excel athletically, be managers of squads, nor members of debating and oratorical teams, all of which activities carry with them letters, trophies or other symbols of recognition.

Their only chance of distinction has been in the classroom, and earnest endeavor in that field has had to be more or less its own reward. The school feels that there should be a distinct inspirational value to the letter awards for scholarship.

Air Reports by Will Rogers

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 31.

I knew they would find that so-called lost plane in Arizona. Let me tell you something about these transcontinental air lines as they are conducted today. Getting to the destination don't mean anything. It's the safety of the passengers that is their whole consideration.

In the last few weeks I have made two trips to the East and back on both the Western Air Express and the Transcontinental Air Transport. One time they set us down in Amarillo when there was bad weather ahead in Wichita, Kan., 300 miles away.

And it's the same with all organized passenger lines all over this country. If there is a safer mode of transportation I have never found it. Even horseback I got bucked off the other day.

Yours, WILL.

EX-BOOTLEGGER LOCATED IN 2-DAY HUNT

Charles Berger, North Side fruit merchant and former bootlegger, who is facing a charge of perjury preferred by United States Attorney John D. Meyer before the United States commissioner, growing out of testimony he gave the case of Joseph Engelsberg, Hill politician, is reported to be in a serious condition in the Mercy Hospital.

This was learned yesterday by Constable W. J. Duncan, of Alderman T. A. Flanigan's office, who has a bail piece for the arrest and surrender of Berger to the United States marshal.

BONDSMAN APPEALS

He was seeking to make service on Berger for Harry Schwartz, of Squirrel Hill, who was on Berger's bond for $10,000, and wants to be released from it.

The purpose for seeking a vacation of the bond was not divulged by the bondsman. Schwartz had furnished the bond on October 21, a few minutes after Berger's arrest upon leaving the court room of Judge Nelson McVicar, where he had repudiated testimony he gave at the trial of Engelsberg, in May, when the latter was convicted of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law. It was given by Berger during the hearing of a motion by Engelsberg for a new trial.

TWO-DAY SEARCH ENDS

Berger went to the hospital Monday, the day before he was scheduled to appear before the commissioner on the perjury charge. At the hospital Constable Duncan was told that Berger was suffering from brain fever, which might have been caused either from diabetes or from an attack made on him several weeks ago by highwaymen. The constable lodged a detainer against Berger with the hospital authorities.

The finding of Berger in the hospital ended a two-day search by the constable, who said he had been unable to learn his whereabouts at Berger's place of business or his home. At the hearing last week Berger testified he gave false testimony at the trial of Engelsberg under duress of government attorneys, which allegation was emphatically denied by Federal Prosecutor Meyer and his assistants.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

$25,000 ASKED FOR EYE LOSS

A school gymnasium mishap having caused Paul Miller, aged 12, of Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, to lose the sight of his left eye, the father, Edgar E. Miller, has brought suit against the Turtle Creek school board for $25,000 damages. It is alleged that while playing in the gymnasium March 1, 1928, the boy ran against a wire which protruded five inches from a window it fastened and tore the eyelid, disfiguring him.

"Il Trovatore" at Mosque Monday

The Pittsburgh Grand Opera Company will present "Il Trovatore," the second attraction of the season, Monday night in Syria Mosque. There will be a cast of 150 Pittsburgh singers in the chorus as well as a corps de ballet and 47 Pittsburgh Symphony Society players.

Guglielmo Somma, conductor of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, will conduct the opera here. He replaces Aldo Franchetti, who will go to Philadelphia Sunday night for the opening of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company in that city. Somma will arrive here tomorrow to take charge of the rehearsals of the chorus and coaching of the second principals, and will also direct the final dress rehearsals Monday.

SPOUSE KILLED, $25,000 ASKED

Mrs. Eleanor Bartley, Phillipsburgh, has filed suit against Albert F. Kaeschele, of near Carnegie, for $25,000 damages as a result of an automobile collision in which her husband, Reginald R. Bartley, was killed.

The accident happened July 22 last, she says through her counsel, A. M. Oliver, in Washington pike, the husband dying soon after he was removed to a hospital. Mrs. Bartley was injured about the legs and body.

KUHNS REFUSED NEW INCOME TAX TRIALS

Former Coal Administrator, Brother Face $10,000 Fine Or Year in Jail for Fraud

David W. Kuhn, of Pittsburgh, government coal administrator in this district during the World War, and his brother, Attorney Harry A. Kuhn, of New York, convicted December 14, 1928, in Federal Court, on a charge of filing fraudulent income tax returns for the year 1923, were denied a new trial in an opinion handed down by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker.

Under the income tax act the defendants are each liable to a $10,000 fine, or one year in jail, or both.

The government at the trial charged David Kuhn with having a net income in 1923 of $173,881.36, upon which there was a government tax of $47,558.76, but his return only recorded a gross income of $3,319.50. Harry Kuhn, the government charged, had a net income of $182,260, subject to a tax of $51,068.74, but his return showed a gross income of $2,929.50.

In the prosecution of the case the government was represented by United States Attorney John D. Meyer and Attorney John A. McCann, special representative in the Pittsburgh district of general counsel for the Internal Revenue Bureau, and other government attorneys.

Supported Mate, Wife Says, Now Asks Divorce

Vera L. Davis, 25, beauty operator, 5432 Elmer street, who has asked Judge James R. Macfarlane to divorce her from Russell M. Davis, says she is tired of supporting him.

It developed Mrs. Davis was paying the costs. They eloped in 1920 to Wellsburg, W. Va., when she was 15. Two years later they parted. She says he wanted her to contribute even more to the household expenses.

HOME FOR AGED BAN REMAINS

Council has rejected an ordinance changing the zoning classification of property in an exclusive residence district to permit the erection of a Home for the Aged.

The site is bounded by the east line of lots Nos. 6 to 9 in the Wellesley road plan, the southerly line of lot No. 15, the westerly line of lot No. 38 and the northerly line of Booth place.

An affirmative recommendation was returned on an ordinance changing the classification of property at the northwest corner of Benton avenue and Parviss street from a "B" to an "A" residence district. The land fronts 85 feet on Benton avenue and 225 feet on Parviss street.

Approval was given also to a measure changing the classification of property bounded by Kaercher street, Bigelow street, Hessin street and an unnamed alley 100 feet west of Bigelow street from an "A" residence to a commercial district.

TURNKEY BALKS SUICIDE OF PRISONER

Cuts Belt With Which Man Claiming to Be Slayer, Attempts to Hang Self

The alleged attempt of Albert Wilson, 42, a Negro, of 1 Shipman street, to hang himself in a cell in the Central Police Station was frustrated last night when Turnkey M. B. Callen cut a belt which the Negro had used for a noose, a police report said.

Detectives Jerry Deasy and Harry Scott said they arrested Wilson after he had told them of being wanted for the murder of a Negro at Maysville, Ky., in 1913. He told the detectives that he had shot the man to death during a crap game, and that he killed another Negro for which he served a term of five years, and of having been an inmate of several other penal institutions for other offenses, they said.

Wilson was treated at the Allegheny General Hospital, after which he was returned to his cell pending investigation of his story.

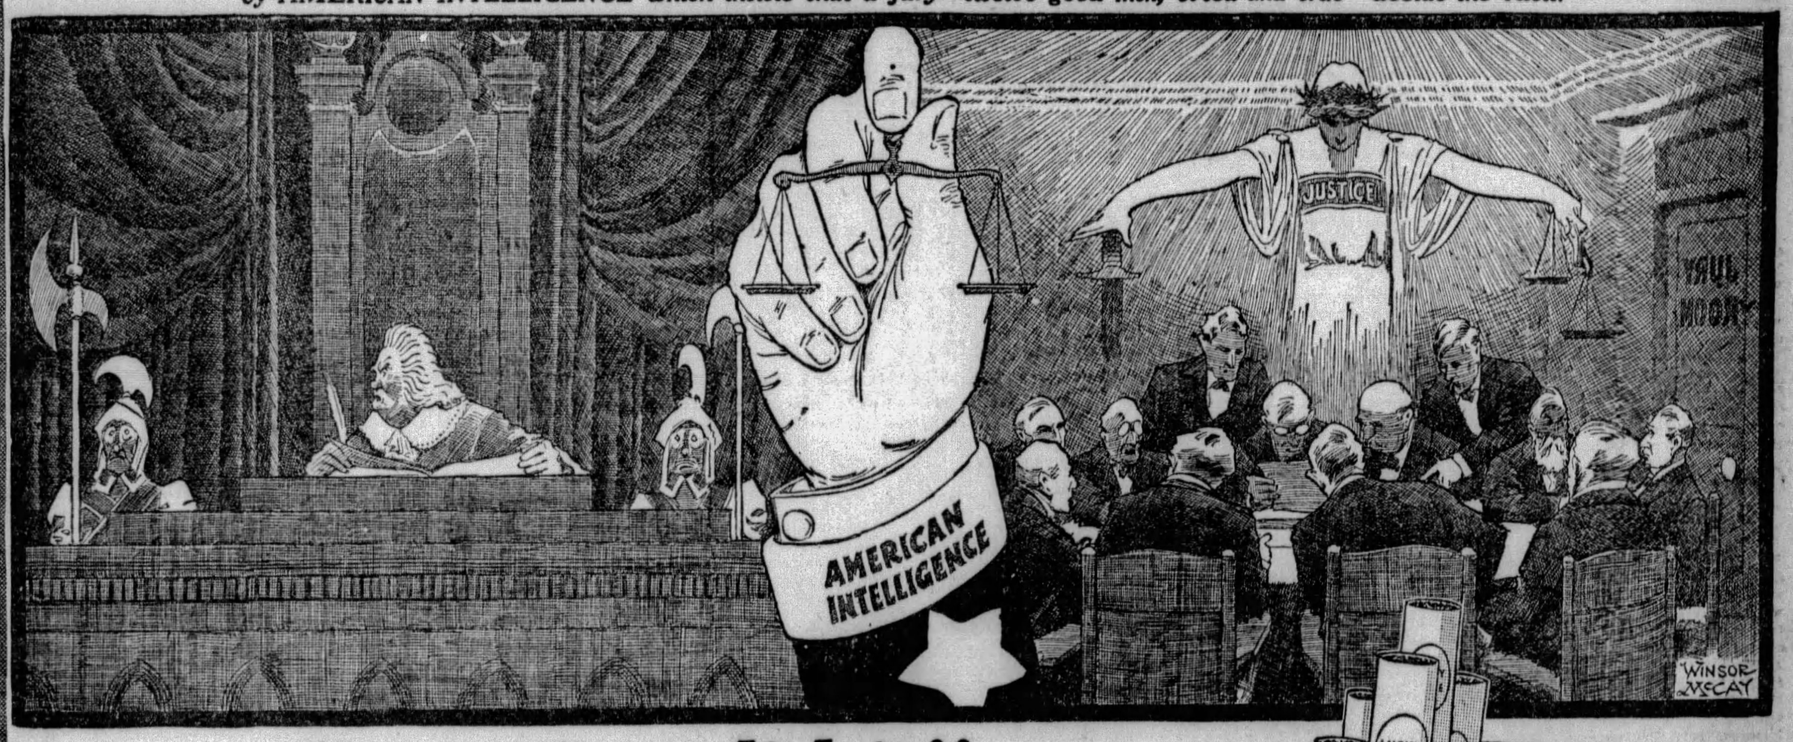
Forest Hills Class Will Hold Party

The Berean class of Forest Hills Presbyterian Church will hold a birthday party tomorrow night in the church social rooms. Adam Satt, magician, will entertain with feats of magic, members will present a program and lunch will be served.

Justice Is Not Blind!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Justice is no longer dispensed by ignorant and individual domination. Another ancient prejudice stands convicted by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE which insists that a jury "twelve good men, tried and true" decide the facts.



"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

10TH STREET BRIDGE PROPERTY LOSS ESTIMATE ASKED

COUNCIL ACTS TO GET COST OF DAMAGES

County Plans Nearly Ready, City Must Prepare Site For Approaches to Span

Council has authorized the law department to estimate damages to property that may be disturbed in building approaches for the proposed county bridge to replace the present South Tenth Street span.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, advised Council yesterday that county engineers had about completed plans for the new structure and that the county commissioners soon would submit an agreement ordinance dividing the cost of the project.

The county expects the city to establish a uniform grade that now varies on South Tenth street between Muriel and Bingham streets, as a preliminary step in building the southerly approach. Corrections in grade also will have to be made at Second avenue and the Armstrong tunnels before the northly approach is begun.

Custom has established the practice of the city paying the property damage expense when the county builds a bridge within the city limits.

PARADE OPENS AIR SERVICE

A parade from the William Penn Hotel to Bettis Field at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow will inaugurate the new passenger line of the Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., between Pittsburgh and New York, with Philadelphia a regular stop.

Thomas A. Dunn, Democratic and Good Will candidate for mayor, will deliver a short address at the field, but will not be able to make the inaugural trip. The passengers booked on the first flight are Gurdeon Flagg, assistant manager of the William Penn; Postmaster George W. Gosser; Capt. Louis T. Barry, representing the Aero Club of Pittsburgh; A. H. Stowe, of the Chamber of Commerce; Oliver M. Kaufmann, Edgar Kaufmann, Francis A. Keating, and Mrs. Louis McPhetridge Thaden and Mrs. F. Le Moyne Page, the latter two acting as co-pilots.

ROAD CONCRETE COMPLETED

The last concrete was poured today on the new link of the Perry highway between Pittsburgh and West View.

By November 12 the 30-foot roadway will be opened for traffic, according to engineers. The West View Board of Trade has set November 23 as the tentative date for celebrating the completion of the highway, the principal feature of which will be a banquet in the Highland Country Club.

Council to Visit Hershberger Plan

Council will make an inspection tomorrow of the Hershberger plan of lots, Noblestown road and Park avenue, to determine the validity of a claim for $23,000 for damages to property arising from the creation of a street which is said to have shut off the easement of two other thoroughfares in the site.

Beechview Women To Serve Supper

A supper will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Beechview Methodist Episcopal Church, in the church parlors, Hampshire avenue and Methyl street, tomorrow night. Mrs. S. D. Means and Mrs. C. V. Roeper will be in charge.

95, TAKES 6-YEAR JOB

DAVID B. (UNCLE DAVE) OLIVER, 95 TODAY

Mr. Oliver, observing his birthday anniversary today in his home, 1516 Termon avenue, North Side, has just accepted another six-year term on the school board.

David B. Oliver, 95, Sees 6 Years More Service

"Youth faces life in any day or age with about the same attitude of hopefulness.

"The structure of life today, seemingly complicated, is little different than that of 80 years ago.

"The principal thing is to outfit today's boy, or tomorrow's boy, with a substantial public school education."

GETS NEW APPOINTMENT

Mr. Oliver, reappointed last week to a new six-year term as a member of the Board of Public Education, intends to serve it.

"And if I'm able, and the judges consider me again, I'll serve another six-year term when that expires." Such is the optimism of the "young" nonagenarian.

"I've served so long on the board that I don't remember the number of years," he said. "It's a long time.

"I attend the meetings fairly regularly, and it is one of my chief interests. I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty."

SHUNS GOLF

Asked if he intended to take up golf, he smiled and replied that "my nearest attempt at golf was to follow a friend around the course."

When it was suggested that maybe he was not old enough to try the game, he laughingly agreed.

"My chief interest is in reading. My eyes are just as sharp as they ever were. And I enjoy automobile riding. I'd like to buy good cars that last, say, 20 years, for I believe in buying good things. But it would be very difficult to get one to last that long."

Asked if he liked innovations in education, he shook his head.

"I'm for the three R's. And as long as the youth of the country absorb these and get a substantial public school education, they are equipped to meet any conditions they may meet. This day and age is no more complicated than when I was a boy. I quit school at 14 and went to work.

THINKS WORLD GOOD

"I thought it was a good world then. I think it is a good world now.

"Of course, college is necessary if one is to enter a profession."

Mr. Oliver, distinguished for his work in public education in the Pittsburgh area, has been honored by having the big high school in his own district, the Brighton road section, named for him. He himself caused his own street to be named Termon.

"My father came from that town in Ireland," he remarked. "It's a pretty town, and I thought this section enough like it, when the city expanded this far, to ask that the name be perpetuated here."

Presbyterian Men Meet Here Nov. 11

Five hundred delegates from Presbyterian churches in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia will attend the annual convention of Presbyterian Men, to be held November 11 in the Fort Pitt Hotel. Four sessions are scheduled for the one-day program. George E. Campbell, president of the Elders' Association of the Pittsburgh Presbytery, is chairman of the program.

KLINE SCORES DUNN IN RADIO ADDRESS

Flays Two-Party Candidacy; McGovern to Talk for Democrat on Air Tonight

The Democratic candidate for mayor, sending out postcards asking voters to support him on the Good Government ticket, is ashamed of his party, Mayor Charles H. Kline, seeking re-election on the Republican slate, declared last night in a radio address from KDKA.

"Examine one of these cards and you will see that the so-called Good Government ticket is the same as the Democratic ticket," said Kline. "This is deception of the rankest kind on the part of the Democratic candidate. Under a false cloak he seeks to have you elect him and his Democratic associates."

The Mayor also asserted Pittsburgh is the cleanest city, morally, in the country.

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern will take the air from KQV at 7:15 tonight in behalf of Thomas A. Dunn, Democratic and Good Government mayoralty aspirant.

The Kline radio campaign will be continued from WJAS at 6:45 o'clock tomorrow night, the speakers being Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier, vice chairman of the Republican County Committee, and the Mayor.

Swissvale Rotary Holds Ladies' Day

Yesterday was "Ladies' Day" at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club, of Swissvale. The wives of the members attended the luncheon, at which R. L. Hutchinson, pastor of the South Side Presbyterian Church, was speaker. The club passed a motion to entertain the Swissvale High School football team at its next meeting, and to invite Coach Robert Waddell, of Carnegie Tech, to make the address of the day.

CLERK SWORN INTO U. S. BAR

Charles I. Houston, 24, clerk in the office of J. Wood Clark, clerk of the United States district court, was sworn in as a member of the bar of the court. The motion for his admittance was made before Judge R. M. Gibson by Mr. Clark, who also administered the oath.

C. I. Houston

After entering the government service October 15, 1926, Mr. Houston attended the night sessions of Duquesne University and graduated at law last spring. He was admitted to practice in September by the Supreme Court. Mr. Houston is a graduate of Westminister College and resides at the downtown Y. M. C. A.

George Lakos reported to police today that during the night a thief gained access to his restaurant at 1723 Penn avenue through a rear window and stole $28.

REUNION OPENS ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAMS

One Hundred Eleventh Vets To Hold Three Sessions; Banquet, Dances Arranged

A three-day reunion of the One Hundred and Eleventh Infantry Regiment, which opens in the Gen. A. J. Logan Armory, Thackery and Bayard streets, Saturday, November 9, will open Pittsburgh's observance of Armistice Day. The day will be given over to registration, with a banquet in Webster Hall in the evening.

A business meeting and smoker will be held in the armory the following day, with company and reunion dinners in the evening. The infantry will compose the Third Division of the Armistice Day parade the following day.

V. F. W. BANQUET

Allegheny County members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a banquet in the Fort Pitt Hotel Saturday night, November 9, when honor guests will be H. K. Duff, of Lansing, Mich., national commander-in-chief; James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, department commander, and past commanders of the organization.

At 7:45 p. m. the following day Pittsburgh members of the Canadian Legion will conduct memorial services in Trinity Episcopal Church, Sixth avenue. The service will be in charge of Bishop Alexander Mann, assisted by the Rev. Dr. P. G. Kammerer.

DINNER AND DANCE

The second annual dinner and dance of the W. Ralph McNulty Post No. 214, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held Monday night, November 11, in Webster Hall.

A. Fred Lofgren will be chairman of the affair. National Commander Duff will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be State Commander Van Zandt, Mayor Charles H. Kline, State Senators M. G. Leslie and James J. Coyne and Congressman P. J. Sullivan.

HOTEL RAIDED ON NORTH SIDE BY DRY MEN

Partly-Filled Wine Bottle Confiscated; 8 Saloons, Club, Restaurant Visited

Confiscation of liquor and wine was reported by prohibition agents and constables in raids on eight saloons, a club, restaurant and hotel yesterday.

In a raid on a hotel at 118 Anderson street, the agents reported finding a partly-filled bottle of wine, and releasing Charles G. Lane, alleged proprietor, on his own recognizance.

GIN IN CLUB

Thomas Costella, 24, of 3890 Fifth avenue, was released on a $1,000 bond following a raid on a club on the second floor of that address, in which large seizures of gin and whisky were made, according to the raiders.

Raiding a restaurant at 3001 Penn avenue, the officers said they confiscated nine quarts of moonshine. Martin Turich was released on his own recognizance.

SALOONS RAIDED

Saloons raided and persons arrested according to the agents' reports were at 1318 Federal street, Frank Killen; 6486 Frankstown avenue, Ralph Santur; 1130 Progress street, Jakov Dzelalia, 922 Tripoli street, R. J. Graham; 408 Chestnut street, Nick Radovic; 306 Chestnut street, Anton Mausich; 1742 Eckert street, Charles Stepkovic, Sr., and Charles Stepkovic, Jr., and Spring Garden and Fernleaf streets, J. J. Stalder and Eugene Stalder.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women

DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripes. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by drugstores. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drugstore in the world.

FLAVOR!

Volumes could be written about the reasons for Kroger Coffees' popularity and superiority. We could tell about our reputation as quality buyers—how we receive the green berries direct from plantations—the care we take in blending and roasting—and how carefully we limit the time that coffee remains in stores to assure that prime requisite of good coffee, absolute freshness. But you are interested chiefly in getting a drink of finest flavor. In this we let Kroger Coffees speak for themselves, and they speak most eloquently. There's a Kroger Coffee to suit each taste and purse.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Debutante Luncheon Nov. 13

NOVEMBER, even though it's the threshold to bleak winter, is going to be looked forward to this year, now that so many events have been planned for its days. And the chillier November winds are and the cloudier November skies are, the gayer social life will become.

Affairs honoring the debutante come first of all in November, and then weddings of marked distinction and Thanksgiving entertaining.

ADDED to the long, long list of November social events is a luncheon that Mrs. E. H. Brainard, of Woodland road and Wilkins avenue, will give for Margaret Rolfe Berger, debutante daughter of Mrs. William Arthur Berger, of Copeland street, on November 13.

Tomorrow Mrs. Charles Howard Johnston and her daughter, Virginia Louise Johnston, of Beechwood boulevard, will give a buffet luncheon for Margaret, I mentioned some days ago.

EVERYONE is finding the series of Monday night supper dances the Pittsburgh Free Dispensary Aid Society is sponsoring most attractive. Monday night the first dance was held, and there'll be three more on the coming three Monday evenings in the urban room of the William Penn Hotel.

And although members of the society are acting as hostesses, the dances, especially popular with after-the-theater parties, are open to the public.

On the coming Monday evening the hostesses will be Elizabeth Leovy, the president; Mrs. George Kelley, III, Mrs. Reginald G. Quaile, Mrs. Thomas Orr, Marjorie Kimball, Mrs. T. H. Nimick, Mrs. Samuel Bartwell, Mrs. Jack Bissell, Josephine Nicola, Evelyn Evans and Helen Leovy.

And there's a rumor that some of the theatrical folks will come themselves, and give impromptu entertainments as they did the past Monday evening.

TOMORROW night will find many of our society folk at Syria Mosque for the annual visit of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. And many social leaders will, as usual, entertain box parties, to hear Dr. Serge Koussevitsky's orchestra of 110 players.

Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Ogden M. Edwards, Mrs. William Watson Smith, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Holland, the H. H. McClintics will have box parties, I know.

And so will Mrs. Horace Forbes Baker, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, Mrs. H. C. Cooper, Mrs. George E. Tener, Mrs. William M. McKelvy, Mrs. James Edward Lewis, Mrs. George A. Harwood, Mrs. Samuel McClay, Mrs. A. L. Humphrey, Mrs. H. K. Hitchcock, Mrs. Daniel M. Clemson, and Mrs. George P. Bassett, Jr.

Others to have box parties will include Mrs. Ralph Flinn, Mrs. Walter F. Schleiter, Mrs. John W. Lawrence, Mrs. I. Gerald Firth, Mrs. Mortimer Miller, Mrs. W. H. R. Hilliard, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mrs. Charles J. Ramsburg, Mrs. W. W. Wattles, Mrs. R. S. Smith, Mrs. Robert S. McCague, Mrs. John H. Kerr, Mrs. Joseph A. Herron, Mrs. Henry Vaughan Blaxter, and Mrs. Paul B. Straub.

AND the very young set will have its own entertainment on Saturday when the Jean Gros French marionettes, with an illuminated marionette ballet, come to the Carnegie Lecture Hall on Saturday in "Skippy."

Many children will be entertained by their mothers and their mothers' friends. Among those who'll have parties of children are Mrs. Malcolm W. Leech, Mrs. G. H. Singer, Jr., Mrs. Edison Cherrington, Mrs. Horace Forbes Baker, Mrs. Oliver M. Kaufmann, Mrs. J. P. Warner, Mrs. James P. Cassidy, Mrs. W. Gibson, Mrs. R. G. Campbell, Mrs. F. G. Lamb, Mrs. Irwin F. Lehman, Mrs. B. W. Lewis, Mrs. P. L. Logan, Mrs. W. G. McKee, Mrs. H. H. Permar, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Grant B. Shipley and Mrs. Robert T. Wilson.

Mrs. W. A. McCready will also entertain a group of children as will Mrs. James I. Marsh, Mrs. R. J. Wysor, Mrs. William A. Galbraith, Mrs. W. McK. Reed, Mrs. I. W. Wilson, Mrs. T. J. Gillespie, Jr., Mrs. Herbert T. Herr, Jr., Mrs. Edward Davis, Mrs. Lewis T. Collins, Mrs. Frederic Schaefer, Mrs. C. F. Cruciger, Mrs. R. E. Butler, Mrs. R. D. Campbell, Mrs. E. F. Wood, Mrs. R. H. Smith and Mrs. Hart Hillman.

Mrs. T. M. Jones III will be there, too, in the role of hostess; Mrs. C. D. Marshall, Mrs. Harry Koch, Mrs. Arthur Scully, Mrs. Edward J. Diebold, Mrs. Harmar Denny, Jr., Mrs. Gregg Dodds, Mrs. E. J. McCague, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Jr., Mrs. Robert Frank, Mrs. D. W. Glass and Mrs. Edward Tabor.

NEW entertainments are being planned for Frances Reed, debutante daughter of the junior James Hay Reeds, of Castleman place, who will make her debut at a tea dance her father and mother will give Thanksgiving afternoon in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. On December 2, Frances' aunt, Mrs. John G. Frazer, of Amberson avenue, will give a dinner dance for her in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

AN interesting event of yesterday was the tea which Mrs. William M. McKelvy and Mrs. William E. McKelvy gave in the former's home, Fifth avenue, for the latter's daughter Martha. The McKelvy home was decorated with autumn flowers and cibotium ferns. The guest of honor, in black chiffon velvet, made with a full, long skirt and yoke of real lace, received with her mother, who wore Nile green metallic cloth, and her aunt, Mrs. William M. McKelvy, who wore mulberry chiffon velvet.

AND I hear that Mrs. William T. McCullough is planning a November luncheon in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William T. McCullough, Jr., formerly Martha Montgomery Jenkins. The date has not been set yet.

And, by the way, the masquerade dance Mrs. McCullough and her daughter Betty were to have given last night, was canceled because of a multiplicity of dates, and will be given propably in the spring.

STILL another dance is being planned for the school set. The J. Hanson Roses and the Henry Vaughan Blaxters will give a dance in the University Club the evening of December 30 for Dorothy Bonbright Blaxter and for Gretchen Elizabeth Rose.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. M. KESSLER, of McKeesport, announces the marriage of their daughter, Miss Frieda Kessler, to Samuel Fisher, of McKeesport, which took place Monday at 2 o'clock in the study of Rabbi B. A. Lichter.

MISS LA RUE GARDNER, of Teece avenue, Bellevue, entertained recently in the Congress of Clubs in honor of her sister, Miss Mary Louise Gardner, whose marriage to Alexander Vance Gilliland will be an event of November 15. Miss Dorothy Kerr, of Summit street, Bellevue, entertained Saturday with a bridge-tea in honor of Miss Gardner.

* * *

MISS ELIZABETH CLUGSTON is in charge of candy at the Wilson College theater benefit on Tuesday night at the Pitt, and has several girls aiding her. The proceeds of the benefit are to be used for the Henry Alexander Riddle Memorial Building, a new dormitory on the Wilson campus. The play for the evening, given by the Sharp Players, is a Gay Nineties revival.

THE annual conference of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Pioneers will be held in Pittsburgh November 6 and 7. The convention opens Wednesday. On Thursday a luncheon and meeting will be held in the Keystone Athletic Club and Thursday evening Mrs. Thomas P. Fleeson, president of the society, will give a reception and musicale in her home, South Graham street.

* * *

THE Farm and Garden Club of Ross Township will hold a benefit bake sale in the North Side Market House on Saturday.

THE Divine Providence Alumnae Association will hold its annual fall card party in the Keystone Athletic Club on Saturday afternoon, November 16, at 2:30 o'clock.

Lawrenceville 'Y' Gets New Director

Herbert Rogers has taken up his duties as executive secretary of the Lawrenceville branch of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Rogers has been on the staff of the Buffalo Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Coleman Speaks at Congress

"THE Atlantic Ocean has been bridged by dollars and the people of the United States need a new conception of our relation to the countries where our money is invested. World friendship is a new way of collecting dividends on our investments. America must become internationally minded for economic and ideal reasons." This Dr. John W. Coleman, of Geneva College, told the Congress of Clubs at its quarterly meeting yesterday.

Dr. Coleman's talk came as the chief program feature of the afternoon session at which there was also a delightful program of music by Elsie Breese Mitchell, who sang, and Mrs. Ruth M. Colley, 'cellist, who was accompanied by Mrs. Warren V. Hartz. Frank Kennedy accompanied Mrs. Mitchell.

The morning session was given over to reports and forecasts of the various departments and committees, which brought out strikingly the extent of Congress activities. Mrs. D. Edwin Miller announced that her department of education now has 15 working committees and that at its November meeting (on the thirteenth) education week would be observed. Henry Klonower, director of the teachers' bureau of the State Department of Public Instruction, will be the speaker and the city, county and parochial schools will be represented by Dr. William M. Davidson, Dr. C. E. Dickey and the Rev. Paul Campbell.

Senator Frank Harris spoke in favor of the voting machine.

TWO prominent Pittsburgh artists, Christian Walter and his daughter, Nancy Walter Canetta, will be honored at the "friend and neighbor night" which the Avalon Woman's Club has planned for Monday in the high school auditorium.

Paintings by the two honor guests will be on view and a program of entertainment will be given. This will include vocal selections by Harriet Kinley, accompanied by her sister, Miss Grace Kinley; violin solos by Miss Muriel Dils, with Miss Mary Urmy, accompanying, and a talk on "Pennsylvania Artists," by Mrs. Canetta. Later Mrs. J. W. Caughey, chairman of the program committee, will present Mr. and Mrs. Walter and Mr. and Mrs. Canetta. The Girls' Club, auxiliary to the Woman's Club, will meet Tuesday evening in Utility Hall.

THE speaker for tomorrow afternoon's meeting of Dormont New Century Club in Dormont Masonic Hall will be Mrs. Robert N. Montgomery, who will have as her subject "Impressions of Foreign Lands." Mrs. Montgomery is a graduate of Oberlin College, was for a time a member of its faculty and has spent much time abroad. Miss Ethel Barth, soprano, will sing, with Mrs. C. W. Kinder accompanying.

THE Tabernacle Society of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women will hold its fifth annual card party at McCreery's Saturday afternoon, November 9. Miss Ellen McCarty is general chairman.

P. C. C. W. Bridge Club will have a benefit card party at the Council House Tuesday afternoon, at which bridge, "500" and euchre will be played.

ITS annual no-accident month luncheon and rally will be held Tuesday in the Congress of Clubs by the home safety division of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council. E. J. Kreh, manager of the accident prevention bureau, Duquesne Light Company, will be the speaker, and Miss Frances Finnell will direct a demonstration by the Girls' First Aid Team of the light company. Mrs. Elsie Breese Mitchell will be soloist.

A BENEFIT card party for the permanent scholarship loan fund of the Congress of Clubs has been planned for Friday afternoon, November 8. Mrs. J. F. Kirkpatrick, chairman of the committee, and her aides, Mrs. John S. Sloan, Mrs. William Duff, Dr. Zoe Allison Johnston, Mrs. John R. Hermes and Mrs. D. N. Bulford, have charge of the party.

A GIFT SHOP featuring articles made at the Gatlinburg Settlement School will be conducted in connection with the annual benefit bridge which the Pittsburgh Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi will hold Saturday, December 7, at Webster Hall. Miss Ferne Wein and Miss Ruth Trimble will be co-chairmen in charge of the shop.

NEW CASTLE, Oct. 31.—"At no time has the D. A. R. advocated a big Navy. It has opposed an impoverished Navy and wants for the country only an American Navy. The society has its own policies and none that can be connected with any under-cover propaganda anywhere. It is content to stand with the American Legion, the Women's Patriotic Conference and those mothers and fathers everywhere, who know what an unwanted war has meant, who fear any war and who will avoid all war, if it is left to them."

The above was part of the address given by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, at the thirty-third annual conference of the Pennsylvania Daughters in three-day session here. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis' address tonight is the concluding program feature of the conference.

COURT DUQUESNE, No. 659, Catholic Daughters of America, will have one of its largest affairs when the fall dance and card party takes place Wednesday evening in the old Wainwright mansion, Penn and Dallas avenues. Mrs. John A. Kapp and Mrs. Harry E. Kapp will be the hostesses of the evening. * * *

AT the annual conference of the Allegheny County Parent-Teacher Association in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, these officers were elected: Mrs. O. B. Hughes, president; Mrs. Saul Lavine, Mrs. R. E. Kimball, Mrs. Bertram Handloser, J. W. Hoover, Dr. R. G. Deevers, Mrs. S. K. Cunningham and Mrs. W. E. Brosius, vice presidents; Mrs. C. C. Mechling, corresponding, and Mrs. A. C. Ackenheil, recording secretary; Mrs. H. F. Daley, treasurer. The speakers for the afternoon were Dr. H. J. Benz, director of the city department of public health; Miss Lucy Glass, supervisor of extension education, state Department of Public Instruction, and Mrs. Laura Holland McDonald, Allegheny County director of Girl Scouts.

MRS. WALTER M'FARLAND, newly-elected president of the Women's Community Association of the Twenty-seventh Ward, will announce her committees at the monthly meeting to be held Monday night in the John Morrow School.

SLEEVES ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION OF COUTURIERS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—Arms and the mannequin! There has been much interest lately, concentrated on the sleeve, and at nearly every collection, when dresses are being displayed, attention is drawn to some unusual treatment and detail of the sleeve. Novel cuffs, embroidered or beaded sleeves, gatherings, cartridge folds, and tucks are some of the distinguishing features we have observed on sleeves lately, often in marked contrast to an otherwise simply treated frock. We have also heard rumors of something that resembles a leg of mutton sleeve. But the fact remains, that sleeves are very important this season.

THE man who names the Pullman cars must have a relation over here, who specializes in finding titles for sartorial creations. He is, fortunately a little more artistic and original, and seems to be at his best when naming evening frocks and pyjamas. We show today a Lelong pyjama costume entitled "Gollywog," which you must admit is quite a nice title even if there is not much reason for it. And now to describe this delightful lounging costume. It has a sleeveless tunic and pyjamas of ivory marocain and a coat of ivory taffeta with a large design in shades of gray and rose. The coat, long sleeve panels and collar are faced with smoke gray velvet. A rather stiff circular flounce edges the coat. The collar knots at one side of the back and has two hanging ends.

ARDANSE used bottle green crepe marocain for the afternoon frock also depicted here. The close fitting bodice slightly bloused at the natural waistline is in one piece with the upper part of the skirt. Circular godets of unequal length form the lower half of the skirt. Here you see sleeves of unusual cut in marked contrast to the rest of the design. These sleeves are set in the shoulder raglan fashion, are extremely wide below the elbow and are drawn in to a closely buttoned cuff. Large silk covered buttons fasten the blouse at the side, and are the sole trimming.

GUARD THE DANGER LINE

BABY TEETH are vitally important—many do not realize how important they really are. Upon them depends the sound development of the permanent teeth and, to a large extent, the development and pleasing shape of the jaws. No mother can begin too soon the proper care of these "first" teeth—for it can mean much to the child later on.

Protect them carefully . . . especially at The Danger Line—that thin, delicate edge where gums meet teeth, and where so much decay occurs. Be certain the dentifrice you select can not only clean, but can neutralize the acids of decay. Squibb's Dental Cream is made with 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, more than enough of this safe, effective antacid to furnish protection.

And Squibb's is pure. It contains nothing that could cause the slightest harm if swallowed. No harsh astringents, no grit. Children love its taste. It costs only 40c for a large tube at any drug store. Get a tube. Its regular use will help your child have good teeth through life.

PANTHER CENTER FACES TOUGH TEST

YOUNG RALPH DAUGHERTY, Pitt's sophomore center star, will go into the football game against Ohio State in the Stadium on Saturday with gobs of responsibility hanging about his ears. For if he does not come through and hold up his end against the invaders, the Pitt offensive is apt to break down, with the result that the Panthers' record of not having been defeated nor tied this season may be knocked flooey by the Buckeyes, who have been pointed for this particular contest.

Ralph Daugherty

Daugherty will be opposed to one of the huskiest pivot men in the Western Conference and one of the best. Fred Barratt, who plays center for Ohio State, weighs close to 240 pounds, and will have nearly 60 pounds on the Pitt center. Daugherty strips at about 186.

Consistently accurate passing is absolutely essential to the success of Pitt's attack. The backs can't get away fast on those reverses and triple passes unless they receive the ball from center as quickly and accurately as possible. Daugherty will have to give his best if he is to hold up against the hefty Barratt. It will be the youngster's hardest test to date.

BARRATT shifts to a different position on the defense, playing right guard, with Selby, the right guard on the offense, moving over to the left side of the line. Placed thusly, Barratt will be right in the road of a lot of Pitt's plays, and will be in position to give Daugherty plenty of trouble.

Of course, Ralph will be given a lot of help by the Panther guards, Capt. Luby DiMeolo and Ray Montgomery. Both like to play against bigger men, for they are quick, hard-charging players, who know just exactly how to handle heftier opponents and handle 'em correctly. It may be a tough afternoon for Daugherty, but it will be just as tough for Brother Barratt.

BABE HERMAN, Brooklyn outfielder, was not taken very seriously for some time after he joined the Robins in 1926. Even the scribes in the home city of the Dodgers were continually making wise cracks at his expense. One of them, for instance, said that he ought to be declared the most valuable player in the National League, because he had "helped seven clubs."

During the last couple of years, however, Herman has advanced rapidly in hitting and base running, at least, and in the 1929 campaign he gave Lefty O'Doul a hard fight right up to the wire for the batting championship of the senior circuit.

Max Carey

IT DEVELOPS that Max Carey, former Pirate captain and outfielder, has been the main factor behind Herman's improvement. The Babe himself is the authority for this statement. Asked by Tommy Holmes to what he attributed his better batting and base-running, Herman replied that he owed it all to Carey, that Max's advice and coaching had remedied his defects and taught him how to hit and run the sacks properly. Carey never was a world-beater batsman himself, but he appears to have the knack of improving the style of others. Herman, by the way, has taken the place of Jess Petty, Pirate pitcher, as Al Mamaux's partner in a vaudeville skit this season.

EVIDENTLY Mickey Walker, the middleweight champion, belongs to the class of fistic rarities that can thrive on the pace that speedily ends the careers of many other fighters who try to follow it. Not only does Walker enter the ring against good men only at wide intervals, but he pays little attention between bouts to the rules for good condition.

On this account the chances appeared to be against Mickey when he met Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles Tuesday night in defense of his title, particularly as the same Hudkins had given him such a going-over in Chicago last year that many ringsiders thought Ace deserved the decision. Walker looked to be just about as good as ever on Tuesday night, however. It takes a high-class fighter to beat Hudkins eight rounds out of 10. Mickey just can't be figured. When he does get a beating eventually it probably will be administered by some comparative unknown.

THE final details in the special lighting system at Forbes Field for the football game between the Dukes and Geneva tomorrow night will be perfected today. George S. Cahill, of New York, inventor of the system, will join John D. Holahan, the Dukes' graduate business manager, in completing the work.

Indications are that the first college game ever played in this district at night will be a huge success. Manager Holahan reports a heavy advance sale and the crowd in attendance is likely to be the largest that has witnessed a Duke game this fall.

John D. Holahan

THE playing of the Pitt team and the coaching ability and sportsmanship of Jock Sutherland are highly praised by C. E. McBride, prominent football official and sports critic, who served as field judge in the recent game between the Panthers and Nebraska at Lincoln. He says in the Kansas City Star:

"Having watched the Pittsburgh Panthers of 1928 and the rebuilt Panthers of 1929 in the two games against Nebraska, I cannot down the thought that Jock Sutherland rates as one of the foremost football coaches in the country. Last year the Pittsburgh eleven was one of the smoothest working elevens imaginable. Again this year the Panthers showed a highly polished and finished team. The play of the eleven was smooth and its drive and speed were fascinating to watch.

"BEFORE the Nebraska game," McBride continues, Coach Sutherland was talking with the officials on the field while the players were warming up. 'Gentlemen,' said the coach of the Panthers, 'I want a clean football game. I have more respect for my men and their safety than I have the desire to win this game.'

"With the Sutherland pre-game request in mind, and liking the sentiment of it, I watched carefully the conduct of the rival players. I've never seen a cleaner football team in action than the Pittsburgh eleven of last Saturday in Lincoln. Evidently, the coach of the Panthers believes in practicing what he preaches."

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association will hold its twenty-fourth annual meeting here on January 1. A conference of the council and executive committee will precede the general meeting.

ENS, BURLEIGH DISPUTE IS VERIFIED

An argument Manager Jewel Ens and Pitcher Burleigh Grimes are reported to have had in the last series of the Pirates in St. Louis, has led to reports that the star hurler would be traded this winter.

Pittsburgh officials today did not deny that the two had words, but they said they had no thought of trading the player at this time.

Grimes, outspoken and very much to the point when he is riled, is said to have resented being taken out of the box by Manager Ens in the contest in question. Burleigh was yanked shortly after he had thrown a ball over second in trying for a double play. Apparently nobody covered the bag.

Burleigh Grimes

Jewel Ens.

NOT TO BE TRADED

Be that as it may, the pitcher is credited with having shown the right spirit after it was all over. A report from Chicago, however, has Grimes listed in a probable trade. The Chicago folks are much interested because they would like to acquire Burleigh and thereby kill two birds with one stone. The ace would be a winner for McCarthy and his presence there would prevent a lot of Cub defeats when they tackled the Pirates.

There is nothing surprising in a wordy argument between a manager and a player, especially when the player is fighting for games after the manner of a Grimes.

Burleigh had more than one argument with Wilbert Robinson in his long career with the Robins. If he thinks he is right he generally voices his feelings to the persons interested. But he always is willing to discuss any point in controversy.

"One never knows what trades he will make provided he can get what he thinks is full value in return, but Grimes is not on the market now," said Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss.

STREET NAMED CARD PILOT

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Gabby Street, coach and scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, was named manager of the team here late yesterday by President Sam Breadon. He succeeds Bill McKechnie, who has signed to manage the Braves. Street, for years was Walter Johnson's catcher at Washington. The new Cardinal manager has been in baseball since 1900, but is taking charge of his first major league team. However, he managed minor league squads for nine years, and only once finished out of the first division.

Street was apprised of his selection at his home in Joplin, Mo., by Breadon via long distance telephone, and the former Washington catcher said he would report today to sign a one-year contract. The consideration was not named.

Gabby was born in Huntsville, Ala., September 30, 1883, and played his first professional ball with Hopkinsville in the Kitty League at the age of 16. He was purchased by the Cincinnati Reds in 1904, but in 1906 was sent to San Francisco and was sold the next year to Washington, where he remained until the close of 1911, going to the Yankees for the 1912 season. He was in the Southern League until 1920, when he launched his managerial career. He came to the Cardinals at the start of the 1929 season, as second coach to Manager Billy Southworth.

When McKechnie was recalled by Breadon in midseason to take the Cards' reins, Street became first coach and managed the club on several different times. He declared the Cards would be in the thick of the pennant fight next year, adding "I centainly am tickled that Mr. Breadon has given me this chance, and I'll do everything to prove his selection a successful one."

Street once accomplished the rare feat of catching a ball thrown from the Washington monument, while he was a catcher with the Senators.

Tunney Amends Answer in Mara Suit

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, filed an application in Supreme Court yesterday to amend his answer to the suit of Tim Mara, New York promoter, who seeks $405,000 under an agreement signed prior to Tunney's first bout with Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia in 1926.

The amended answer admitted he entered into a contract whereby Mara was to receive 10 per cent of the purse for the Dempsey match and 25 per cent of his subsequent earnings provided that Tunney won the championship, Mara, in return, was to obtain the title bout for Tunney in New York. It declared any agreements with Mara were null and void because he threatened to use political influence to prevent the bout in New York, if Tunney and Gibson did not sign. It was further pointed out that the bout was not held in New York, as agreed, and that Mara did not hold the licenses in New York and Pennsylvania necessary in order to assist in the promotion of boxing bouts.

CAPACITY CROWD EXPECTED AT BIG GAME

By JESS CARVER.

For a guy who picked Army over Yale, Dempsey both times and Blue Larkspur in the last Kentucky Derby, this correspondent isn't taking MUCH of a licking on the crowd prespectus for the Pitt-Ohio State game. The Stadium is going to hold another capacity crowd Saturday, as many and possibly more, than saw Tech and Notre Dame, which will be at least 15,000 more than I thought would turn out.

Shucks some guys might even Luby DiMeolo, claim a moral victory.

Today is sort of a quiet one, a lull before the storm, as it were, before the fireworks break out in earnest with the arrival of the Ohio State squad tomorrow afternoon. The Panthers have been going about their secret drills on the Pitt practice field, with the few injured members of Dr. Sutherland's cast taking it easy and gradually working their strains and bumps and sore spots into condition.

JOSH MAY START

Pitt's big problems concerns the right half back job. If Josh Williams turns out by Saturday o.k., the tension will be somewhat alleviated. Whitey Walinchus, Josh' understudy, is nursing a badly bruised side, and won't be the freshest rose at Jock's command.

Josh hurt his knee against Nebraska, when one of the hefty Husker tackles nailed him from the side as Josh went cruising off tackle. The knee went out—like a light!—After Bud Moore, the Beau Brummel trainer, had slipped it back in again, Josh tried another sortie through the Nebraska line and, pop!, out it went again.

As Josh so quaintly puts it, it is the first joint he ever had trouble with.

WATCH DI MEOLO

Although Fesler and Donchess, the rival ends, are expected to furnish the individual fireworks of the game, Capt. Luby DiMeolo, Pitt's veteran guard, certainly will be heard from.

Luby, an ambitious young man, who has been playing good football all fall and not getting credit for it, will be leading his team in its greatest game. It is only natural that the captain should play at his best. I mean by that, that he should be outstanding.

According to Johnny Holohan, graduate manager at Duquesne, the advance sale for the night game between his Dukes and Geneva already totals close to 11,000. Given a break in the weather, this game should put close to 20,000 in Forbes Field. The 20,000 will include the members of the local order of pickpockets, who'll turn out to take advantage of the first night game in the city.

Reports from Beaver Falls indicate that the Covenanters will not be able to present the desired strength against the locals. Slim Ransom, giant center, is out for the remainder of the season with a busted mitt, and Ewing, the fast and hard hitting halfback, is so banged up that it is to be doubted if he will be able to start.

Coach Flenniken (still talking of Geneva) plans a general shakeup, moving Temerario back to center from quarterback and putting the signal barking job up to Weigle, Joe Preece, a fullback ever since pretzel were given curves, may trade jobs with Captain Davis, who has been playing end.

TRIMMED DOWN

It was bad news to Herb McCracken and his Lafayette Leopards when they learned that Captain Forrest Douds, Wash-Jeff all-America tackle star would be able to play Saturday. Imagine the glee with which Herb read of Jap's injury in the Temple game last week?

Not that Herb might wish Jap ill, rather he would wish his own backfield well.

That 500 smackers, anxious to be placed at 2 to 1 on Pitt over O. S. U., still is unable to get action. Those are werry, werry good odds—on any ball game.

Carnegie Tech's Plebe eleven is being drilled long and hard this week in preparation for the game Saturday in Morgantown with Trusty Tallman's unbeaten W. Va., freshmen.

Jack Hollister, of our copy desk, has a hot one he'll tell you, it is too long to be repeated here.

Joe Dasher hints that a good all-America team for the first half of the season would consist of half the Pitt line, half of Tech's Parkinson, Marsters, Booth and Howard Ehmke in the backfield.

PIRATES EAGER TO BUY NEW PLAYERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The management of the Pirates is quietly but firmly fixing its fences for next season, even as the football has pushed the diamond rocket into what resembles a total eclipse.

In a few days now—November 3—the drafting season will be officially closed and very soon after there will be a stir in the market of minor league stars who have received the O. K. of the various scouts, but for whom top-heavy prices are demanded.

PRICES TOO HIGH

The Pittsburgh team has definite lines out for several standout players in the minors, but their employers are asking prohibitive prices, especially in one or two cases.

Each San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League has an athlete who might help any big league team; so far the price tags have scared away all prospective buyers.

The urgent need of the Buccaneer squad, as stated before, is a dependable infielder, or two, who can hit consistently.

The second-base situation is positively alarming. Stuart Clarke and Dick Bartell are two fine youngsters who play baseball well, but neither has had sufficient experience to do the right thing at the right time in clinches. If a veteran were on the right side of Bartell; Daredevil Dick probably would be a better performer, but Clarke lacks the years required to make the average player capable of all the hard tasks required of a shortfielder.

SEEK INFIELDER

One of the minor leaguers for whom the Pirates are angling is a clever second-sacker; if he becomes a member of the Pirate family he probably would be the first candidate for the keystone job, leaving Bartell, Clarke and one or two other boys to fight it out for the shortfield post.

An eventuality of this kind would make Grantham available for the first base job. This would not mean that Earl Sheely would be through as a Pirate; however, if Grantham can stay in good health, Sheely wouldn't have much chance to break in.

Every other department of the runner-up club of the National League is in good shape to start another campaign, yet the sector on both sides

Walker May Drop Title for Light Heavy Ranks

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—Mickey Walker may retire as undefeated middleweight boxing champion of the world and go after the light-heavyweight title, according to reports in sporting circles today.

Walker, who gave Ace Hudkins one of the worst beatings in his ring career Tuesday night, long has expressed a desire to invade the heavier ranks and assume the light-heavyweight crown left vacant by the retirement of Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia.

TRIPPE STOPS PHILLIPS

Tug Phillips, Charleroi junior welterweight, was the victim of a fast count last night in the main bout at the Palisades, McKeesport, and, as a result, Joe Trippe, Rochester, N. Y., slugger was awarded a knockout victory. The end came after one minute of fighting in the fifth session.

Phillips went down from a hard right to the jaw, the first real blow struck during the bout, and landed on his stomach, as Referee Robinson started to count over him. When the count of seven was reached, Phillips raised his head and started to rise upon instructions from his corner, but before he could get to his feet, Robinson yelled "10."

This did not stop Phillips, however, and he rushed at Trippe and both started slugging until Robinson stepped between them and waved both boxers to their corners, turning in his official decision as a kayo triumph for Trippe.

COUNT FAST

There was little doubt that Robinson's count was fast, his cry of 10 following especially quick after he brought down his hand for nine. Phillips was not out, although the punch shook him up quite a bit, and he said after the bout that he heard Robinson after the sixth count.

Until the sudden termination of the fight, Trippe had the edge over his opponent and was beginning to demonstrate his superiority in a clearer manner when he crossed his knockout punch. Phillips grabbed off the first two rounds by slight margins, but after that Trippe showered the Charleroi boxer with rights and lefts to the head that Tug did not relish. The Rochester Italian used a short right and left to the head with effect and outfought Phillips in the infighting. Phillips' left caused Trippe a little anxiety in the first two rounds, but, beginning with the third, Joe forged to the front by his superior boxing.

SCHMEELK NEW HOCKEY CLUB SECRETARY

By CARL W. SHATTO

Garry Schmeelk, of New York, a prominent figure in professional basketball circles for the last 20 years, has been signed as secretary of the Pittsburgh National Hockey League Club.

Schmeelk, a close friend of Benny Leonard, owner of the local club, for many years, arrived here yesterday to become acquainted with his new duties. He probably will remain with the team until the close of the 1929-30 campaign.

Some of Schmeelk's duties as Pirate secretary will be to sign the players' pay checks, to arrange for the team's transportation to and from other National League cities, to order equipment, to see that the equipment is where the players want it when they want it, etc., etc.

WELL QUALIFIED

The performance of these tasks should be "pie" for Garry, for he has been schooled in such activities for many years. He first became addicted to writing cheques in a big way in 1924 when he purchased the Washington (D. C.) Palace professional basketball team and served as player-manager of his aggregation.

When the American Professional Basketball League was organized, Schmeelk purchased the Brooklyn franchise, in 1925, and he piloted his team to the first-half championship in the split-season race.

At the close of the 1925 season the new Pirate official sold the Brooklyn American League franchise to the New York Celtics, and accepted the position of managing the Chicago Bruins in the same circuit.

MANAGED CELTICS

In 1927, when Tex Rickard installed the Celtics in his new Madison Square Garden, he brought Garry back to New York to manage the outfit. Last year, having wasted away to a mere 200 pounds, Schmeelk went to Miami to recuperate, and he remained there until this spring. The Florida sunshine must have agreed with Garry, for he tips the beam at about 250 pounds at the present time.

When at the height of his career as a basketball player Schmeelk was a team mate of Bucky Harris, manager of the Detroit Tigers. Harris and Schmeelk played together at Pittston and at Glenn Falls, N. Y.

In addition to being a big boy who could stand the pro league gaff, Schmeelk was extremely accurate at finding the hoop. He played at forward and he holds the

McCarthy Tries Punting Under New Lights

A lone football player punted a white pigskin back and forth for a half hour in Forbes Field last night, under the rays of 18 powerful floodlights. The field was otherwise deserted except for a handful of spectators in the stands. The kicker was Joe McCarthy, Duquesne University quarterback, who was selected by Head Coach Elmer Layden to test the visibility of the ball under the lights. Although only 18 of the projectors were ready and working, it was possible to see the ball with perfect ease no matter how high McCarthy punted. Layden has been grooming Joe to take the place of Capt. Buff Donnelli when that ambidextrous kicker graduates in June.

MATINEE CLUB REPORT GOOD

A meeting of the directors of the Schenley Matinee Club was held at the office of the president, Frank R. Evans, for the purpose of hearing reports of the club for the past season and to make preparations for 1930. Reports show the club in a prosperous condition with 40 members in good standing.

While the horses were away racing at the county fairs it was decided by the officers of the club and the superintendent of parks, J. H. Moore, to reclay the track which has been done by placing on some 500 loads of clay and the members are looking forward to having one of the fastest tracks in the state.

OAKLAND MEETS SMOCK IN NIGHT BATTLE

SANDLOT GRID ELEVENS SET FOR CLASH

By TOM BIRKS.

The Oakland Community gridders meet the Smock Independents at Smock Field this evening, and, incidentally will become Pittsburgh's first independent club to play under the calcium lights.

Manager Abe Goldstein was elated to get this game and become the pioneer Pittsburgh club to try out the new idea, and will take along a real club to stop the Uniontown aggregation which is making quite a reputation for itself.

Smock will have a superb club in the field opposing Pittsburgh. Boots Klinzing reported himself to be ready for the fray, and Stanley Berkman is going to call the signals, with Edwards, former Wash-Jeff star, playing fullback. With Politz playing halfback, it would seem that the Oaklanders are up against a real backfield. The game will be called at 9 o'clock tonight and it is reported a large number of rooters are making the trip with Community gridders.

Sunday's battles are furnishing fans with plenty of room for thought. In the list of players sent to Hope-Harvey Majestics, it would appear a number of former college stars will be with Buck O'Neil when the Big Green machine is met. Guarino, Edwards and others will be with Greenfield.

It is reported that Tom Connely is making a number of changes in the Firemen's lineup. Andy Zoltac, injured since the first Olympic game, is practically out for the season and leaves a big gap to fill. The game brings out another factor in the independent tangle. The idea of playing only unbeaten clubs is going to be a thing of the past. One week from Sunday, West View plays McChesneytown, while it is quite possible the Olympics will meet the Glassport Odds. Managers are going to book the drawing cards, and get away from unbeaten stuff, especially when most of the unbeaten clubs have never played a club with a chance to beat them.

BIG GAME INTEREST

The West View-Olympic battle at Rainbow Gardens is going to find the fans all worked up. Berkman opposed to Schackers should be a worth while test. Both are the guiding lights of their clubs, and it is going to be a battle of brains. The all-star quarterback position for the season will be marked in the outcome of these two games in the opinion of many fans.

Burns will tackle unknown stuff in the Midland team. Doc Benedict, the former Pitt man, is sponsoring the Midlanders, and insists his club rates with the best. He feels it can take Burns, since East Liverpool made such a good showing at West View.

OLYMPICS LEADING

Unless managers are willing to play at least two of the leading contenders, they should be denied a rating among the leading clubs. That will probably be the ruling next season. And with a number of clubs considering the advisability of installing flood lights next fall there might be more than a chance for the club fighting for a place in the limelight to meet the leading clubs.

In the writer's opinion the real leader of all sandlot teams at the present time is the Olympics. They have played McChesenytown, East Pittsburgh twice, Monessen, and Greensburg Hill Tops. Blawnox and Pleasant Valley, and if there is a setup in the list named, then give the leadership to someone else. The totalling up of points does not mean a thing, and in one team's case, the fans proved it by staying away from the games. It is the class of material providing the opposition that counts, and managers are realizing that.

The only teams in the district which have made money are the teams which have brought in the tough opponents. Fans crave action, and totalling points means little if the shekels do not come in at the box office. That is what counts in keeping a first class team on the field. The fans want to see more 6-0 scores even if their club hits the dust.

GARRY SCHMEELK

Although he did not say so, Garry Schmeelk, new secretary of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club, might have been calling for a few loads of much-needed ice when the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph photographer walked into his office at Duquesne Garden. Garry, prominent in pro basketball circles for the last 20 years, assumed his new duties here yesterday.

Paying players and arranging for their transportation is much the same in hockey as it is in basketball, and Garry's view of his new job is "back to the old grind."

SUCCEEDS LEONARD

As secretary of the local hockey club Schmeelk succeeds Charley Leonard, brother of the owner of the Pittsburgh club, who died early last summer.

Schmeelk met Manager Frederickson and other members of the Pirate team yesterday at Duquesne Garden after the players had concluded their daily gym workout. Repairs to the interior of the Garden are almost completed, and the freezing process will be started within a day or two.

The Bucs, who are fast rounding into top physical condition, will continue their gmy activities until the ice is ready.

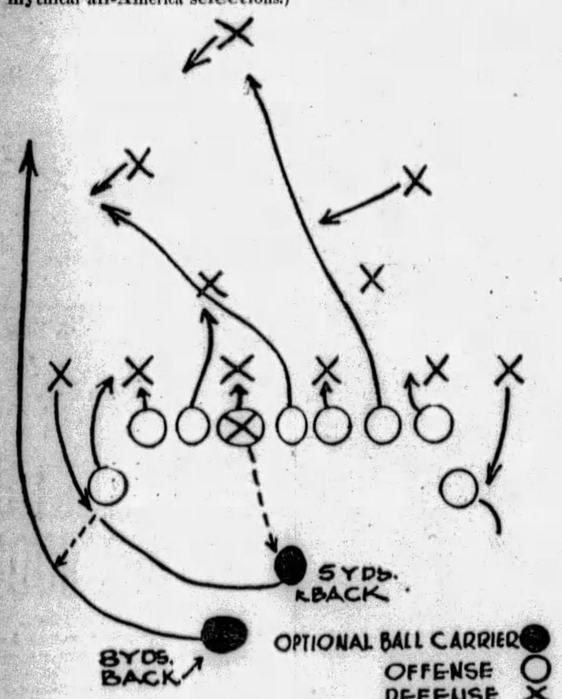
Football Strategy

By Howard Harpster

All-America Quarterback, 1928
Now Coach at Shady Side Academy

(Note.—Harpster, as the quarterback of the Carnegie Tech eleven last fall, gained national recognition as one of the most brilliant leaders of all time in the football realm. Experts hailed him as "the player with the mind of a coach." He captained the All-East team that defeated the All-West team in California at the end of the season, and was generally picked as captain of the mythical all-America selections.)



NO. 14—OREGON AGGIES' LATERAL PASS.

LATERAL pass play which the Oregon Aggies worked very effectively when they defeated New York University for a surprise victory last fall. Play is run to the weak side. Outside back and end take tackle in. Men on strong side of line cut through for secondary defense. Ball is passed to fullback, who runs five yards back. He runs toward defensive end. If end takes him he laterals the ball to back man, who is running in same direction about four yards farther back. If end plays the back man, fullback fakes a lateral to back man and runs with ball inside of end.

MORGANTOWN, W. V., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Officials of West Virginia University announced today that Davis and Elkins College had severed football relations with the University for 1930.

Stansbury said, "The chief point out of which has developed the present severance of football relations appears to be the objection of the Mountaineers to the playing of their seventh year of college football in the proposed 1930 game on the part of Elijah Smith, Simon Gurneau and Albert Hawley, three outstanding members of the 'Scarlet Hurricane'." This trio, he said, "Has admitted already they played four years of football with the Haskell Indian team of Lawrence, Kan., before entering Davis-Elkins in 1928. The superintendent of Haskell has confirmed this officially in correspondence with West Virginia authorities, and states that they had finished their period of eligibility at Haskell before coming East to Davis-Elkins."

MATE RULED INELIGIBLE

"It is interesting to note," Stansburg said, "that Mayes McClain, famed Iowa fullback of the 1928 season, had played two years at Haskell with Hawley, Smith and Gurneau, and was ruled ineligible at Iowa after one year there had completed the authorized three-year period of competition.

"Having nothing in their articles of agreement that would bar Hawley, Smith and Gurneau, the Mountaineers offered no objection to their playing with D. & E. in 1928, and the result was a 7-0 victory for the Hurricane, their first in history over the University.

"This 1928 victory placed the Mountaineers in an embarrassing position with reference to further D. & E. games. It was plain that Hawley, Smith and Gurneau, having already played nearly 60 college games against such opposition as Minnesota, Boston College, Bucknell, Butler, Creighton, et al., over a period of five years had no license even under the most elastic eligibility rules, to play further."

COMPROMISE ARRANGED

Stansbury's statement said that "rather than to be dubbed as poor losers, or wilfully laying down impossible conditions on a struggling little institution it was decided to compromise, and so, on January 15, 1929, a letter was dispatched to the Davis-Elkins authorities stating that Hawley, Smith and Gurneau would be allowed to play again in 1929, but thereafter they, or other players with similar records of college experience would not be eligible to compete against West Virginia in games that might be scheduled. Silence indicated the acceptance of this suggestion, and the 1929 game was played with another victory for Davis-Elkins.

"Negotiations then were begun for the 1930 game, including an exchange of lists of eligible players," Stansbury said, "and much to the mystification of University authorities, the names of Hawley, Smith, Gurneau, each already with six years of college experience against leading college teams, appeared thereon.

"A telegraphic reminder of the letter of January brought only an evasive reply, and finally the telegram declining to negotiate further with the Mountaineers for a 1930 game."

Director Stansbury said the university would not meet the Senators during the basketball season. He said that, while dates for basketball games had been arranged "tentatively," no contract had been signed. He said the schedule with the Senators would be canceled.

D. & E. DEFENDS STARS

ELKINS, W. Va., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—E. L. Maxwell, chairman of the Davis and Elkins College athletic board, in commenting on the severance of football relations with West Virginia University, today said all of the Davis and Elkins athletes had been approved by the West Virginia Collegiate Conference, of which the college is a member.

Referring to the statement of H. A. Stansbury, athletic director of West Virginia University, in which Stansbury attributed the status of three Davis-Elkins players as the chief reason for severance of relations, Maxwell said Haskell is not a degree-giving institution and makes no pretense of being such. West Virginia Conference rules governing athletes from such institutions made them eligible."

CENTRE, KENTUCKY BREAK

DANVILLE, Ky., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Centre College and the University of Kentucky have, by mutual agreement, cancelled all athletic relations that were booked for the coming winter and spring.

The cancellation came as a result of the announcement that Kentucky had decided to leave the Centre Colonels off their 1930 football schedule, severing relations that have continued since 1891, because Kentucky wishes to play more Southern Conference schools in 1930.

"Centre College and the University of Kentucky have cancelled by mutual consent the existing contracts calling for a freshman football game on November 15, 1929, at Lexington, and a varsity basketball game on February 18, 1930. There are no other contracts for athletic contests between these two institutions."

EBERLE TURNS TO ROLE OF MATCHMAKER

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

Ray (Spike) Eberle, popular announcer at the boxing shows throughout the Western Pennsylvania area, is about to make his debut in a new role. He has just accepted the position of matchmaker of the Junction Park A. C., of New Brighton, and will stage the first of a series of indoor shows there on the night of Monday, November 18. He succeeds Ray Foutts, who resigned at the close of the outdoor season.

Ray Eberle

An indoor arena is being built to house the fights that Eberle will arrange. It has not yet been determined whether or not his new duties will interfere with his announcing. He has placed his case before the State Athletic Commission for a ruling as to whether or not he can serve in both capacities.

GARDEN CARD COMPLETE

Matchmaker Jules Beck, of Motor Square Garden, has completed his card for his show next Monday night, which will be topped off by the meeting between Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, and Roger Bernard, of Flint, Mich., recent conqueror of Tony Herrera, the Mexican. Carl Cavelli, Canton (O.) bantamweight, and Dan Billick, of Duquesne, will meet in the eight-round semi-final and Andy Andrucci and Eddie Brannon, who recently put up two good battles at the Moose Temple, have been rematched once more for the second number, while Marty Simmons, of Wilkinsburg, and Young Joe Walcott, Negro, of Washington, Pa., welters, are in the opener.

Frankie Rio, Sharon featherweight, is at his home awaiting an operation for appendicitis and will be on the sidelines for several months.

Promoter Francis Flynn, of the Moose Temple, has signed Jimmy Thomas, Abie Witz's clever little Negro boxer, of the Hill, to oppose Joe Pace, of the North Side, in the opening bout on the Tiger Joe Randall-Walter Majeske card tomorrow night.

Johnny Smackey, Canonsburg lightweight, is nursing a cut eye, but expects to be ready for action within a few weeks. Smackey is another of Abie Witz's lads. Another newcomer under the Witz banner is Jimmy Malone, Irish lightweight, of Canonsburg.

ROBERTS SIGNS FOR BOUTS

Hana Roberts, the German welterweight, has been signed to box at the Moose Temple on both November 8 and 22. He may meet Dominick Pronio, of Cecil, who has been taking a rest for a few months, in the first of these battles.

Leo Lomski and George Courtney have been signed to box the main bout of a show in the Detroit Olympic arena, November 15. Al Singer and Pete Nebo have been signed to box in Madison Square Garden, New York, November 29.

Elis Would Give Grid Purity For New Stars

BOSTON, Oct. 31. — (INS.) — Wanted for trade—purity, for a couple of good halfbacks.

The suggestion belongs to President James R. Angell, of Yale, made at a get-together of Harvard and Yale graduates, the first meeting of its kind in the history of the two schools.

President Angell said if the Crimson did not want the Bulldog to flaunt white helmets—symbols of purity as exponded by the Carnegie report—in the Yale-Harvard game, three weeks hence, they would be discarded in exchange for a couple of good backs.

The "prexy" laughingly explained for some time Yale had been wondering what the trouble was with its teams, but the Carnegie report made it clear.

"We have been suffering from excessive purity," he said.

Pimlico Futurity Carded Tomorrow

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Pimlico Futurity, rich in turf lore despite only eight years of running, receives its 1929 renewal tomorrow with prospects of the largest field of juveniles ever to face the barrier fighting for the $40,000 added purse.

With the cream of the 1929 2-year-old crop including Which One, the champion, Boojum and Hi-Jack, in retirement for the remainder of the season, the race is more wide open than in recent years. At least 46 of the more than 1,400 colts and fillies eligible have shown sufficient form to justify their owners in giving them a try at the rich prize. Only about 20, however, are expected to answer the bugle call.

Fight Commission Suspends Welch

Teddy Welch, McKeesport, Pa., who must honor his contract with the Majestic A. C., McKeesport, before competing elsewhere.

Joey Angelo, Braddock, Pa., who must honor his contract with the same club.

Chet Smallwood, Akron, who must honor his contract with the Motor Square Garden, Pittsburgh, before competing elsewhere.

The commission announced no disciplinary action would be taken at this time against James J. Dougherty, manager of George Godfrey, Leiperville Negro, and the Arena Corporation, of Philadelphia, for alleged infraction of rules.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Joe Trippe knocked out Tug Phillips, 5 rounds; Jackie Herman defeated Harry Jennings, 6 rounds; Sammy Paris defeated Bus Hardy, 6 rounds; Johnny Morgan knocked out (technical) Joe Vernon, 3 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Vincent Hambright defeated Spug Myers, 10 rounds.

Jess (left) and Jim come together head on in midfield and the result is merely a headache for the spectators. The two big fellows, both weighing more than 200 pounds, can handle everyone else on the squad except each other.

As a finale to their strong-man act, Quatsie hoists the giant MacMurdo to his shoulders and holds him there. Note the attitude of absolute ease assumed by MacMurdo. It's a heck of a drop from that height, too.

ARMY AND NAVY TO TRY AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Secretary Good will continue his efforts to bring about resumption of Army-Navy football games under the old contract regardless of the failure of the rapprochement conference here between the superintendents of the military and naval academies.

Good said he did not know how this could be done, but believed the way open for Annapolis to accept West Point's offer for a game in 1931.

This was advanced after it was found impossible to accept a proposal from the Military Academy some time ago for a post-season game this year under the old contract.

Good reiterated the Military Academy could not accede to the Annapolis demand that it adopt the three-year eligibility rule for players.

For the Military Academy to adopt the rule, Good said, would be an admission that it was open to suspicion, and at the same time would violate the Army's principle that all cadets after their first year should have equal opportunity in athletic as well as scholastic affairs of the school.

Union, Washington Battle Saturday

The undefeated Little Presidents of Washington High will appear against Foxy Miller's Union High aggregation of Turtle Creek Saturday. Foxy's team has been successful against the Day-coached outfits, 7-0 and 6-0, in 1924 and 1925, but lost the game at Washington last year, 18-0.

While Washington is over-anxious to tie things up, Union is just as anxious to add another win to its list. Both teams are undefeated so far this season. The Union team has a tie game to mar its record, however, and the feeling is strong among Valley fans that the Blue and White will ruin the Washington record on Saturday.

LESSONS IN FOOTBALL

How is an off-tackle play executed?

Answered by

MILTON OLANDER

Assistant Football Coach, University of Illinois.

Any team using an unbalanced offensive formation must develop a punch in its weak-side attack. A mere threat is not enough—the plays must have both deception and power. The above off-tackle play should form the nucleus for such an attack.

The center's pass to No. 8 must be fast, low and directly at him. Upon catching the ball the ball carrier can either touch it to the ground, or raise it over his head as if to pass. Such a deceptive move will momentarily baffle the defense. He then takes one gliding step to the left while facing forward and drives up the field closely behind his interfering lineman Nos. 4 and 6. No. 1 drives the defensive right tackle in. If the defensive tackle can be driven out, easier than in, the play naturally drives up the field inside of him, Nos. 9 and 10 drive the defensive right end out. Nos. 2, 3 and 5 block as shown in the diagram. No. 7 cuts over sharply to block the defensive fullback while No. 11 intercepts the charge of the defensive left tackle as indicated.

At least two supporting plays, namely a quick smash, inside the defensive right tackle, and a sweeping end run outflanking the defensive right end, are also necessary. Above all the coach must insist on hard, determined running and clean-cut blocking.

of second is of such vast import that the Pirates cannot be said to be all set until remedial measures have been exercised. Many a ball game filtered past second base last season.

Manager Jewel Ens and Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss expect to attend the minor league meeting to be held in Chattanooga early in December. It is altogether probable that some deals will be completed before this date, yet the two officials want to be on hand to act quickly on any matter that might be of help to the Freebooters. From the minor league pow-wos the Pittsburgh officials will hustle to New York to attend the major league sessions.

GRAND RAPIDS Mich., Oct. 31.—Roger Bernard, of Detroit, warmed up for his bout with Phil Goldstein in Pittsburgh Monday night by winning the referee's decision here last night in a sensational 10-round scrap with Russell Bradford, of Pontiac, Mich. Bernard was the aggressor throughout.

D. & E. SQUAD OFF

ELKINS, W. Va., Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Twenty-four Davis & Elkins College gridders left here last night by bus for Cleveland, where John Carroll will be played tomorrow night in the first night game for the Scarlet Hurricane, which boasts five victories and a tie with Fordham.

Bill McKechnie To Go Back to Bushes

Bill McKechnie, new manager of the Boston Braves, will be in the vanguard of huntsmen who will greet the opening of the hunting season tomorrow.

Skipper Bill expects to be in the wilds of Washington County shortly after daybreak. With him will be Wray Zelt, of Washington, who has been an intimate friend of McKechnie since the faroff days when Bill played for Washington in the P. O. M. League.

McKechnie expects to be back home by tomorrow night with enough rabbits, quail and pheasant to give the family a treat. He will remain in town until after election day and will then depart for Boston for a conference with his new employers.

Argonaut Blue Boy Wins at Canonsburg

CANONSBURG, Oct. 31.—In spite of the inclement weather there was a large attendance at the beagle field trials of the Canonsburg Sportsman's Association yesterday, and the competition was the keenest since the event opened. The 15-inch all-age dogs' trials were completed with Argonant Blue Boy, owned by J. W. Zelt of Washington, the victor. Pencroft Profit, owned by P. M. Chidester of Pittsburgh, was second; Porter's Penman, owned by Charles E. Porter of Coraopolis, third, and Sheiks Donald owned by A. L. Rossell of Houston, fourth. The reserve winner was Penman Trueboy, owned by Thomas Brand.

The trials will come to a close today with the running off of the 15-inch all-age bitches.

LANDIS PROBES DEAL

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 31.—(INS)—Judge Kenesaw Landis, baseball czar, arrived here yesterday to probe the reported "under cover" deal between the Asheville Ball Club and the New York Yankees involving John Allen, Salley League hurler. He refused to discuss the case until he has gone into it thoroughly.

his time. Though he never reached the championship peak, he was for several years one of the foremost contenders for the title.

Eddie appeared in Pittsburgh rings three times in six-round no-decision bouts. He met Battling Levinsky, boxing then under the name of Barney Williams, on February 12, 1912; Frank Klaus, on May 24, 1913, and Buck Crouse, on March 17, 1915.

Eddie McGoorty

McGOORTY, now 40, won the 130-pound amateur championship of Wisconsin in 1904 at the age of 15 by defeating three consecutive opponents in one night. He became a professional the following year and won his greatest fame when he grew into the middleweight class. Eddie met about all the good ones of his time, including, apart from his Pittsburgh opponents, Les Darcy, Mike Gibbons, Jack Dillon, Bob Moha, Jimmy Clabby, K. O. Brown, Jeff Smith, Cyclone Johnny Thompson, Gus Christie, Hugo Kelly, Tony Caponi and others. He was the third American fighter to invade Australia and go against Les Darcy. The first was Gus Christie in 1914 and the second was Jeff Smith early in 1915. McGoorty faced Darcy twice in Sydney in 1915, and was knocked out both times, first in 15 rounds and again in eight rounds. The first match was advertised as being for the world middleweight championship.

He weighed 142, while Phillips came in at 140½.

PARIS BEATS HARDY

Sammy Paris, Hill District [illegible] fighter, and Bus Hardy, a newcomer from Beaver Falls, [illegible] thriller of the evening in the second bout with Paris getting the decision. Both went to it hammer and tongs during the six rounds. Hardy weighed 129½, while Paris scaled 125½.

Joe Vernon, of McKeesport, punched at Johnny Morgan, of Beaver Falls, for two full rounds of the opener, until he was too tired to raise his arms, and Morgan then stepped in to win with a knockout, the flying towel from Vernon's corner putting an end to hostilities after two minutes and 55 seconds of fighting in the third round. Vernon came in at 151, a half-pound heavier than Morgan.

The Western Pennsylvania amateur championship tournament will be staged at the Palisades on next Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

OHIO TO GET BIG SENDOFF

COLUMBUS, Oct. 31.—The battling Buckeyes will take their last workout of the week on home soil today. It will be in the nature of a snappy signal drill with the kickers, punters and placement booters, getting off a heavy afternoon of putting an able foot against the pigskin.

The team will be given a gigantic sendoff this evening at the entrance to the campus and 7,000 students and fans are expected to take part. The coaches and some of the players will be asked to speak a few words and Cheerleader Billy Radebaugh will lead the assemblage in cheers. The Ohio State Band will be out in full force and will head a torchlight parade through the university district.

WESTMINSTER OR GENEVA SURE TO COP

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 31.—A conference champion that is not a champion—that's liable to be the situation in the Tri-State Conference after the close of the present football season. This possibility was revealed here today in an interview with A. C. Edgecombe, graduate manager of athletics of Geneva College.

Rules of the Tri-State Conference require a football team to play four conference games to be eligible for the official conference championship. And there's the hitch. Geneva and Westminster are the only schools in the conference who have the schedule requirements this year. Duquesne University, Waynesburg, Bethany and Thiel have not, so the Tri-State Conference football champion will be either Geneva or Westminster.

Duquesne has three conference games scheduled, Waynesburg three, Thiel three and Bethany two.

So there's the situation. Victories for Duquesne in their three games would definitely establish them as the premiers of the conference. The Dukes in meeting Geneva, Waynesburg and Westminster can settle that. But the rules of the conference requiring four games in the organization may make them a champ without a title.

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Geneva	1	0	1.000
Thiel	2	1	.000
Waynesburg	1	1	.500
Westminster	0	1	.000
Bethany	0	1	.000
Duquesne	0	0	.000

LEAVES $100,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The will of Samuel W. Hildreth, racing trainer, on file here today, disposes of an estate consisting of $50,000 in personal property and $50,000 in real estate. A trust fund of $50,000 is to be administered for Mrs. Slice Henry, a sister, of Pine Lawn, Mo. The widow is the residuary legatee.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

RICH REWARDS WAIT SHREWD BUYERS

Alert Individuals Find Stage Set for Building Big Estates; Bargains Now

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A truly great speculator—and the supply of them is limited—once told me that times recur when the masses lose their heads and buy or sell, as the case may be, without any regard to sound values.

There are rich rewards for those rare souls who are able to keep cool when the mob is rushing headlong to great excesses. The current misfortunes of the public marketwise are creating the setting for the building up of immense estates by alert individuals who have the mental and financial resources to become beneficiaries, instead of victims, of the prevailing crowd psychology.

Since early in September, stocks began to sell ex-delusions. After recent frenzied and thoughtless selling, however, numerous shares of strong, superbly managed corporations are in their current prices reflecting a new set of delusions—pessimistic delusions. Though each stock constitutes a separate study, it is my opinion that some stocks at recent prevailing prices are undervalued. Though in special cases, further adjustment may be necessary, the market has gone from inflation to deflation in a dazzlingly short period.

NO TIME TO SPECULATE

There is little incentive to speculate, for the rise at a time when the buying power of the public, not to speak of its confidence, has been broken. However, such conditions as now prevail create alluring opportunities to make permanent long term outright investments in the shares of the premier American corporations. As a matter of fact, much buying of this character has taken place. The capacity of the market to absorb offerings has been unprecedented in recent sessions. But the buyers are acting sedately, waiting for bargains to fall into their laps, whereas the sellers, many of whom have been in distress, have been clamoring frantically to get out.

Two major influences are responsible for the precipitous drop of prices. In the first place, the public changed its mind about the desirability of buying or holding stocks at the recent peak. This conversion was facilitated by weeks of quiet liquidation by strong holders ever since Labor Day, and this movement deprived the public of the stimulus of the spectacle of rising prices.

In the second place the inherent weaknesses in the system of marginal speculation have compounded the difficulties and the distress selling. The original decline sprang from voluntary selling and from an exhaustion of buying power. These influences brought down prices, and reduced customer equities in marginal brokerage transactions. The selling out of the weaker marginal accounts gave additional impetus to the selling movement, which made prices react still further and thus impair the position of better margined customers. Then a new layer of accounts were disturbed and thrown on to the market.

The experience of the last few days emphasizes the radical difference in the status of the marginal and the outright owner. The marginal holder in time has to sell involuntarily, unless his outside resources are unlimited. On the other hand, the outright owner can hold on as long as he chooses. He never has distress holdings, which must be sold irrespective of price. Even if his shares depreciate in price, he has the satisfaction that his share in the ownership of giant corporations is as large as ever, irrespective of temporary market fluctuations.

MARGINS VS. SALES

Charles Mackay, author of "Memoirs of Extraordinary Popular Delusions," a favorite volume of Bernard M. Baruch's, pointed out:

"In reading the history of nations we find that, like individuals, they have their whims and their peculiarities; their seasons of excitement and recklessness, when they care not what they do. Money, again, has often been a cause of the delusion of multitudes. Sober nations have all at once become desperate gamblers, and risked almost their existence upon the turn of a piece of paper. Men, it has been well said, think in herds; it will be seen that they go mad in herds, while they only recover their senses slowly, and one by one."

If precedent is a guide, there will be lavish rewards for those venturesome pioneers who seek to discount, or anticipate, the return to sober thinking about security values.

HABITS BROKEN

The recent debacle emphasizes the breakdown in the investment habits of the public which has taken place. Countless investors turned speculators in recent years. Even the outright buyers tended to build up unbalanced investment structures, with an inadequate backlog of bonds which constitute a contract to repay a stipulated number of dollars. Accordingly, in the recent emergency, they found themselves without an adequate supply of cash or its equivalent. The suitability of common stocks for investment became exaggerated. The time has come to get back to first principles.

The investor should seek securities which are suitable to his own requirements. The average man should start out with a savings bank account and with a life insurance policy. The next step is to purchase high grade bonds, then preferred stocks. The last step is to purchase outright an array of the best grade of common stocks. In accordance with an increase in his own wealth and in changes in the business cycle, the investor can vary the proportions of various classes of shares held in his portfolio.

ROCKEFELLERS BACK BIG BANKERS

John D., Son Lend Support To Market and Continue To Buy High Grade Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller has given his support to the efforts of the New York banking group, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., and of other powerful financial interests to stabilize security markets.

Prior to announcement by Mr. Rockefeller that he and his son were buying sound stocks, the bankers expressed approval of the day's developments, but made no formal comment on the situation after either a midday or late afternoon conference. Informally, however, they did not conceal their gratification over reports they had received of large buying orders placed here from the world's leading financial centers.

The Rockefeller statement was issued in the early afternoon from his estate at Pocantico Hills, N. Y. It said:

"Believing that fundamental conditions of the country are sound and that there is nothing in the business situation to warrant the destruction of values that has taken place on the exchanges during the past week, my son and I have for some days past been purchasing sound common stocks. We are continuing and will continue our purchases in substantial amounts at levels which we believe represent sound investment values."

The bankers believe that this and similar declarations from outstanding industrial and financial authorities should be effective in assuring that calmer judgments would prevail.

Individually and collectively bankers' views of the outlook can be briefly summarized as follows:

"It is impossible to make any kind of a prediction. There was evidence Tuesday of less hysteria and yesterday there was still more emphatic evidence of the same thing. It is not a time to become overbullish but the situation is distinctly improved."

One large brokerage house was said to have been swamped with the unprecedented total of almost 12,000 orders for stock, most of them odd lots. This figure compares with a normal day's volume of around 2,000 orders.

Steel Hoop Drops Its Sale of Stock

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 31.—President Severn P. Ker of the Sharon Steel Hoop Company, announced yesterday that an offer recently made by the company to sell additional common stock to shareholders on the basis of 24 shares for each 100 now held, at $40 per share, has been withdrawn. The company proposed to use the proceeds for refinancing its bonded debt.

In the market crash, the company's stock declined 14 points, and closed at 26.

NATURAL 'GAS' OUTPUT UP

AUSTIN, Oct. 31.—Production of natural gasoline totaled 324,516,000 gallons in Texas during 1928, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. Total production in the United States was 1,814,034,000 gallons.

Since these figures were compiled, a number of large casinghead gasoline plants have been constructed in Texas and production for 1929 should far exceed the 1928 total. Last year two states exceeded Texas in output, Oklahoma with 619,691,000 gallons and California with 584,111,000 gallons.

There were 15 producing states, but about 84 per cent of the total production came from these three states. In number of plants, Oklahoma led with 297; Texas was second with 156 and California third with 147. Value of Texas production was $22,492,000, compared with the United States total of $138,944,000.

Banker Describes Investment Habits

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Phil W. Kniskern, vice president of the Continental Mortgage Guarantee Company, of New York, asserted in an address before the annual convention of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America here, that the American public is interested primarily in capital appreciation rather than a return on capital investment.

He also said that industry is raising its money not by the issuance of bonds, but through junior securities in the form of common stocks.

Local Insurance Firms in Combine

The Pittsburgh office of Marsh & McLennan and the well-known Pittsburgh agency, J. W. Arrott, Ltd., are consolidating their interests as of November 1. This will extend to Pittsburgh the nation-wide insurance service of Marsh & McLennan in a more active way. To maintain their individual identity the offices will be operated hereafter as Marsh & McLennan, James W. Arrott Company, in the Arrott Building.

James W. Arrott and James W. Arrott, Jr., will be resident vice presidents of Marsh & McLennan. James W. Arrott will be chairman of the board and James W. Arrott, Jr., president of James W. Arrott Company. The old organizations will be maintained intact, and the services of the officers and combined staffs will be available for all clients.

NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — Many of the more active issues traded on the securities market of the New York Produce Exchange advanced yesterday. Associated Gas and Electric common was up 5 points. Chatham Phoenix and Chemical Associates both worked higher during the earlier hours. International Carriers and Public Utility Holding also advanced.

Stocks Dip After Rally — Fuels Rush Higher Here

STOCKS RECEDE AFTER RALLY AT OPENING

Prices Bound Up 5 to 30 Points, but Decline on Wave of Profit Taking

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The rally in stock prices, which started yesterday when powerful buying support was supplied by leading financial interests, was resumed with considerable violence at the delayed opening of today's market.

Prices of scores of issues bounded upward 5 to 30 points at the start, and one stock jumped 75 points above the previous sale, but the wild advance attracted heavy profit-taking, which quickly carried many stocks down 2 to 12 points below the opening quotations.

NEWS FAVORABLE

Reduction of the Bank of England discount rate from 6½ to 6 per cent, which was expected to be followed by a reduction in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate after the close of the market, coupled with the statement of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., that he and his son were buying sound common stocks, and the announcement of several special dividend distributions, all contributed to the revival of confidence in the market.

The call money renewal rate was fixed at 6 per cent before the market opened.

Several favorable dividend announcements developed during the day. Directors of the Consolidated Gas Company raised the annual dividend from $3 to $4, and United States Dairy Products on the class A stock. Extra payments were announced by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the New Jersey Zinc Company, and initial disbursements were authorized on the common stocks of the National Public Service Corporation and the Bulova Watch Company.

ADVANCES WIDE

Sharp opening advances in many stocks indicated an absence of nearby bids, many of which had been withdrawn overnight. Auburn Auto umpedj 75 points, Underwood Elliott Fisher 30, Standard Gas and Electric 26½, North American 24½.

Atchison, Westinghouse Electric, Fox Film, National Biscuit, Norfolk and Western, Brooklyn Union Union Gas, Eastman Kodak, International Harvester, Chesapeake and Ohio, Sears Roebuck, International Telephone and American and Foreign Power advanced 15 poitns or more.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Active buying on the part of important houses brought about new upturns in wheat prices today after a somewhat ragged start. The fact that foreign markets reflected in full yesterday's sharp advance in wheat values on this side of the Atlantic helped to stimulate fresh speculative purchasing here. Opening at ⅜ off to ¼ up, Chicago wheat later showed material gains all around, with the price bulges leading to increased pressure to sell. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firmer, corn starting at ⅛c decline to an equal advance, and subsequently scoring a general rise.

Indications of big export business again today in wheat from North America did much at times to assist friends of higher prices. Messages from St. Louis and Winnipeg were emphatic that signs pointed to large amounts of breadstuffs being taken for trans-Atlantic shipment. Meanwhile, estimates were current that this week's wheat exports from Argentina would total only 1,470,000 bushels compared with 4,612,000 bushels the week previous and 2,175,000 bushels a year ago.

A large share of today's buying here of wheat future deliveries was credited to eastern sources. In connection with the resulting upward trend that futures displayed during much of the day, special attention was given to reports that No. 2 northern wheat available for imediate delivery had gone to a premium at Winnipeg. There were also assertions here that North American export business both in wheat and flour was greatly in excess of the amounts which have been acknowledged publicly.

SHATTUCK MAY SET YEARLY RECORD

Third Quarter Earnings 46 Per Cent Above 1928; October Business Good

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—With the third quarter's earnings showing an increase of 46 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, Frank G. Shattuck Company is well on its way to reporting another record year.

Net profit, after charges and taxes, for the three months ended September 30, last, amounted to $475,603, or 45 cents a share on the 1,050,000 shares of stock then outstanding. This compared with $325,718, or 31 cents a share on the basis of the same capitalization for the like period of 1928.

For the nine months ended September 30, last, net totaled $1,687,889, or $1.61 a share as compared with $1,464,426, or $1.39 a share in the similar months of 1928.

SALES UP 17.3 PER CENT

Increase of 46 per cent in earnings for the third quarter was in contrast to a sales gain of 17.3 per cent. A good part of the earnings increase was due to the better results from the newer units as their operations become more stabilized.

The above earnings do not include profit from W. F. Schrafft & Sons Corp., of Boston, which was purchased during October by Shattuck. The merging of Schrafft will bring Shattuck's 1929 sales to about $26,000,000, with estimated net profit of close to $3,500,000. As a result of the consolidation, Shattuck's outstanding stock has been increased by 240,000 shares to 1,290,000 shares.

WEATHER INFLUENCES

Had it not been for an unseasonable September, showing for the quarter would have been even better. While July and August were highly satisfactory months, September's business was adversely affected by unusually warm weather, which caused a slowing up in both the restaurant and candy departments.

Outlook for the final quarter is promising. This period, which includes the Christmas holiday buying, by far the heaviest of the year, is marked by great activity on the part of all Schrafft stores. Business so far this month has been good, satisfactory increases being reported in all departments over October, 1928.

CURRENT QUARTER

For the current year Shattuck's own activities should report sales of around $19,000,000, returning net profit available for dividends of about $2,500,000. Sales last year totaled $16,849,728, on which profit of $2,190,379 was realized. Up to September 30, last, sales were running 13.8 per cent ahead of last year. Should the same percentage of gain prevail during the final quarter, it would result in bringing the year's sales to slightly in excess of $19,000,000.

However, there is every reason to believe that the 13.8 per cent figure will be bettered in the final three months, as during the third quarter, despite the unseasonable weather in September, business was up 17.3 per cent.

NEW STORES

Since the beginning of the year Shattuck has made marked progress in increasing the number of its stores, 34 locations now being in operation in New York City, Boston and Syracuse. An additional store will be opened November 5 at 107th street and Broadway, Manhattan, New York City, while another will be opened in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn on December 15. In addition, two new units are under construction, while a number are in the course of negotiation. A restaurant for the New York Chamber of Commerce is also operated by the company.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

It is understood earnings of Loews, Inc., for fiscal year ended August 31, last, was around $12,000,000 after all charges, depreciation, taxes, etc. This was the highest for any fiscal period in the history of the company and compares with $8,568,162 in 12 months ended August 31, 1928, the previous peak profit, and with $6,737,205 in 1927.

Grand Union Company reports for nine months to September 30, net income of $628,213 after all charges including taxes against $292,316 in 1928 period. Earnings for third quarter were $268,068 before taxes against $230,498 in preceding quarter and $135,982 in 1928 quarter. Store sales for 42 weeks ended October 19 were $26,437,028 against $21,901,969 in 1928 period.

Archer-Daniels-Midland Company net income $1,453,408 for year ended August 31, equal after preferred dividends to $2.45 on 480,852 common shares against $2,018,510 in preceding fiscal year or $8.03 a share on 213,712 common shares. Figures are after charges and taxes.

L. A. Young Spring & Wire Corporation reports for nine months to September 30, net income $2,076,210 after charges and estimated taxes equal to $5.03 a share on 412,500 shares against $1,569,379 or $3.40 on common in 1928 period.

U. S. Distributing Company reports September quarter net earnings $211,923 after all charges and taxes against $189,349 in 1928 quarter. Net income for nine months to September 30, was $750,791 against $476,118 in 1928 period.

Diamond Match Company reports for nine months to September 30, net income $1,225,509 after depreciation, amortization and federal taxes against $1,201,042 in 1928 period.

Mid-Continent Petroleum net income was $4,892,248 for September quarter before depreciation, depletion, and federal taxes, against $3,992,454 in 1928 quarter.

American Ice Company reports September earnings $769,882 after interest but before federal taxes and depreciation against $744,107 in September, 1928, and for nine months $4,879,368 against $4,616,106 in 1928 period.

Net earnings of the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company, of Baltimore, for the year ending September 30, amounted to $7,268,751, equal to $6.26 a share on 996,891 average common shares outstanding, compared with $5,802,531, or $5.15 a share on 943,207 average shares outstanding in the preceding year, a gain of slightly more than 25 per cent.

The General Cigar Company reported that its net profits for the third quarter amounted to $1,144,570, equal to $2.16 a share on 489,084 common shares, as against $823,926, or $1.80 a share on 407,570 shares in the corresponding period of 1928. Profits for the nine months aggregated $2,965,332, or $5.52 a share, compared with $1,800,078, or 3.77 a share in the 1928 period.

Stock Sales Kite N. Y. Telephone Traffic

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The New York Telephone Company announced today that on last Tuesday, when all records for sales on the New York Stock and Curb exchanges were shattered, the five telephone exchanges, which serve more than 95,000 telephones in the heart of the financial district, handled a total of 2,107,000 calls, an increase of more than 57 per cent over a normal day's traffic.

Lime Firms Balk At Coal Tariffs

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The Public Service Commission heard the protest of the Center County Lime Company and the Chemical Lime Company, both of Center County, protesting against an alleged overcharge on shipments of coal from points within the state. The complainants said that their competitors, whose plants are located in Bellefonte and Pleasant Gap, pay lower rates for identical shipments from the same point of origin in Pennsylvania than those charged to them.

Granby Mining Net For 9 Months Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Granby Consolidated Mining reports net income of $1,071,808 for September quarter after charges, but before depreciation and depletion, equal to $2.35 a share on 450,000 capital shares, against $1,164,813 or $2.50 a share in preceding quarter, and $894,998 in 1928 quarter or $1.99 a share.

Net income for nine months to September 30, was $3,176,986 before depreciation and depletion or $7.06 a share, against $2,196,232 or $4.88 a share in 1928 period.

Chicago Bank Head Says Market Sound

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of Continental Illinois Bank-Trust Company, said: "Everything points to a safer, sounder situation all around. At these levels I think there is ample room for many of high-grade stocks to move higher. While there are bound to be business reactions in some directions from a break of such proportions in stocks, in my opinion, the outlook for business prosperity has, on the whole, not been seriously affected.

S. O. Indiana to List Stock on 'Big Board'

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—With the payment today of a 25-cent extra dividend together with the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana came the announcement from the company's officials that they were considering listing the firm's stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Exchange Rules on Ex-Dividend Dates

The governing committee of the New York Stock Exchange ruled that all securities which would ordinarily sell ex-rights or ex-dividend today, Friday or Saturday will sell "ex" today.

Curb stocks will also sell "ex" today.

Simmons Company Adds Another Unit

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Simmons Company has acquired B. F. Huncley Furniture Company and its subsidiaries. The Company is located in Winston-Salem.

Brokerage Firm To Grant Bonus

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Hornblower & Weeks will distribute a bonus of two weeks' salary to employes who have been with the firm during the past week.

Charges Loree With Illegal Control

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Charges that L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railway, and his associates, have not abandoned the plan disapproved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for a Southwestern railroad unification, are contained in a brief filed with the Commission opposing proposed extensions of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway.

The brief was presented by Walter E. Meyer on behalf of himself and other stockholders of the St. Louis Southwestern. It contends that Loree still has "illegal control" of the St. Louis Southwestern and that the proposal of the road to extend its line in the St. Francis basin of Arkansas and obtain a direct route from St. Louis to Memphis, was initiated in the interest of the Kansas City Southern and not for the benefit of the applicant itself.

MARKETS FIRM IN EUROPE

LONDON, Oct. 31. — (AP.) — The stock exchange today developed a firmer tone after recovery of Wall street yesterday of some of its lost ground. Most securities were harder and Anglo-American issues registered quite good advances. Business was not large. The exchange will be closed tomorrow for the usual November first holiday.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—The situation in the Paris bourse and financial markets today was perfectly normal and safe, representatives of banks, brokers and technical experts informed high officials of the Finance Ministry who called on them to determine effect of the New York depression on the French market.

Companies Extend Dates on Rights

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Bangor and Aroostock Railroad has extended the date of its rights to December 7 from November 9.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—J. I. Case Company has extended the expiration date of its rights to November 15 from November 4.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Allis Chalmers Company has extended the expiration date on their stock rights to December 31.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—Directors of the Pacific Associates have decided to extend date for the exercise of rights from November 5, to January 5, 1930.

N. Y. Reserve Buys Government Bonds

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The New York Federal Reserve Bank statement is expected to show purchases of U. S. government bonds by the institution ranging up to $100,000,000. In well informed quarters it is pointed out that more stress should be laid upon this heavy placing of Federal Reserve funds in the market than on possibilities of rediscount rate action.

Wheeling Steel Quarterly Net Up

The Wheeling Steel Corporation net profit for the quarter ended September 30, was $1,775,382, after depreciation, interest, etc., equal to $2.80 a share on the common stock outstanding. Earnings for nine months were $5,912,919 after charges, equal to $9.92 a share against $3,963,009 for the 1928 period, or $5 a common share.

Government Sues Western Sugar Co.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The U. S. Government has filed criminal proceedings in North Platte, Neb., against Great Western Sugar Company and seven officers, alleging conspiracy to violate the Sherman Law by payments of rebates and bonuses by which it is alleged Holly Sugar Company was virtually forced out of business in Nebraska.

Lone Star Gas Leader Of Strong Recovery in Fuel Securities Here

Security prices on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange were swept forward in the buying rush which influenced the stock markets throughout the world.

Lone Star Gas led the movement here, opening with a gain of 4½ points at 41 and working higher on succeeding transactions. Western Public Service followed the lead of Lone Star. Arkansas Gas responded to the sensational opening in Cities Service on the New York Curb and shot up more than 6 points.

Industrials scored gains ranging from 1 to 5 points as sanity supplanted hysteria in trading circles and market followers were able to gauge the price situation from the standpoint of earnings, yield and other vital considerations in the determination of the securities' attractiveness as investments or for "the turn."

Favorable news circulated through the street all day and there was a general feeling that the market had taken its hardest "sock" and would be called upon to meet only ordinary adjustment selling from now on.

October Call Rate Average 6.355 Pct.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The average renewal rate for call money in October was 6,355 per cent, compared with 8.53 per cent in September and 6.98 per cent in October, 1928.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 1 point. Some selling was reported on the relatively easy showing of Liverpool but this seemed offset by buying on unfavorable features in the weather news. The South was a moderate seller here, but the trade bought and the market held steady at the end of the first half hour, the active months working about 2 to 4 points net higher. Liverpool cables said that hedging and liquidation had been absorbed by continental buying in that market and that there had been some covering on the reduction the Bank of England rate.

Trading was very quiet later in the morning and prices fluctuated within a corresponding narrow range. Traders seemed to be waiting for the reopening of the stock market and, in the meantime, prices sagged off a point or two, but held rather steady around yesterday's closing quotations at midday. Reports of a firm opening in the stock market brought in a little more buying early in the noon hour, with January selling up to 18.29c, or 5 points net higher.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 31.—Cotton-spot, good business done; prices higher; American strict good middling, 10.68; good middling, 10.28; strict middling, 10.08; middling, 9.88; strict low middling, 9.73; low middling, 9.53; strict good ordinary, 9.13; good ordinary, 8.73. Sales 7,000 bales, including 4,000 American. Receipts 1,000, American 500. Futures closed quiet and steady—October, 9.53; December, 9.66; January, 9.70; March, 9.79; May, 9.88; July, 9.91.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged today at 3.83 for spots, duty paid, with no sales reported.

Futures opened 1 point higher to 1 point lower. Near months were relatively steady on covering and trade buying, while the later months were a shade off under liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections. Offerings were quickly absorbed, however, and a steadier tone developed later, with the list at midday about unchanged to 1 point net higher. The trade was inclined to limit fresh commitments and await developments in the spot market. A prominent European crop authority estimated the beet sugar production for all of Europe at 8,174,000 metric tons, against 8,154,000 at the end of September and 8,467,000 last year.

In refined the demand was fair, but only of a hand-to-mouth character, while prices were unchanged at 5.25 for fine granulated.

Bank of England

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows these changes in pounds: Total reserve decreased 2,312,000; circulation increased 1,433,000; bullion decreased 879,000; other securities increased 1,483,000; public deposits decreased 1,405,000; other deposits increased 17,000; notes reserve decreased 2,241,000; government securities decreased 610,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 30.12 per cent compared with 31.80 last week.

Rate of discount 6 per cent.

Money Market.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Bar silver, 23d per ounce. Money, 4⅞ per cent. Discount rates—short bills, 5½ per cent. Three months, 5⅝ per cent.

General Motors Plans To Enter Many New Lines

By B. C. FORBES

ONE city that is particularly dumfounded at what happened in Wall Street is Detroit, which I have been visiting. When the full extent of the debacle in the stock market became known, the effect in high circles was paralyzing.

You see, optimism is inherent in the automobile industry; if it were not so, the industry never would have triumphed as it has triumphed.

NEEDLESS to say, the Detroit people regard the best motor stocks as now selling for only half their worth. The smaller companies are flagged, but practically all the larger motors enterprises are viewed as being exceptionally strongly fortified.

Some idea of the faith General Motors has inspired may be deduced from the fact that its stockholders have increased from 70,000 to 140,000 in one year.

General Motors' earnings this year will approximate 6 per cent, or only a fraction below last year's 6.14 per cent.

At the November dividend meeting an extra payment may or may not be declared. Earnings would, it is pointed out, justify such action.

General Motors has adopted a fixed policy of entering every new industry which appeals to it.

THIS policy of expansion and diversification is only in its infancy.

General Motors' plans are not confined to motor companies and accessories, but are extremely elastic.

Because of its $100,000,000 investment this year in new fields, the directors may confine their dividend distribution to only half of their net earnings, namely, the regular 3 per cent rate, and not declare any extra payment at this time.

UNKNOWN to the public, General Motors is making a fortune out of ethyl gas. Deals are being made with one important company after another to introduce this modern product.

The intention is to have General Motors become in the radio industry what it already is in the automobile industry. Its radio program far transcends anything yet generally imagined. Some of the best brains in the corporation are being directed to this new line.

General Motors' aviation operations and ramifications are being greatly broadened. Bendix has branched out, Fokker is loaded up with orders, and substantial profits are counted upon from aircraft activities from now on.

Only last week the Dornier Corporation of America was incorporated to manufacture flying boats under the design and the patents of Dornier, the German organization which last week launched a ship which carried 169 persons. This move is characteristic of what those behind General Motors have in mind in the way of spreading out.

Television is another novel field in which General Motors means to become a leading factor. Its view is that television will make strides equaling those already made by radio.

Frigidaire, the General Motors adjunct supplying domestic refrigeration, is having the best year in its history. It is proving a very valuable money-maker.

General Motors already ranks as the fourth largest electrical enterprise in the United States—with its Delco Light and a hundred and one other products embodying electricity.

IN THE export world General Motors is daily becoming a greater and greater factor, not only are shipments from this country multiplying, but the corporation is acquiring a controlling interest in strategic foreign manufacturing plants, the latest of which is the Opel Company in Germany, whose production is expected to jump from 40,000 to 200,000 within five years.

The present quarter, it is authoritatively declared, may compare favorably with the final quarter of last year. Chevrolet has enjoyed the best year of its history, having already sold upwards of 1,300,000 cars. G. M. C., the truck-making unit, is making money this year, in contrast with losses heretofore.

UNDER all these circumstances, Detroit regards $40 a share as ludicrous, a panic price, for General Motors shares. At 15 times earnings the price would be $90 a share, and that, it is emphasized, would not be capitalizing any of General Motors' inspiring prospects.

Improved Net for Ainsworth Corp.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Ainsworth Manufacturing Corporation net earnings in the first nine months of this year were more than 111 per cent greater than in the same period of 1928. There was also a 33 per cent increase in earnings for the third quarter ending September 30 as compared with a year ago.

Earnings for nine months, 1929, were $991,030, equal to $6.23 a share on the 159,075 shares of common stock outstanding as against $469,341 or $2.95 a share in the first nine months a year ago.

Third quarter 1929 earnings were $292,274, equal to $1.84 a share, compared with $219,867 or $1.38 a share in 1928.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was dull today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets rested steady, demand fair, supply adequate with no changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remained firm, demand good, supply nominal. No changes were made in quotations.

Car-lot supplies were light with 469 cars on track. Arrivals included 33 cars of apples, 1 cabbage, 1 carrots, 1 cantaloupes, 1 cranberries, 1 celery, 3 grapefruits, 48 grapes, 6 lettuce, 1 onions, 3 oranges, 1 peppers, 14 potatoes, 1 spinach, 1 sweet potatoes and 2 tomatoes.

Present Chicago Steel Rate Views

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Arguments to justify proposed rate decreases on steel and iron shipments from Chicago to Wisconsin points were made before the Interstate Commerce Commission in briefs filed by the Milwaukee iron and steel committee, Milwaukee Association of Commerce, Racine Racing Association of Commerce and the Kenosha Chamber of Commerce.

The briefs were in opposition to efforts of shippers in the St. Louis district to prevent the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroads from reducing rates.

The roads proposed to make the rate per 100 pounds eight cents instead of nine and one-half cents, on minimum carloads of 80,000 instead of 36,000 pounds. They contended this was necessary to meet competition of Lake Michigan carriers.

TAX REDUCTION PROSPECTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Published reports that falling security prices might affect adversely tax reduction legislation at the next session of Congress are not taken very seriously in well-informed quarters here. These reports were evidently based on the idea that falling prices over the last few weeks would cut into the total of taxable income and thereby reduce government receipts from income taxes next year. This is not necessarily the case.

There were market recessions in 1928, and during those recessions much paper profit was wiped out and some actual cash losses resulted. For the year as a whole, however, security profits resulted in an unexpectedly large collection of income taxes. This was not the sole cause of treasury receipts above estimates, but it was one of them.

The treasury has as yet made no definite decision regarding tax recommendations. It will not do so until it has adequate data on government receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1931 and until it has formed better judgment of business prospects of the immediate future. It is in this connection that treasury officials will continue to watch the trend of security prices as they do constantly. The fact that a continued recession in stocks would forecast some business recession would be regarded as of greater importance than the fact that a receding market would reduce profits from speculation.

Building Contracts Higher in Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The volume of building contracts awarded in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains for the week ending Oct. 25, as reported to F. W. Dodge Corporation, amounted to $88,127,500, an increase of $5,000,000 over the preceding week. The largest single project included in the week's total was a $2,500,000 airport development in Houston, Texas.

American Tobacco Declares $2 Extra

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The American Tobacco Company declared extra dividends of $2 on both the common and common "B" stocks and regular quarterly dividend of $2 on both classes, payable December 2 to record of November 9.

COAL DUMPINGS LARGER AT LAKE

Tonnage at Erie Ports Set New Monthly Record, September Figures Show

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 31.—Lake Erie coal dumpings set a new record of 5,022,921 tons in September to bring the season's dumpings for the first nine months of 1929 to 29,783,310 tons, a new record for the period.

This compares with 25,503,702 tons in corresponding period of 1928 and 27,050,784 in corresponding period of 1927.

Dumpings in September, 1928, totaled 1,679,719 tons, while only 3,868,624 tons were dumped in September, 1927, the year in which the record of nearly 36,000,000 tons was made. At the present rate Lake Erie coal dumpings will reach the 40,000,000 ton mark this season.

SHIFT EASTWARD

Report compiled by H. M. Griggs, manager of Ore & Coal Exchange, discloses that the tonnage this year has shifted toward the ports on eastern Lake Erie with Sandusky, Huron, Lorain, Cleveland, Ashtabula, Conneaut, Erie and Buffalo all showing good gains, but with Toledo, which in previous years had dumped approximately 50 per cent of the total tonnage, showing a loss.

DECLINE AT TOLEDO

Docks at Toledo this year have dumped 12,265,407 tons, against 13,440,593 tons in the first nine months of 1927, when total Lake Erie loadings were 2,700,000 tons behind this season. Much of Toledo's loss has been absorbed by Sandusky, the Pennsylvania dock there leading all other individual docks on Lake Erie with 7,065,669 tons to October 1, against 4,916,817 tons to October 1, 1928, and 6,575,044 tons to October 1, 1927. In September the Pennsylvania dock at Sandusky set the remarkable mark of 1,438,054 tons, its closest competitor being the New York Central at Toledo with 588,059 tons.

P. R. R. GAINING

Other docks of the Pennsylvania Railroad are making excellent gains this season in coal tonnage, with the Baltimore and Ohio also gaining over its dumpings of the two previous seasons.

There was a considerable shift in dumpings during September with the Pennsylvania making a sharp gain over September last year. Hocking Valley at Toledo showed a loss of nearly 50 per cent during the month, that road dumping 573,808 tons, against 1,026,260 tons in September, 1928, and 983,306 tons in September, 1927.

Completion of Ohio Central's new loading machine at Toledo enabled New York Central lines to gain over the previous two years, with 588,059 tons to its credit in September, against 472,412 tons in September, 1928, and 281,393 tons in September, 1927.

I. C. C. Denies Plea Of D. & H. for Rehearing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(INS.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today denied a motion of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad to reopen the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh case in order to permit of further oral argument.

Commission examiners recently recommended that the Baltimore and Ohio be authorized to acquire that road under certain conditions.

Tin Wage Scale Still Unchanged

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 31.—For November and December, tonnage rates paid sheet and tin mill workers in midwestern mills will continue unchanged from the September-October rates, as a result of the bimonthly settlement yesterday. The average selling price of Nos. 26, 27 and 28 gauge black sheets was disclosed at 3.05c per pound, which is unchanged from the average 60 days ago.

Rock Island to Spend $15,000,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific has put out inquiries for 5,000 freight cars at an estimated cost of $15,000,000. Bids have been asked on 1,000 box cars of 50-ton capacity, 1,000 gondolas of 70 tons, 1,000 40-foot automobile cars, 300 50-foot auto cars, 250 stock and 250 flat cars.

Chesapeake Will Buy Locomotives

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Chesapeake and Ohio Railway will purchase between 100 and 130 locomotives, according to the Iron Age. The Wabash will buy three baggage-mail cars.

IRON OUTLOOK IMPROVES

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—In spite of the severe stock market break there has been little price weakness reflected in the pig iron market on the eastern seaboard. While it is true that interest may have slackened to a slight extent due to conditions in Wall Street, quotations on Buffalo pig iron are holding at $17.50 to $18 in most cases. With customers' needs for this quarter largely taken care of, slackness in buying is natural this time of year. A few inquiries for first quarter of next year have appeared, but in no great volume.

An encouraging feature of the situation is the demand of customers for prompt shipments, keeping foundries active. Some of the melters report enough business to keep them active for several months ahead. It seems evident that as far as users of pig iron are concerned no depression in industry is expected to result from current conditions, and an increase in business is looked for as the first of the year approaches.

While sales of pig iron were lighter than usual in the New York district last year, amounting to only 4,000 to 5,000 tons, there is a fair amount of inquiry before the market at present, probably totaling 5,000 to 6,000 tons. Shipments continue at a good rate. In the South the situation has not changed much, with competition still active with northern makers. Stocks of Southern iron continue to be reduced, but prices for shipment North, still figure to a base below $14 in a number of instances.

Sand Firm Water Plea Unprotested

HARRISBURG, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—No protest was made at the Public Service Commission hearing here on the application of the Everett Water Company for the approval of the commission on the assignment of water rights on land in Bedford County to the Pittsburgh Silica Sand Company.

Counsel for the water company said that the sand company would get no rights to land owned by the water company which would in any sense restrict the expansion of the reservoir to meet future needs of the city of Altoona. The water rights involved, counsel said, included only those affecting the overflow from the dam and not the inlet to the reservoir.

DISCOUNT RATE EXPECTED TO GO LOWER

Reaction in Securities May Bring Additional Move to Ease Credits

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Current stock market reaction probably will be the deciding factor in influencing Federal Reserve System toward policy of continued credit easing.

This policy has been evidenced since August in open market operations only. It may be extended to discount rates.

First evidence of the policy is expected to be a lowering of the New York rate to 5 per cent, from 6 per cent. When this action will be taken cannot be stated definitely, but that it will be soon is a generally accepted conclusion here. Following that it will be no surprise to see a still further rate easing to a 4 per cent basis. This, of course, will have to be a gradual trend over a period of some weeks.

STOCKS AND MONEY

Meanwhile, the present operations in the bill market will go on and purchases of government securities, an operation which has often accompanied rate cuts in the past.

Federal Reserve thought may be outlined as follows: The stock market's demand and urgent bidding for money have been the cause of sending rates to the present high level. With perhaps one exception, business has not been slowed down by the high rates for it has been able to get ample credit. Nevertheless it has been forced to bid in competition with the active and urgent stock market demand.

4 PER CENT RATE LATER

The current market reaction is believed here to mark a distinct abatement in the speculative wave, and the speculative demand for funds is likely to adjust itself to a basis regarded as more nearly normal once this factor is removed. It is the view here that discount rates also can be adjusted to a normal basis. In the present state of business a 4 per cent rate would not be regarded as particularly low. As stated, this adjustment must come about gradually.

SPECULATION CURBED

It is emphasized that beyond believing that the present reaction is likely to cut speculation sharply, authorities are not passing judgment on the market nor are they forecasting its probable trend. There is complete realization here that the public may accept with some reservations statements of government officials that the reaction is technical and in the nature of a speculative correction. However, it can be stated that these statements are in accord with the actual views obtaining here. Government departments have gone carefully into the business situation and they can see no indications of drastic business recession.

BUSINESS SOUND

Commerce Department persists in the view that business is fundamentally sound. This idea finds agreement in treasury and federal circles. Some of the industries which have been weak are picking up, coal and textiles being cited as examples. Coal is expected now to show a steady and stable output. One of the most encouraging signs is the absolute absence of any piling up of inventories and the complete lack of any disposition toward commodity speculation.

That the decline in the stock market may curtail luxury buying to some extent is admitted as altogether probable. On the other hand, if it brings cheaper money, it may revive building which is the one industry which has been hard hit by high money.

BARGAINS IN STOCKS

It has been the view here for some time that many stocks were selling at too high a level. This was not the judgment as regards the whole market. Very competent authorities now believe that while a good many stocks are only reaching toward a normal selling basis, others are distinct bargains at present prices. They prefer not to name these stocks, but some of them have long been market leaders.

Government officials here are keeping in constant touch with the stock market. At this writing, there is no further statement nor action in contemplation. This is not to say that such a move is out of the question, but for the time officials are merely keeping themselves informed.

TOBACCO PRODS OMITS DIV.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Directors of Tobacco Products Corp. passed the quarterly dividend which would have been payable on the class "A" stock of the company November 15, 1929. Directors authorized the following statement:

"The present board of directors and the new management of Tobacco Products Corp., have deemed it necessary to pass the quarterly dividend on the class "A" stock. The discontinuance of dividend by United Cigar Stores Company, will leave the company with no other income for the present but that derived from the contract of the American Tobacco Company. The Company still has bank and other indebtedness, to a reduction of which a substantial part of its income must be currently applied.

"An audit of the company's books is being made and when it is completed, the board of directors will have a further statement to make."

Royal Dutch Bond Issue Withdrawn

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 31.—Negotiations by the Royal Dutch Company for the issue of 5 per cent debentures convertible into common shares have broken down.

Stock Exchange Topics

Commission Houses Have Increased Demand for Odd Lot Standards.

A LARGE number of commission houses are reporting a good increase in the odd lot demand for the standard stocks. It is stated that these buyers are paying outright for their issues and taking them out of Wall Street. This can only mean that "bargain hunters" are willing to take a long pull position in these issues. Many who were running speculative accounts in brokerage offices and who were fortunate enough to have been out of stocks when the avalanche of selling came last week have been purchasing, but in most cases for cash only. They express willingness to hold the stocks for months on the theory that a turn must come into the market some time in the future.

Just when Wall Street was expressing the opinion rather definitely that it would be helpful and reassuring to have some of the country's leading industrial magnates put forth their views on the situation, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., issued a statement from his home in Pocantico Hills. He said in effect that he and his son were buying sound stocks and would continue to buy them, believing as they did that fundamental conditions of the country are sound and that there was nothing to warrant the destruction of values just witnessed.

MONEY was firmer in tone again yesterday as a result of rather heavy calling of loans by banks. The total of such withdrawals probably footed up close to $80,000,000, but with the demand for new accommodation light, the renewal rate of 6 per cent was maintained on new loans throughout the day. A significant point in connection with the action of the stock exchange in deferring the opening today until 12 o'clock is found in the fact that banks under ordinary circumstances cannot call loans after that hour. Incidentally the decision to recess Friday and Saturday puts the next opportunity of banks to call their loans back until Monday morning of next week.

It is probable that the enthusiastic values placed on securities by those who discussed the long range prospects so actively recently will not be seen for some time. Instead, investors and others who buy stocks are likely to be giving more consideration to reasonable earning power and the yields obtainable at current dividend rates, particularly as they compare with the cost of carrying stocks in long accounts.

THAT forced liquidation can still be looked for from time to time has been demonstrated on several occasions in various stocks since last Thursday. When such issues are thrown on the market it is evident that bids are considerably under previously prevailing levels. Such situations eventually should be cleared away, and when they are, technical structure will be much improved.

As compared with other years, particularly 1921, there is no large and unwieldy inventory situation at present. Production has been heavy. In fact, it has been greater than could be maintained for any length of time and some curtailment in various lines was to be expected. This reduction in activities, coming at a time when the market was so unsettled, has been magnified in its importance as a factor on stocks. So far as can be learned in authoritative quarters there is no substantial surplus of finished materials which might have to be sacrificed.

Air Brake Prospects Show Improvement

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE Westinghouse Air Brake Company continues to show the benefits of increased buying of railroad equipment. Further purchases during the last six weeks insure a good volume of business through the close of the present year and the early part of 1930.

In the nine months ended September 30 the company showed net profit of $6,164,028. This was equivalent to $1.94 a share on the 3,177,110 shares of capital stock. It came close to covering dividend requirements of $2 a share for an entire year.

The improvement in earnings during the present year has not been sensational but it has been fairly constant. In the first nine months of 1928 net was $4,650,463 or $1.46 a share. Earnings for the first nine months of this year were only slightly below profits for the full year of 1928 of $6,490,557 or $2.04 a share.

Third Quarter

PROFIT for the third quarter of this year showed only a minor change from the second quarter. In both periods 67 cents a share was earned. An increase in profits is generally expected for the final three months of the year. New orders received as well as dividends from foreign affiliated companies will contribute to the expansion in profits during the present quarter.

Net profit in the third quarter was greater than in the corresponding periods of 1928 and 1927. The following table shows quarterly earnings for the past three years:

First	$1,924,893	$1,447,968	$2,802,799
Second	2,123,539	1,482,382	2,444,484
Fourth	......	1,840,094	1,536,901
Totals...	$6,164,028	$6,490,557	$8,520,009

Slump Ended

WHILE the quarterly reports show that Westinghouse Air Brake has made considerable progress in pulling out of the slump which began in 1927, they do not reflect the full change in the company's position. The foreign affiliated companies are busier than at any time since the war but dividends of these organizations will not be turned over to the parent company until later in the year.

The Union Switch and Signal Company, a subsidiary, recently was awarded contracts for $3,000,000 worth of equipment for the New York subways. It is understood that from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 worth of equipment will eventually be needed for this project. Union Switch will probably share this business with one other competitor.

Future Outlook

THE prospects for the company for 1930 are far better than they were for either 1928 or 1927. In both of those years the demand for railroad equipment was declining, while the carriers now seem to have used up their surplus equipment. Installations of Hannauer car retarders are being made in increasing numbers. These systems for handling railroad cars in hump yards have passed through the period of trials and are now finding a growing market. The subway orders are among the largest booked in several years.

The wide range of the company's projects is not generally realized. In addition to making railroad brake and signal equipment, the organization and its subsidiaries make drop forgings, rubber gaskets, gasoline locomotives and air brakes for automobiles.

CURB STOCKS RUSH UP

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Curb stocks were tossed up from 2 to more than 20 points in one of the wildest buying movements ever encountered on the curb market at the delayed opening of the market at noon today.

Buyers fell over each other to purchase stocks, inspired by the belief that the bottom of the recent decline had definitely been reached. Orders were so numerous in some of the leaders that no opening prices were available until half an hour or longer after the opening.

Cities Service, which recently dropped from 68⅛ to 20, opened with a block of 70,000 shares at 44, a net gain of 12 points. American Superpower opened with a block of 32,900 shares up 9⅞. Middle West new rose 5⅞, Allied Power and Light 5⅛, and American Gas and Electric 23¾. Electric Power Associates A rose 8, and United Light and Power A 75⅜.

Gulf Oil jumped 22 points to 164, and Goldman Sachs Trading 15⅛ to 63. Lehman Corporation rose 5⅛. Fokker Aircraft, which jumped 17 points yesterday, slipped back ¾.

Electric Bond and Share opened with a block of 60,000 shares at 99⅞, up 20.

Collateral Interest Rate Off in Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Collateral interest rate averages reported by the Census Bureau for last week indicate sharply the extent of the rate decline which has accompanied stock market performance in recent days. For the first time in several months call money was found to be averaging less than it did during the same period last year. Figures for the week and comparable periods follow:

	Call Loans.	Time Money.
Week ending Oct. 26..	5⅝%	7¼%
Preceding week	6	7⅜
Same week last year..	7	6⅝

Stored Stocks Of Oil at New High

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Total stocks of crude and refined oils on September 30 were 677,421,000 barrels, a new peak, against 672,200,000 on August 31, the previous peak, and 613,919,000 on September 30, 1928, the Bureau of Mines announced.

Crude oil production in September was 87,269,000 barrels, or 2,909,000 daily against 92,288,000 in August or 2,977,000 daily and 76,484,000 or 2,549,000 daily in September, 1928.

Gasoline stock totaled 33,222,000 barrels on September 30, against 33,788,000 on August 31, and 26,378,000 September 30, 1928. This represents 26 days' supply against 24 days in August and 25 days in September, 1928.

STOCKHOLDERS GET MELONS

A golden shower of extra and special dividends fell over the financial again today following the action of several leading corporations in increasing disbursements to stockholders earlier in the week.

The American Can Company started the ball rolling Tuesday with an extra of $1 and an increase in the regular rate to $4 as against $3 previously. United States Steel followed the same day with an extra of $1.

Yesterday the American Tobacco Company announced an extra of $2, the National Supply Company declared $2 extra and extra payments were also ordered to the stockholders of the Dictaphone Corporation, the Bon Ami Company and a half dozen lesser known concerns.

Consolidated Gas of New York declared a quarterly dividend of $1 on the common compared with 75 cents previously, payable December 16 to record of November 11.

Standard Oil Company of Indiana declared extra dividend of 25 cents and regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents, both payable December 16 to record of November 16.

New Jersey Zinc Company declared an extra dividend of $1 a share, payable December 10 to record November 20.

Yale and Towne Manufacturing Company declared a special dividend of $1 payable December 14 to record of December 2.

F. & W. Grand Stores declared a stock dividend of 5 per cent on the common stock, payable November 25 to record November 12.

U. S. Dairy Products Corporation declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the class "A" common stock, against $1 quarterly previously. The dividend is payable December 1.

Marmon Motor Car Company, declared the regular dividend of $1 a share, in advance of the regular dividend period.

Bulova Watch Company declared an initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common stock, payable December 1 to record November 15, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis.

Bethlehem Steel To Improve Plant

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 31.—With the completion of the present $12,000,000 improvement program now in progress in the Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation there will be started another improvement program in the lower works department which will mean an expenditure of $10,000,000, it was announced by President Eugene G. Grace while here on his annual inspection tour of the Cambria mills. The proposed improvement program will include the installation of a new Bessemer department and also new open hearth furnaces, in addition to numerous other improvements. Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, accompanied President Grace.

Oil Curtailment Effective Today

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—Advices to leading oil officials are that the program to cut down California oil production is going into effect today, all parties having agreed. This will reduce the state's total to 650,000 barrels a day from 880,500 barrels. It will balance the state's production with the requirements of its territory.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. — Bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange rallied briskly in the early trading of today's abbreviated session, which started at noon. It was apparent from the openings that the liquidation in fixed-income securities for the protection of impaired stock market accounts had spent itself and high grade investment issues set about repairing the losses they had suffered in yesterday's heavy session.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

U. S. GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Cont. Oil Earned $1.17 for Quarter

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Continental Oil Company of Delaware reports net income of $5,545,939 for the quarter ended September 30 after interest, depreciation, depletion, drilling costs and surrendered leases, but before federal taxes, equal to $1.17 a share on 4,741,553 capital shares, against $3,842,081, or 81 cents a share in the preceding quarter.

Consolidated net income for the nine months was $7,746,465 before federal taxes, or $1.63 a share.

Lone Star Gas to Increase Stock

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Lone Star Gas Corporation the suggestion of directors to change the capitalization of the corporation from 7,000,000 no par common shares to 7,100,000 shares of which 100,000 will be 6½ per cent cumulative preferred was approved.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

YOUR house re-echoed laughter as I went by last night,
It rose to roof and rafter and shook them with delight;
From violin and cello
Came music that was mellow
To stir a foolish fellow,
As is their wanton right.
I pictured all your clique there—each maiden and each lad.
Was Dot and Grace and Nick there—and did you harbor Tad?
Was all your evening merry?
Did you have port or sherry?
And were the youngsters wary?
Or were the youngsters glad?
The lad who quite effaced me when Summer swung to fall—
The lad who has replaced me—was he at beck and call?
And when an old waltz haunting
Stirred memories so taunting—
Oh, was there something wanting—

OOF!

EDDIE CANTOR, the "Whoopee" star, frequented Dave's Boo-hoo Room again early in morning, presumably to take his mind off his huge losses in the stock market. Bill Demarest, one of the bright spots of "Sketch Book," was at the next table. He leaned over to Cantor and started shop-talking.

"Oh," replied Eddie, "fair."

"Fair?" snapped Demarest, "or pheh!"

HEHEHE

Cantor threw the place into hysterics when he told the crowd that if they wanted to recoup their losses they should buy National Casket.

MERCILESS TRUTH

The ace of the stock market crash comments, if you asked us, was Heywood Broun's who said: "I only wish that those people who said they wouldn't vote for Smith because business would suffer, were up to their necks in Montgomery-Ward!"

THE COMEBACK NIFTY

AT a recent dinner Rabbi Nathan Krass, a grand orator, followed two of our foremost after-dinner comedians, Jessel and Cantor. He clowned: "It is practically suicide for a preacher like me to attempt to divert you after listening to such funny persons. But frankly, I think I would do better if, instead of trying to entertain you, I said a prayer over their jokes."

Cantor replied: "The good reverend accuses us of telling you old stuff, when he has to depend on the Bible."

OWWWW!

Overheard in one of those Broadway restaurants where the sandwiches are named after alleged celebrities:

"Oh, waiter! Do you think that a Harry Richman Special would make me sick?"

NATURALLY

SAM H. HARRIS, who once managed the better prize fighters (before he began his show producing career), tried the fight manager's usual stunt on his new "find," Harry Rosenthal, just before the premiere asbestos lifted on his hit, "June Moon." He visited the newcomer's dressing room and talked to Harry about everything except the show, in an attempt to keep Rosenthal's mind off the ordeal of making a first appearance before a particular New York audience.

In relating the story to us Harry, who is primarily a fine pianist, added: "But what do you think? I went through my part without a mistake, and without trembling once—except when I had to do my solo at the piano."

QUITESO, QUITESO

AND Billy Rose is plotting a song about the futility of work on the grounds that Bismarck is a herring and Napoleon is a cake!

A FORM OF CRITICISM

A paragrapher on an obscure publication, desperate for recognition of any sort from the Park Row commentators, has been poking them furiously and frequently. After singling out one columnist for a wrist-spanking, he waited for a retort, hasty or otherwise. After several days had passed without rating a reply, he dispatched a mutual friend to learn if the Park Rowgue intended answering the rap.

"Ain'tcha gonna come back at him?" finally queried the go-between.

"No," was the indifferent retort. "I never hit a competitor who isn't my size."

GOLLY!

DURING one of his recent talks at a theatrical gathering, the Honorable James J. Walker, who is running for the mayoralty again, thumbed his nose at the Dramatic Critic Vote when he said: "It seems to me that actors are always doing benefits to relieve someone of a heartache. Why don't the critics before saying that an actor gives a faulty performance pause to think if he is suffering with a bruised heart over some sorrow before condemning him? Bah—the critics! The critics were only born to go through life finding fault!"

All of which is interesting, considering that the personable Mayor seemed to sympathize with the reviewer's lot four years ago. At the time (it was at a dinner to a young man who was beginning a drama defending career) the Mayor said: "I feel sorry for you, young man. You are to be a critic. I don't know what to predict for you. I can only say that you will either be a big success and lose your friends—or keep your friends and lose your job!"

And Mr. Walker was a grand clairvoyant. The critic has lost all his friends—but he has made countless thousands of fair weather ones!

IN FEWER WORDS

A more seasoned critic summed it up long ago with this mouthful: "The one who eats it, and not the chef, is the judge of a dinner!"

DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

How often have you been told, "I'm sorry, but we don't want no roughnecks in our organization!" Or perhaps you have been introduced to some attractive lady only to have her bust out laughing at you, behind her fan, as she whoops, "Fancy the big roughneck making a play for me!" Well—maybe you ARE a roughneck. Then you'll be interested in the Simplex Burnisher. Rotating bristle-brushe (operated by hand crank on far side) sands down the corrugations. And, by applying a little floor wax, you can make your neck shine as slick as a billiard ball! Clipper attachment cuts your hair. BEST TONIC LOCAL MAN EVER USED

Ten Herbs Invigorated Entire System; Fine for Stomach and Liver, He States.

Many Pittsburgh men and women claim they have never used any other medicine so good as Ten Herbs as a tonic for a weak, run-down system, or when the stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels are not working as Nature intended. This is because Ten

MR. EDWIN BLOUNT

Herbs is a new and different medical preparation, compounded from ten wonderful natural ingredients, really making it ten medicines in one. Gently, yet effectively, these remarkable health-restoring products of Nature cleanse, benefit and invigorate the ailing human system and bring new feelings of health, hope and happiness to the despairing sufferer. Get a bottle of Ten Herbs today at your nearest drug store and then you will understand why so many are praising this famous liquid compound.

"I do not know of any medicine that is the equal of Ten Herbs for increasing a person's strength, toning up the stomach, liver and kidneys, and relieving constipation," was the recent statement of Mr. Edwin Blount, salesman, 909 West Diamond Street, North Side, Pittsburgh. "I was troubled with constipation. My nerves were unstrung and I did not sleep well. I felt sluggish, dizzy and depressed, due, perhaps, to torpid liver. Sometimes food did not taste right. I would feel filled with gas and uncomfortable after a meal. I felt the need of a medicine that would put my system in good condition to withstand the ailments that often come with cold weather.

"Ten Herbs was so highly recommended to me that I started to use your medicine, and the results were very satisfactory. My whole system seems to have been invigorated, and I feel fine and energetic. I am not troubled with constipation or torpid liver any more. Nervousness, sleeplessness and dizziness have disappeared. Ten Herbs was an ideal medicine for my stomach. I relish my food, and it seems to digest perfectly. I am rid of gas and that stuffed-up feeling after eating. I am giving Ten Herbs a lot of praise and will recommend it whenever I have an opportunity."

Ten Herbs is sold at all drug stores in Pittsburgh and by all druggists throughout this entire section.

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Bayer Aspirin! For there is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

Witches and Hobgoblins Will Be About Tonight

Halloween, or All Hallows Eve, marking the vigil of the Feast of All Saints in the religious calendar, is a curious association of pagan and Christian ideas. Although, of course, they won't believe it, revelers in tonight's merry-making symbolize participation in the rites of witches and the ceremonials of elves, goblins and fairies. Even the mischief performed by some celebrators of Halloween is supposed to have been deeds of witches or goblins. Perhaps, in some cases, it is true that they have been—by getting inside of the ones who resort to deviltry.

That, however, is getting rarer and rarer. Roaming bands of hoodlums bent on the destruction of property have about passed out and the Halloween activities now are mostly innocent fun. Still parents should know that witches are abroad and are likely to take possession of their children. Hence they should keep watchful eyes on their activities.

Community celebrations mark the modern method of observing Halloween, and they will be numerous in the Pittsburgh district. They are expected to reduce the number of merry-makers in the downtown streets, but the center of the town likely will be the parade ground of many in costume. They will be expected to be orderly. "No rough stuff" is the ultimatum of the police.

Have a good time in the witching hours, and may all the lucky charms that you implore the elves and fairies to grant come true.

Bingham Adds Insult to Injury of Senate's Honor

Rising to a question of personal privilege, Connecticut's Senator Bingham has now added insult to the injury which his introduction of a lobbyist into the secret sessions of the Finance Committee has done the honor and dignity of the United States Senate.

His insults were hurled at the Senate Committee on the Judiciary in general and its subcommittee investigating the lobby evil in particular.

Admitting "the general fairness of the report" of the subcommittee which investigated his case, Senator Bingham, with colossal inconsistency condemned his fellow Senators who conducted that investigation and impugned not only their motives but the motives of the chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary who appointed the subcommittee.

Of course in so doing Senator Bingham violated the well-known rule of the Senate which forbids a Senator to call into question the motive of a fellow Senator.

In fact he showed himself as indifferent to this written rule of the Senate by what he said as he did to the unwritten proprieties of the Senate and to the traditional ethics of the Senate when he introduced Lobbyist Eyanson into the Finance Committee after having him duly sworn as his clerk.

Accusing his senatorial investigators of using "police court methods" and of resorting to the tactics of "criminal lawyers" in attempting to discredit him, Senator Bingham offered as his amazing alibi the charge that he was the victim of a "frame-up," the purpose of which was to "injure him as an administration Senator."

And in his desperate attempt to defend himself before the Senate, he added to the ignominy of his predicament by insinuating that the criticism of his conduct by his senatorial investigators was a criticism of Connecticut, New England, and the administration.

When the salient facts in this discreditable case were first exposed by the Hearst newspapers, Senator Bingham admitted to the Senate that "perhaps" he had made a "mistake."

The Connecticut Senator should have stood by that "perhaps." It was a better defense than the "plea of confession and avoidance" with which he has now insulted the intelligence of the Senate and impugned the sincerity of those of his fellow Senators who are jealous of the Senate's honor, sensitive in regard to its dignity, and firmly resolved to vindicate its integrity before the nation.

Uncle Sam Should Have His.

Mr. Whalen, New York police chief, sent a police airplane after a man escaping by boat, overhauled the boat and brought back the man wanted, much surprised.

Individuals are usually ahead of governments in new ideas. Eventually the government will realize that the flying machine is really a success, and take an interest in developing it.

At present, government relies on private individuals, working, as they must, for profit, and therefore unable or unwilling to make the costly experiments that a new idea requires.

The great industrial companies consider experiment a necessary part of their work. Mr. Sloan, of General Motors, maintains for his company a staff of engineers and chemists, such as the government ought to have, developing new ideas. The same is true of Standard Oil, United States Steel and other great industries.

Earth's richest government, the United States of America, might afford something like that, at least for defense.

Our country resembles a huge ox, powerful industrially but incapable of effective self-defense. Half a dozen wolves could worry any ox to death, then eat it.

A few marauding airplanes could worry the country, especially if they struck simultaneously at Washington, D. C., and New York's Wall Street district.

Tsch! Tsch! Tsch!

The Rejuvenating System.

Dr. Helman Jaworski, of Paris, has a rejuvenating system which seems to work. It consists of replacing the blood of the aged with the blood of youth. The effect is invigorating for three or four years.

This treatment may be all very well for the patients who need it. But certain angles of it are alarming.

What if such procedure becomes general? The aged will remain efficient for a much longer time than at present. So there will be less opportunity for young men to find work and they will have to sell their blood to get along.

By reason of this sacrifice they will be weakened and will grow old sooner. And even at an earlier age than the preceding generation they will have to undergo the rejuvenating treatment and rob the next crop of youngsters.

It certainly looks depressing.

But, then—it solves the problem of what to do with the younger generation. And that is something.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Winter Rules

As a divoting guest of the best golf clubs East of Suez we congratulate the agitators for the five-inch golf cup.

"Bugs" Baer

The five-inch cup could be also improved by filling it with hot fat.

When we drop a putt we like to hear it sizzle.

Then when a golfer managed to get on the green he could call his shots.

Professionals would be handicapped by being compelled to bank the last.

The first legal notice of golf was taken by the English Parliament in 1457 when it ordained that golf was, "utterly cryit doune and nocht usit."

We don't know what that means but it sounds like a Gypsy curse on a bunker.

Nocht usit must be interpreted as useless. After that you stymie your own judgment.

Did you ever hear of a golf course where they take in the holes at night?

It's 1,200 miles up the Yangtse-Kiang at Chungking. Surge Kaveney told us about it after the fighting up there a couple of years ago.

The Americans and English officers organized a golf club with one set of clubs and caddies carrying machine guns. The holes were tomato cans.

Some golfers would prefer wash boilers.

We figure there are 10,000,000 golfers in this niblicked land with an output of a billion putts for the fiscal year. The new tomato can hole would make a putt as easy as steering a bicycle into a garage.

Make the golf ball a little bigger than ever. And that would make golf as easy as smacking an elephant with a bass fiddle.

Isn't It So?

It is not work that kills, but the worry caused by having to work.

'BACK TO SANITY'

By Herbert Kaufman

THE stock market has again collapsed, and for the same reason that all structures totter when undue weight is placed upon a foundation which wasn't designed for it.

Conservatism and Federal Reserve warnings attempted to establish order, safeguard traffic, and protect incautious cash from disaster.

Charts, graphs and statistics vainly pointed the disparity between dividend rates and ticker quotations, but savings bank withdrawals and income surpluses were in no mood to take counsel.

CONSEQUENTLY, the country is today filled with penniless widowhood, impoverished age, and shattered nest eggs.

The Brobdingnagian decline, which in a SINGLE day, depreciated Telephone shares by some $450,000,000, reduced the listed worth of General Electric by $342,000,000 and the trading basis of General Motors shares by approximately $300,000,000, has neither dipped into the ready-cash till nor rainy-day reserves of these sound projects, diminished their earning capacity nor altered a phase of their immediate programs.

THEY command the same funds and employ the same number of workers as before. And so do all the other concerns whose securities have been as unseasonably mangled under bear attack as they had previously been inflated by bull optimism. Which metaphor, however, inaccurately interprets the situation.

The market has crumbled because its supporters failed to invest the funds and faith to arrest its downward trend.

A new lot of margin gamblers, unimpressed by the drubbing which millions of their fellows had just received, rushed in where seasoned operators feared to tread, overspread themselves and were unable to cover commitments when hastily applied emergency brakes started to slip.

WHEREUPON, thousands of outright buyers, dazed by the wiping out of paper gains, and not yet convinced that their holdings are out of the danger zone, throw common sense and investments into the maelstrom and provoke a stampede just when the grand marshals of finance are deploying their stabilizing forces.

Banks and investment trusts now control the field.

Legitimate business inherits the fiscal kingdom again. Prosperity won't lack for needed promotion resources, and majority attention will revert to regular jobs instead of blowing golden bubbles and philandering with Jade Fortune at the Sign of the Ticker.

Meanwhile, the storm has strewn the ground with juicy plums which opportunity and thrift advise shrewdness to gather.

Every exchange is offering prime, SOUND goods at less than they're ever apt to sell again—thanks to fools who wouldn't take reasonable profits and joy-riders who undercalculated the distance their half-fueled ambitions could go.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

WHEN are you living?

"What a foolish question!" you say. "I'm living now, of course . . . right now . . . in the year 1929."

But ARE you? Stop and think. Your body is existing NOW. It is dressing in the styles of the year 1929 . . . it is doing the chores and keeping the engagements of the year 1929 . . . but your body isn't the REAL you, nor do the acts of your body constitute your REAL LIFE.

Your REAL LIFE is the life you lead inside your mind. Are you living NOW in that mind of yours, or are you living ten years ago or ten years hence?

While your body is going through the program of the day, what is your mind doing? Is it keeping step with the body or is it dreaming back to the days that are gone . . . the good old days when you were a kid in Centerville . . . that time you had a dandy job in the Union Iron Works . . . that first love affair. . . .

Are you giving the strength which should belong to NOW to homesick memories, vain regrets, futile irritations at old feuds, silly chortlings over old triumphs?

Remember the story of Lot's wife, who, driven from her doomed home, insisted on looking back and so was turned to a pillar of salt? Are YOU turning your life to a pillar of salt for the sake of the Backward Look?

Or do your dreams go forward to the time when your "ship shall come in"—to the day when you'll "get your chance?" Are you letting NOW, with all its opportunity and adventure, slip through your slack fingers while your mind goes roaming into the Maybe Land?

Someone—Oliver Wendell Holmes, wasn't it?—wrote a verse that went something like this:

"We're cur'us critters — NOW'S never the minute
That fits us just exactly while we're in it.
Long as 'twas future, it was perfect bliss;

That wasn't just homely wisdom; it's deep philosophy. It touches the most fundamental problem of life. It isn't a small business to live in the past or in the future—IT'S TRAGEDY.

It's the sort of tragedy that eats the substance out of thousands of lives and sets them adrift, empty husks, down the aisles of Yesterday, across the sills of Tomorrow.

Day dreams may be as vicious a form of addiction as morphine or alcohol. They serve the same purpose—they help us escape reality. It's hard to face reality—hard to face NOW with its demand that we assume responsibilities, make contacts, make decisions. It's much pleasanter to slip away into the Past or the Future, substituting PHANTASMS for the REAL ISSUES OF LIFE.

Don't cheat yourself of the great adventure of Life by day dreaming. LIVE NOW! LIVE TODAY! Take the pleasure of today, like a ripe fruit—squeezing out every particle of its savour and fragrance and nourishment.

Text for Today But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne: nor by the earth; for it is His footstool. —Matthew v:34-35.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE nucleus is a relatively large, oval or spherical mass which drifts slowly to and fro in the cell. The boundary between nucleus and cytoplasm like that between cytoplasm and culture-medium, has no visible wall. Inside the nucleus there are usually two mistily opaque bodies of irregular contour, the nucleoli; these bodies are continually changing their size, shape and position. Except for the slowly writhing nucleoli nothing can be seen inside the nucleus but a clear fluid.

This, then, is a simple kind of cell, released from the body and leading a life of its own. And it is itself separately and independently alive. Such is the stuff that man and all life is made of.

H. G. Wells.

In our bodies there are millions of such individual cells, inherent and necessary parts of us. They are not dead like the bricks in a wall; they are alive like the soldiers in an army. And they can be persuaded by the arts of Dr. Strangeways to desert. Then they will move by themselves, take nourishment, absorb oxygen, exude waste matters. They can be starved or suffocated.

Not only will they move about as free individuals, but they will produce themselves. After a few hours some of the cells in these cultures will be seen to pull themselves into two parts, each of which lives and grows as an independent unit. They are no longer parts of an organized animal, yet so far from pining away in exile they are absorbing nourishing substances from the liquid about them, growing and ultimately performing an act of reproduction.

In two or three days the multiplying and growing cells will have poisoned the serum with their own excretions and the "culture" will die; but this death can be prevented by putting a little of the failing culture into a drop of fresh serum, when the reproduction of the cells will resume and go on until that drop also is fouled.

This administration of these exiled body cells is called subculturing. By subculturing every few days it is possible to keep strains of detached cells alive for months, even years; indeed such strains may be kept going for periods of time far exceeding the individuals life span of the species from which they are taken.

Cell-strains taken from a chick embryo have lived over 14 years, while the ordinary life of a fowl is not a third of that span. No reason is apparent why we should not subculture forever.

This release of living cells to a free life is not restricted to the primitive connective-tissue cell. It has been possible to get similar strains of cells from muscle, or nerve, or kidney.

In such cases the cells lose much of their specialization before they begin to wander about and reproduce; they cease to be typical muscle-cells, nerve-cells, or kidney-cells and become more like the primitive connective-tissue cell that we have described above. They cease to be parts, they become wholes.

We may say then that every living tissue consists of cells, and that every living cell is a potential individual (or sub-individual), containing in its own body all that is necessary for life.

But, be it noted, the cell is a unit; it is not possible to isolate alive. If a cell be cut into halves, one with the nucleus and centrosphere and the other without, the first, which contains all the elements of the original cell, will live on and reproduce itself; the defective half, on the other hand, may creep about for a time, but it can neither grow nor divide, and presently and surely it will perish.

(The experiments on which this statement is based were made, not on cells from higher animals, but on Amoebae and other Protozoa, which are independent creatures resembling the released tissue cells of a higher animal very closely.)

When cells multiply they divide into two by an elaborate process which ensures that each of the two daughter-cells shall have half the cytoplasm, with its various inclusions, half the centrosphere and half the nucleus. Thus each of the two resultant cells has all the essential cell-elements; if this were not the case, they could not live any more than a man who lacked lungs or heart could live.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The Broadway stars and lesser luminaries who thumbed figurative noses at legit producers to descend upon Hollywood for a fling at the talkies are slowly slipping back to town again. Very few found the pillowy spots they expected. Yet most of Broadway is still on the coast.

Up to date about 70 per cent of the performers on the speaking stage have had their tryout on the articulate screen. Only one has met a conspicuous success. His name is Al Jolson. It has been discovered cinema crowds have no interest whatever in "Broadway names."

Marilyn Miller, Ina Claire, Eddie Cantor and others too numerous to mention are adored along that stretch known as New York's Rialto, but out yonder in the high thickets they inspire only a bored yawn and a querulous "Yeah?" Indeed, some are openly booed.

Artists of the screen and the artists of the stage have distinct followings. It is told that when Jack Pickford and Marilyn Miller, shortly after their marriage, appeared on the streets of Western cities everybody knew Pickford, but few knew Miss Miller.

She was at that time a toast of Broadway. But when Pickford accompanied her to New York he was known as "Marilyn Miller's husband." These are incongruities facing astute movie producers. So they turned from the invading Broadway horde and picked established movie players.

There is another monkey wrench in the movie mechanism that may kill off professionally many older movie favorites. The big appeal among movie audiences is buoyant youth. An unknown youngster whose personality becomes contagious on the screen is in clover.

With proper exploitation, such fortunates can be made stars over night, and they do not ask such extravagant salaries. Stars graying about the temples or collecting an extra chin are going into the discard. Again youth must be served!

A new hotel opening shortly is to have only Japanese bell boys. But the experienced bell boy—most of them incidentally are married men with families—need have no fear of being jobless. The crack hop is a migratory bird and usually on the wing. He moves from one city to another and always lands a job. Salaries are from $30 to $40 a month, but if they know the ropes they frequently make more than that a week in tips.

A picturesque bell hop is known as "Red" for obvious reasons. One week he may be in New York and in a few weeks in Mexico City. He has hopped bells in every city of more than 75,000 in America. During the season he flits between Palm Beach and Havana and has worked in Monte Carlo, Constantinople and far away Shanghai. His biggest tip was $500. It was bestowed by a grateful woman from whose hands he knocked a vial of acid she was preparing to drain while in the throes of alcoholic despondency.

One of Broadway's philanderers was in a mood the other evening to shed a few facile tears. "My happiness," he sighed, "is always negative. I'm only happy because I'm not miserable."

The record speed for a short story was achieved by an author one day last week. A magazine phoned him at 9 a. m. with an idea. It flowered into 4,000 words and was delivered at 5 in the afternoon. A check for $800 was received the following morning.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

AS a young fellow, you may be complaining because of difficulty in landing a good job. You excuse yourself by saying, "There are so many for every place." You make yourself believe that you don't really get a chance.

But there never were so many high-salaried jobs for the men who are capable of filling them.

If you have not fitted yourself to take a leading position, why should you complain because you can't find a job.

There are always more poor or indifferent workers than there are places for them.

You want to start near the top.

It can't be done and held there unless you have begun at the bottom of the ladder to learn your business. You don't want to put the time, energy and study necessary to begin at the bottom in your preparation. That is the trouble with you.

This is the day of large salaries, but you must deliver the goods.
